END TO SPECULATION IN COTTON AND GRAIN SOUGHT BY SENATE

SENATOR CARAWAY PRESSES MEASURE BARRING FUTURES

George Offers Carl Vinson's Bill, Already Passed by House, as Substitute Regulation.

CAROLINA SOLON TO AID GEORGE

Caraway Bill Provides Heavy Penalties for Any Broker Offering Contract in Futures.

Washington, February 11.—(AP)—Speculation in cotton engaged the senate today as discussion opened on the bill of Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, to prevent the sale of cotton and grain in future markets.

The measure was described by its author as one which would benefit the cotton and grain growers and in turn by Senator Ransdell, democrat, Louisiana, as one which would be bound to have a very adverse effect upon prices.

Denouncing at the outset the "propaganda" which he charged to opponents of the bill, Senator Caraway declared that only gamblers were profiting by the ability to speculate in future markets. Senator Ransdell contended that a large portion of the dealing in futures was legitimate and asserted that there is no other method of handling sales of cotton and grain except by future markets.

"This bill," Ransdell said, "would completely destroy those markets and would offer nothing in lieu thereof.

"If there be evils in the present method," he asked, "would it not be wise to suggest methods of relief? Why disrupt business?"

The farmer, he said, "has no other assurance" of sales except on future contracts.

The Caraway bill specifically would make it unlawful for any person, corporation, partnership, joint stock company, society or association to send any message, either by telephone, telegraph, mail or otherwise, offering to make a contract for the purchase or sale or delivery of cotton or grain without intending that it should actually be delivered or received.

The measure would impose a fine of not more than $10,000 or less than $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than six months nor less than one month for violations.

Communication companies under the bill would be charged with the duty of refusing such messages for transmission and the postmaster general would be required to declare "unlawful" any mail dealing with fu-

CRASH REUNITES DOCTOR-AUTOIST AND EX-PATIENT

A doctor and an ex-patient were suddenly reunited Monday when an automobile, driven by Dr. W. H. Holbrook, of 844 Clermont drive, ran into and killed a horse belonging to and driven by John McGee, aged negro, at Boulevard and Angier avenue.

Following the accident the negro alighted from his wagon and started to give voice to his sorrow when he recognized the driver of the car as the doctor who more than three years ago cured him of a serious ailment. He then requested that no case be made. Dr. Holbrook reported the accident to Call Officers Dailey and Newton.

It's Style That Counts

Values today are based upon style-rightness. Everybody knows that last year's auto or gown is worth only a fraction of its original cost. The same applies in this modern age to furniture. The piece of furniture or object of art that doesn't fit perfectly into your home is as out of date as it is out of place.

To keep abreast of what is new and in good taste in home furnishings, read Constitution ads daily, carefully—particularly during February, the furniture month.

Edison Fears Evil of Static Here To Stay

Observes 82nd Birthday by Giving Views on Many Questions.

Fort Myers, Fla., February 11.—(AP)—Thomas A. Edison, celebrating his eighty-second birthday here, believes that the administration of President-elect Herbert Hoover will result in greater prosperity to the nation. He gave an affirmative answer to this, the first question he answered in the list submitted for his written answers in his annual birthday interview.

He said it was possible that rubber may be used for paving roads. Short sections of rubber pavement have been in use in Scotland for five years with great success, the inventor pointed out.

He declared that he had found golden rod and honey suckle to be two of the best producers of rubber among the 13,000 plants he has examined. Mr. Ford, he said, has given him the use of 22,000 acres near Savannah, Ga., which he expects to use in planting rubber specimens.

Commenting on radio he declared that improvements are being made

MUSIC CLUB DRIVE PLANS DISCUSSED

Miss Harshbarger, Originator of Civic Music Association, Tells of Purposes of Atlanta Branch.

Discussion of the plans and purposes of the Atlanta Civic Music association by Miss Dema E. Harshbarger, of Chicago, president and originator of the National Civic Music association, featured the dinner meeting at the Atlanta Biltmore Monday night which was attended by some 150 prominent Atlanta men and women, including the officers of the local association, E. R. Black, president; W. R. C. Smith, Baxter Maddox, Howard Candler and Mrs. Wilmer Moore, vice president; Alexander King, treasurer, and Mrs. Delos Hill, secretary.

The drive for 3,000 members for the Atlanta Civic Music association was inaugurated Monday, sponsored by the Atlanta Music club and indorsed by the chamber of commerce. The plan of the association, as explained by Miss Harshbarger, is to make it possible, through civic activities, for the community to hear the best of artists and to feel that each artist and each program belong to the members.

According to this plan, she explained, there are no tickets for sale, and no one but members of the association is admitted to the concerts under its management. The plan, she said, has in view three main points, musical and artistic advancement of the community, permanency in an artists' series; a concern of financial security because it is self-supporting.

Membership in the association gives the privilege of participation in all affairs of the Atlanta Music club, and in addition, allows the members admittance to three concerts by outstanding musicians whose appearance here will be guaranteed by the memberships. No single seats will be sold for these performances.

The membership drive will continue through this week only and campaign headquarters will be maintained at the Phillips & Crew Piano company, the Cable Piano company and at Nunnally's store at 101 Peachtree street.

VATICAN BECOMES SEPARATE STATE AFTER 59 YEARS

Italy Signs Agreement Pledging Reparations and Restoring Temporal Power of Pope.

Rome, February 11.—(AP)—After more than half a century of estrangement, peace was formally established today between the holy see and the Italian government, marking one of the most momentous chapters in the modern history of the church and state.

Representing the vatican and the Italian government, respectively, Cardinal Gasparri, famous papal secretary of state, and Premier Mussolini, creator of the fascist state in Italy, placed their signatures upon two historical documents, one a treaty solving and eliminating the "Roman question" which has existed ever since the loss of temporal power in 1870 and the second a concordat designed to regulate the relations of the church and state in Italy.

Independence of Pontiff.

The first "treaty" recognizes the absolute independence and sovereignty of the pontiff, at the same time slightly rectifying the boundaries of the vatican without any great increase in its actual area. The concordat, regarded in some quarters as of even greater importance, concerns the relations between Italy and the holy see. It provides for the acceptance of canon law by the state, thus introducing the church attitude on such questions as marriage and divorce into the civil code.

The agreement also provides for an indemnity which the Italian government will pay the vatican. At first the indemnity was placed at 2,000,000,000 lire (about $105,000,000) but this was reduced to 1,750,000,000 lire, of which 750,000,000 (about $39,375,000) will be paid in cash and the remainder in government bonds. The total amount is about $87,500,000.

The signing of the documents took place in the famous council hall of the Lateran palace. It was the first time that Premier Mussolini had ever entered the historic structure and he was plainly interested in the various works of art that adorned it. He and Cardinal Gasparri, who arrived at the palace about half an hour apart, greeted each other warmly and exchanged a few compliments on the occasion.

There was a crowd of many thousands outside in the great square, but there was a light rain falling and there was no great excitement. Students in the various colleges and numerous priests were in the crowd and the police had comparatively little to do.

Pope Speaks of Treaty.

Pope Pius, referring to today's signing of the agreement with Italy in moving fashion, said that it assured to him "real, proper and absolute sovereignty which was evidently due to him who, for divine reasons and by divine mandate, cannot be the subject of any temporal power."

The pontiff made his remarks when receiving the Lenten preachers of the Roman diocese and the parish priests of the city for their annual audience prior to Ash Wednesday. Amidst the applause of the ecclesiastics, he referred to the Lateran palace as his "own rectory."

The pope warned his hearers against some criticisms already manifested in Italy and abroad, but said that the Lenten preachers need not bother to refute them from their pulpits. In fact, he said, doubts and criticisms left him most tranquil; criticisms directed against himself because he solely was responsible for what had transpired and what was coming.

TEXT OF TREATY IS MADE PUBLIC.

Rome, February 11.—(AP)—The text of the official communique summarizing the agreement, concordat and financial convention between Italy and the holy see, which will be published tomorrow, follows:

"The political treaty between the holy see and Italy is composed of a preamble of 27 articles. After stating that the two high contracting parties recognize the advisability of eliminating every reason for enmity between them, it begins by reaffirming the principle contained in the first article of the constitution of the Italian kingdom by which the Catholic apostolic Roman religion is the only state religion in Italy.

"The treaty then proceeds recognizing the full property and exclusive do-

AVON PARK MAYOR AND COMPTROLLER KILLED IN WRECK

Avon Park, Fla., February 11.—(AP)—Mayor William King and City Comptroller C. Arthur Crews, were fatally injured here late today when their automobile was struck at a grade crossing by the "Orange Blossom Special," Seaboard Air Line passenger train.

Mr. Crews died instantly but Mayor King lived about two hours.

The collision occurred at the grade crossing on Main street. Mayor King was driving the car and apparently did not see the approaching train, which was coming to a stop at the station, a short distance away.

SUICIDE'S WIDOW ACCUSED; JAILED

Americus Woman Charged With Killing Husband While He Lay in Bed; Suicide, Coroner Said.

Americus, Ga., February 11.—(Special.)—In spite of a suicide verdict returned by a Sumter county coroner's jury in connection with the death of Oscar Grantham, who was fatally shot while in bed with his wife, last Friday night, the widow, Mrs. Idell Grantham, 35, was arrested this afternoon by Sheriff W. P. McArthur and lodged in the Sumter county jail, charged with murder.

Arrested in Cordele.

The woman was taken into custody at Cordele while motoring north with her sister, Mrs. Bell Coplan, who had been a guest at the Grantham home here.

Mrs. Coplan was also taken in custody and lodged in jail as a material witness. She was in the Grantham home when the lumber mill worker was shot. The two children of the widow also were brought here and placed in jail.

Verdict Returned.

A coroner's jury last Saturday returned a verdict of suicide, and the case was closed until county authorities reopened it yesterday. County Physician E. B. Anderson performed an autopsy, and tonight told The Associated Press that he believed it "possible but not probable" that Grantham fired the bullet which was found in his brain. It had entered an inch and a half above the right ear, the doctor said, and added there were no powder burns.

The physician made his report today, and officers here ordered Mrs. Grantham and her sister detained at Cordele. They were believed en route to a visit with their parents at Warburg, S. C.

Not In Room.

The sister said she was not in the room where the fatal shot was fired, but that she believed Grantham killed himself, Sheriff J. W. McArthur said tonight.

Sheriff McArthur said the Granthams had been in domestic difficulties prior to the shooting.

The arrest was made, Sumter county officials explained, at the instigation of members of Mr. Grantham's family who demanded further investigation.

Mrs. Grantham was in a hysterical condition when lodged in jail. Declaring she is innocent, she said, ". . . . they seem to think I had something to do with the death of my poor dead darling." She burst into tears when questioned by newspapermen and was unable to make any further statement.

CHURCH COUNCIL HITS COMPANIONATE PLAN OF MARRIAGE

New York, February 11.—(AP)—A committee of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, reporting on the "present unsettled condition of the home," deplores companionate marriages, easy divorces, clergymen who marry divorced persons and runaway couples without due caution, and low wage scales which force mothers into industry. The Russell Sage foundation has found that there are 57 "marriage market towns" in 29 states.

FEDERAL RESERVE RAPPED IN SENATE

Bank Board Called Upon To Outline Means of Ending Gambling; Warning Said Delayed.

Washington, February 11.—(AP)—The federal reserve board was called upon today by the senate to suggest legislation to check the increase in brokers' loans from reserve funds, of which it complained in a letter last week to member banks.

Expressing the view that "little good but no harm" could come from this course, Senator Glass, of Virginia, a former democratic secretary of the treasury, assailed the stock exchange as a "gambling institution menacing the entire commercial structure."

Warning Came Late.

Glass declared the board should have issued its warning a year ago before the "startling peak" of almost $6,000,000,000 in brokers' loans had been reached. He said it was difficult to get at the problem of restricting brokers' loans by legislation until some way could be found of distinguishing between loans to brokers which went into investments and those which were for speculation.

Senator Heflin, democrat, of Alabama, brought the brokers' loans situation before the senate with his resolution asking the board to submit a legislative remedy. It stirred up an outburst against stock market speculations, but no voice was raised against the reserve board for its warning letter last week which played a part in the break of the stock market. The resolution was adopted without a dissenting vote.

Heflin Resolution.

The Heflin resolution read: "In dispatches recently the federal reserve board has complained that money is being drawn from the channels of business and used for speculative purposes, and that some of said speculation is illegitimate and harmful. Be it therefore.

"Resolved that the federal reserve board is hereby requested to give to the senate any information and suggestions that it feels would be helpful in securing legislation necessary to correct the evil complained of and prevent illegitimate and harmful speculation."

Senator Barkley, of Kentucky, a

POLICE ARE WEAVING NET ABOUT HAMILTON AS AID OF "FIEND"

REPARATION BODY OPENS CONFERENCE ON GERMAN DEBTS

Owen Young, American, Presides; Morgan States Purpose of U. S. Is Merely Advisory.

Paris, February 11.—(AP)—The new commission of reparations experts got away to a business-like start today. It elected Owen D. Young, of the United States, chairman, decided to hold two meetings daily hereafter and sent a telegram to General Charles G. Dawes hoping that it would be "able to accomplish something as useful as did the Dawes committee."

The new body already has been dubbed the "Young Committee." Its task is to finish the work started five years ago by General Dawes, Mr. Young and their colleagues, through formulation of a plan for final reparation payment by Germany to her former enemies of the world war. This plan, it is expected, will include a new total for Germany to pay and perhaps a new determination on the number of years over which the installments are to be spread.

Although the delegates were not supposed to talk about what happened at the meeting, it was learned that the word "debts" was not mentioned in the exchange of views that marked today's session. There seemed to be a complete understanding among the experts that the discussion was not to be broadened to such an extent that it would involve the ability of France and other debtor nations to reimburse Great Britain and the United States if the German reparations totals were reduced.

One of the first decisions of the commission was to do away with every possible formality so as to expedite business. The experts intend to finish their work before April 1. Tending toward that object, they decided that no secretary should be named, but that Fred Bate, secretary to Mr. Young, should be called on for such services as a commission secretary might render.

Then the committee decided that no minutes should be taken of discussions and that no records should be made, except of decisions. This clearing of the routine procedure enabled the delegates not only to organize, but to get through the first exchange of views in their initial business session of two and one-half hours.

The Japanese delegates set an example of promptness by arriving at the Hotel George V, where the committee met, promptly at 2 p. m., the hour set. J. P. Morgan, of the United States, was less than a minute behind them and the others came in on the heels of the first arrivals.

There were a few minutes of delay to allow newspaper photographers and operators of news reel cameras to register the event for posterity. Everybody appeared ready to be gracious even to the cameramen, but the intense light of the calciums proved too much for Mr. Morgan and he left his seat for a minute or two to rest his eyes before the photographers finished.

Then the room was cleared, Emile Moreau, governor of the Bank of France, called the meeting to order and at once proposed Mr. Young for permanent chairman, but without making any extended remarks. This nomination was approved unanimously, the formalities in respect to the secretaryship and fixing of the daily sessions at 11 p. m. and 3 p. m. were disposed of and then the delegates expressed themselves on the subject before them.

Just what was said was kept a close secret and probably will remain so until the committee has reached some decision.

M. Moreau led off with a statement on the French position. Mr. Morgan made a short talk on the American viewpoint and Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the reichsbank, set forth in a 10-minute speech what Germany hopes the experts will do. Other delegates followed with brief summaries of their expectations.

The German case is to be presented more at length by Dr. Schacht tomorrow. It was said that he would require four hours to explain to the committee why Germany is unable to continue paying annuities of 2,500,000,000 gold marks (about $625,000,000 and why the total reparations should be fixed somewhere between thirty billion and thirty-five billion gold marks, equivalent to approximately $7,500,000,000 and $8,750,000,000.

ANTI-SALOON HEAD GOES TO PRISON ON 60-DAY SENTENCE

Indianapolis, Ind., February 11.—(AP)—E. S. Shumaker, superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon league, was taken to the state penal farm at Putnamville, Ind., today to begin serving a 60-day sentence imposed on him by the Indiana supreme court on a charge of contempt.

Shumaker left the city unostentatiously in the custody of George Winkler, Marion county sheriff. He reached the farm late in the afternoon. It was his second entrance at the penal institution. He went there last September to begin serving his sentence but on the day of his arrival was granted a pardon by Ed Jackson, then governor. He paid the fine of $250 which had been imposed and was released after a stay of a few hours.

Coldest Spell In 340 Years Hits Continent

Gravediggers Use Dynamite To Blast Ground for Frozen Victims.

London, February 11.—(United News.)—Europe felt the fury of blizzards tonight, adding greatly to the suffering in a dozen countries which have been mantled by deep snow and ice for the last week.

Scores of deaths were reported in a great area from the British Isles to the Bosphorus and from Russia throughout the central European countries, due both to the cold and influenza epidemics. The entire continent reverted to a literal "ice age." Gravediggers in Silesia were forced to use dynamite as the coldest weather since 1590 was reported. Polish cities reported that the ground was frozen several yards deep and no graves could be dug. Eleven deaths were reported from Warsaw, with bitterest cold in 100 years. Trains were blockaded throughout Central Europe and communication lines were broken down in many places.

The cold gales swept England early tonight, bringing the most severe

COUNCIL TO DECIDE GAS TANK BATTLE

Fire Board Refuses To Ask That Permit Be Given for Birmingham Firm's 20,000-Gallon Tanks.

City council will decide whether the Southern Oil Stores, Inc., of Birmingham, shall locate two 20,000-gallon tanks on Whitehall street near Stewart avenue for the purpose of dispensing gasoline, in accordance with a decision Monday afternoon of the Atlanta fire board.

Following a lengthy hearing, the board voted to deny a petition of the company asking that the board recommend that city council rescind a measure which revoked a permit granted the company last July to establish such a station.

Included among other important actions of the board was a decision to grant Druid Hills residents a 30-day extension of fire protection. The board failed to vote any change in the age limit of prospective firemen, leaving the ages from 21 to 35.

Gasoline Combine Charged.

H. D. Knower, president of the Birmingham concern, and Paul Carpenter, his attorney, charged that an alleged combine operating in Atlanta is opposing establishment of the station because of the keen competition in the trade, and because the company "will be able to sell gasoline at least two cents a gallon cheaper than the current market price."

Wiley L. Moore, president of the Wofford Oil Company of Georgia; and G. Everett Millican, representing the Gulf Refining company, declared that granting of such a permission would constitute a fire hazard and would not be for the best interests of the citizens of Atlanta.

They declared that major local oil concerns have investments of more than $5,000,000 and that they employ more than 5,000 persons. This was made in answer to the charge that competitive companies are opposing establishment of the concern.

Fire Chances Slight.

Citing an article in "Petroleum," a journal for oil companies, Mr. Knower declared that the chance for a fire or explosion at the proposed location is about one in every 5,860 years under an estimate prepared by Frank Epps, an authority on the subject.

"The only reason why this permit was revoked is because competitive companies objected," Mr. Carpenter said. "Our company applied for this permit and it was granted. Then council discovered what was afoot and revoked it because we were going to undersell local companies.

"That is the only thing at issue. We are underselling local companies at Birmingham and Nashville four cents a gallon at the present time."

Chief William B. Cody warned members of the fire board that any gasoline storage constitutes a fire hazard, and stated that the ordinances already enacted by council which forbid storing more than 2,700 gallons in any one tank inside the inner fire limits is a wise law.

Asks Same Treatment.

"We are perfectly willing for Mr. Knower to come to Atlanta and establish his business if he and his company are to be fed from the same spoon from which we are fed," Mr. Moore declared.

"Local companies have invested more than $5,000,00 in their businesses here. They employ about 5,000 men. The proposed company would not own a single foot of real estate but would occupy the site under a lease. In the event of a fire or explosion, officers of the company could stay outside the jurisdiction of the local courts and no damages could be obtained by those injured or by the

NEW WITNESSES IDENTIFY MERRITT IN ATTACK CASES

MERRITT IS SILENT DESPITE GRILLING

Police Claim They Have Evidence That He Was Marauder Who Last Fall Terrorized South Side.

Tightening their chain of evidence linking Alvin E. Merritt, 25-year-old factory clerk, with the long series of daring robberies and assaults on women on the north side, police Monday also began to weave a net about J. C. Hamilton, 31, Merritt's friend and alleged co-worker in addition to obtaining what they considered positive evidence pointing to Merritt as the marauder who early last summer and in the fall terrorized the south side through a series of similar crimes.

These developments coupled with the announcement by the police that the entire matter would be laid before the grand jury and indictments asked within ten days featured a day of excitement at police headquarters in which a number of women viewed Merritt and Hamilton, some making positive identification and others reporting themselves "not so sure" that either of the prisoners held them up, attacked or attempted to attack them.

17 Identify Merritt.

Three women during the day identified Merritt as their attacker, bringing the total of positive identifications to 17, the police announced Monday night. Despite these identifications, admissions that a lost hat, torn and dirty suit and the fact that goods stolen from the women who identified him were found in his 1000 Greenwood avenue apartment, Merritt's determination to remain silent held firm during an all-day grilling at the hands of Lieutenant T. O. Sturdivant, Guy Lindsey, veteran detective, and Special Plainclothesmen F. C. Foster and W. R. Harmon.

Two women identified Hamilton as the man who robbed them and a third pointed him out as the man who attempted to attack her in Inman Park last December after a man, identified as Merritt, had beaten and attempted to attack her girl friend and all the men in the park had started in pursuit of him. Hamilton, who lives at 1029 Williams Mill road, was arrested Saturday night at Merritt's apartment when he was found there when the police arrived to take Merritt into custody.

Linking Evidence Claimed.

"We have evidence linking Hamilton with some of Merritt's crimes," Detective Lindsey said. "We are going to put him before all the women who call at headquarters and the evi-

Harris Given Assurance Provision Will Be Made For U. S. Federal Building

Controversy Over Price for Site Desired for Structure, However, May Delay Start of Work.

Washington, February 11.—(Special.)—While the bureau of the budget was still wrestling today with the report to be submitted to congress recommending appropriations for new federal buildings throughout the country, word came from the treasury department reassuring members of the Georgia congressional group that ample provision may still be expected for Atlanta.

Officials of the budget, however, were reported to be undecided on a number of projects in cities where holders of prospective sites for the new structures were demanding prices regarded as exorbitant. Atlanta has been included in this general category by virtue of reports that the Central of Georgia railway, owners of the preferred property adjacent to the Terminal station already tentatively approved by members of the building commission, is demanding the sum of $1,250,000 for air rights over its holdings alone.

The report of Director of the Budget Lord had been expected to reach the house appropriations committee not later than this afternoon, but was delayed again. It is now scheduled to be transmitted some time tomorrow.

Word that funds for Atlanta would be retained in the project was given today to Senator W. J. Harris, of Georgia, who communicated with treasury department officials after the information was published by The Constitution that the city's chances for a new federal building were in doubt.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Carl Schuneman told the Georgia senator that Atlanta has not yet been stricken from the budget recommendations. He was of the opinion that the city would be taken care of when the final recommendations are approved.

At the same time, it is generally believed here that the city may be forced to accept a considerable delay in the ultimate completion of the project unless property owners show a greater willingness to cooperate in the sale of desirable sites.

A parallel is found in the recent case of Miami. Assistant Secretary Schuneman, First Assistant Postmaster General Bartlett and others having a hand in the federal building program recommended a new structure there in the early part of the building program. A decision was reached, just as in Atlanta, to build on a certain piece of property. When the time came to enter negotiations it was found that the price demanded was much in excess of the figure the government felt obligated to pay. The result was that offiicals deferred action for months in an effort to obtain a cheaper and equally desirable site and the structure has not been erected yet.

On this basis Atlanta might get all the appropriations wanted and still be unable to see the new building go up because of exorbitant demands. An indefinite delay might follow.

EDGAR L. GRANT, 72, PIONEER CITIZEN, DIES

Edgar Lawrence Grant, prominent Georgian and pioneer citizen of Atlanta, died suddenly early Monday morning at the residence, 113 Sixth street, N. E., after an illness of only a few days.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the chapel of the Barclay & Brandon company by Dr. J. Sprole Lyons. Burial will be in the Decatur cemetery and Piedmont lodge, No. 447, F. & A. M., will be in charge at the graveside. Charles and George D. Elyea, Robert and Walter H. Grant, Elyea Carswell and Gordon Donaldson will serve as pallbearers.

Mr. Grant was widely known in Atlanta, having lived here since the war between the states. The report of his death came as a great shock to his many friends in Atlanta and throughout the state. He was in good health when he celebrated his 72d birthday only a few weeks ago.

A member of one of the first families of the state, Mr. Grant was born at Columbus in January, 1857. Following the civil war he moved with his parents to Atlanta, entering business here and remaining a resident until his death.

In 1881 he established the Grant Sign company, which was one of the foremost advertising agencies in the state for years. The same year he married Miss Elinor Norman Glen, granddaughter of John Glen, who served as mayor of Atlanta in the early history of the city.

Mr. Grant was active in social and civic affairs of the city for many years and was a member of several fraternal organizations, including the Masons and Knights of Pythias. He was a member of the Atlanta Pioneer School Boy association.

Mr. Grant is survived by one son, William H. Grant, of Atlanta, and Mrs. J. W. Spears, of Rochester, N. Y. Funeral arrangements are being held in abeyance, pending the arrival of Mrs. Spears.

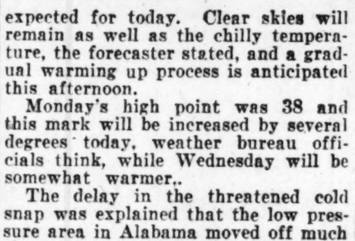
A continuation of the belated cold snap which reached Atlanta Monday, sending the mercury down to within one degree of the season's record, is predicted for today, according to the official forecast of the local weather bureau.



Monday's minimum figure was 24 degrees and a similar low mark is expected for today. Clear skies will remain as well as the chilly temperature, the forecaster stated, and a gradual warming up process is anticipated this afternoon.

Monday's high point was 38 and this mark will be increased by several degrees today, weather bureau officials think, while Wednesday will be somewhat warmer..

The delay in the threatened cold snap was explained that the low pressure area in Alabama moved off much slower than would have been the case 99 times out of a hundred and the delay also caused a corresponding moderation in temperature.

It was sufficiently cold, however, to bring sub-freezing weather to a large portion of the southeast with Louisville reporting the lowest minimum of 10 degrees. That the wintry blasts failed to penetrate into Florida was indicated from the mimimum readings of 66 and 62 in Miami and Tampa, respectively.

JASPER, GA., JAIL EMPTY 2 MONTHS, JUDGE PARK SAYS

Monticello, Ga., February 11.—(Special.)—Judge James B. Park, of Greensboro, judge of the superior court in the Ocamulgee circuit, in charging the grand jury in Monticello this morning, made the announcement to the grand jury that Jasper county has not had a prisoner in its county jail in a period of two months, and that he attributed the action and the conduct of the citizens of Jasper county to better educational facilities, to enforcement of the prohibition law, and obedience to the laws of God as well as to the laws of man.

Judge Park invited Rev. J. O. Brand, pastor of the Methodist church, of Monticello, to open court with prayer and reading of a scripture lesson, after which Judge Park charged the grand jury as above stated.

GEORGE WOULD REVISE SENATE BALLOT RULES

Wants To Abolish Executive Session Secret Voting on Appointments.

Washington, February 11.—(By Staff Correspondent.)—Revision of the senate rules to do away with secret ballots taken in executive session in connection with confirmation or rejection of presidential appointments was proposed to the upper chamber today by Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia.

The measure of the Georgia senator is the outgrowth of the recent agitation following publication of the senate's secret vote on the confirmation of Roy O. West as secretary of interior. Senator George challenged the accuracy of the published ballot after finding his name listed among those reported as voting for confirmation.

In addition to proposing open executive sessions the senator's measure provides for the consideration of all nominations in open session, unless the senate by a majority vote in open session determines otherwise. The Jones measure allows such a determination to be made in closed meeting.

Not For Publication.

At the same time, however, provision is made for all motions and votes being made public after secret executive sessions. Communications and remarks made by senators in closed executive session would not be disclosed but it is proposed to inform nominees of all charges preferred against them in secret.

Senator George said his measure would require open executive sessions as a general rule, the single exception being when the chamber expressed itself in favor of meeting behind closed doors, but even this decision would have to be made in open session. Agitation for a change in the senate rules is renewed after practically every important vote taken in executive session. Although members of the chamber are sworn to secrecy and are subject to grave penalties, even expulsion, some contend, hardly a ballot of national interest is permitted to escape the diligence of newspaper correspondents.

MRS. MARY C. OSBORN, BELOVED WOMAN, DIES

Death Comes to Member of Distinguished Family After 10 Weeks' Illness.

Mrs. Mary Cahal Osborn, member of one of the south's most distinguished families and a resident of Atlanta for more than two-score years, died Monday afternoon at her residence, 972 Myrtle street, after an illness of about 10 weeks.

Funeral services for the beloved Atlantan will be conducted at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon by Dr. Samuel Senter and Elder J. T. Wiggins at Spring Hill chapel. Following the services the body will be removed to Nashville, Tenn., where burial will take place in the old city cemetery at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning.

A native of Columbia, Tenn., she was the daughter of Judge Terry H. Cahal and Mrs. Nancy Sanders Cahal. Her parents died in her early girlhood and she made her home with her uncle, Judge Robert Carruthers, one of Tennessee's best known jurists and lawyers, in Lebanon, Tenn. She remained in Lebanon until her marriage to William A. Osborn, Atlanta real estate operator.

Coming to Atlanta with Mr. Osborn she established her home here about 45 years ago and since had been active in local religious and social circles. She was particularly interested in the work of the First Methodist church. She survived her husband by several years.

Mrs. Osborn's brother, Lieutenant Terry H. Cahal, served with great honor and distinction for the Confederate forces during the war between the states, dying from injuries received on the field of battle. This kept her interest alive in the work of the U. D. C., to the plans and purposes of which she always gave her closest cooperation.

Mrs. Osborn had an almost inexhaustible fund of recollections and reminiscences of the old south, which were a source of never-ending pleasure to her wide circle of friends, both young and old.

She leaves no immediate relatives but is survived by three step-children, Miss Pauline Osborn, Mrs. Martha Adams and George Osborn.

Sixty dollars in cash and a large quantity of cigarettes and cigars were taken by three negro bandits who early Monday night held up S. Steilberger in his grocery at 123 Chappell street.

Steilberger told officers that two of the negroes entered the store while a third stood guard at the door, all three being armed with pistols. While one of those in the store held him at bay with his pistol the other obtained the money and the tobacco. There were no customers in the store at the time.

Senator Harris, sponsor of the proposal to increase by $24,000,000 the prohibition enforcement fund, declared he had ignored the letter and would ask no investigation to trace its sender.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

"I smoke a Lucky instead of eating sweets."

Grace M Hay Drummond Hay

Lady Grace Drummond Hay, only woman passenger on the Graf Zeppelin.

"The fact that we were not permitted to smoke from the time the Graf Zeppelin left Friedrichshafen until we landed at Lakehurst only increased my appetite for a Lucky Strike. Oh, how good that first one tasted! I'm really keen for Lucky Strike—the toasted flavor is delightful. I smoke a Lucky instead of eating sweets—that's what many men have been doing for years. I think it high time we women smoked Luckies and kept our figures trim."

Reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet.

The modern common sense way—reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet. Everyone is doing it—men keep healthy and fit, women retain a trim figure. Lucky Strike, the finest tobaccos, skilfully blended, then toasted to develop a flavor which is a delightful alternative for that craving for fattening sweets.

Toasting frees Lucky Strike from impurities. 20,679 physicians recognize this when they say Luckies are less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during the year 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This surely confirms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

POLICE ARE WEAVING NET ABOUT HAMILTON

dence against him, like that found against Merritt, will be presented to the grand jury."

Describing the Inman Park episode, Lindsey said the two girls were walking through the park when one was seized and carried to a remote section where an attack on her was attempted. Her screams attracted a number of men who were sitting on benches not far distant and they are reported to have given chase. While they were chasing the man, identified as Merritt, the second man, identified as Hamilton, seized the second girl, who frustrated his attempt to attack her and whose screams forced him to flee.

All evidence in the case, together with a list of the 17 young women who have identified Merritt, will be turned over to Solicitor General John A. Boykin for presentation to the grand jury within ten days, Lieutenant T. C. Sturdivant, in charge of the police investigation, said Monday night.

"Indictments Certain."

"More than a dozen indictments charging Merritt with attacks are certain," Lieutenant Sturdivant said. "Though he persists in denying the charges categorically, his denials are useless so great is the evidence against him. We could put the case before the grand jury tomorrow and be assured of action, but we want to hand it to Solicitor General Boykin in such shape that all he will have to do is to parade his witnesses before the jury and obtain the results the law dictates."

Sturdivant, Lindsey, Foster and Harmon grilled Merritt from early Monday morning until dark.

"I was drunk that day. I don't remember what happened," Merritt replied time and again as the evidence was laid before him and the four policemen one after the other shot him question after question.

His efforts to obtain a confession having proved futile, Sturdivant Monday night summoned nearly a score of additional women to headquarters to view the prisoner this morning. More than 30 have viewed him thus far.

17 "Positive Identifications."

"Though we have now 17 positive identifications against this prisoner, we are going to get more if possible," Lieutenant Sturdivant said. "We want every woman who has been a victim of attacks to look him over and all who identify him will be used in prosecution of the case."

H. A. Allen Monday was retained to defend Merritt, it was announced.

A young woman who had been held up and attacked while on her way to the Erlanger theater late in November was among those who identified Merritt Monday. She also identified a pocketbook she said Merritt took from her and which was found Sunday in the Merritt apartment at 1000 Greenwood avenue, where Merritt and Hamilton were arrested late Saturday night.

Four watches, three fountain pens and other valuables found in Merritt's apartment and which the police believe were stolen have not been identified.

Merritt Monday was again confronted with a suit and hat, which is included in the chain of evidence against him. According to the police he admitted ownership of the clothing.

The hat was found in a vacant lot near the 800 block on Edgewood avenue Wednesday night after a young woman of the neighborhood had escaped when she was attacked. The hat was found by a barbed wire fence which the police believe the assailant fled through when he was pursued by a number of men, attracted by the screams of the woman.

Merritt admitted ownership of the hat and insisted that he had been drunk last Wednesday night, the night of the attack, the police said. He could not remember being in the vicinity of Edgewood avenue, it was said.

Soot as Evidence.

The suit which was found in a cleaning plant bearing soot and torn, Merritt explained, also became soiled while on the drunken party, the police said. The investigators explained that the soot found on Merritt's clothing is identical with some in the rear of the building where the girl was dragged and where she fought like a tigress to free herself.

It also was learned Monday that the man who turned Merritt's suit over to the police is H. E. Barr, proprietor of the Paris Cleaners, 693 Seminole street. Mr. Barr's information was given the investigating officers after they had called at his plant and asked him to be on the lookout for a soot-soiled suit which was believed to have a rent in the trousers leg.

F. C. Tinley, 986 Crew street, appeared at police headquarters Monday morning and positively identified Merritt as the man with whom he grappled half an hour last February after he had encountered a man attacking a girl near Grant park, the police announced.

"I would know you anywhere," the police quoted Tinley as saying to Merritt as he shook his finger in the prisoner's face. "I will never forget your face and so do you remember fighting me half an hour after you attacked a girl. It is a good thing for you that I did not meet you elsewhere than here, for I have been looking for you and you would not be here today."

The police also announced Monday night that they had obtained statements from three acquaintances of Merritt who said that they had dropped him from a motor car last Wednesday night on Edgewood avenue not far from the scene of the attempted attack which led to his arrest.

According to the statements of these men, whose names were not revealed, Merritt had been drinking but was not intoxicated.

The police assert that they believe Merritt guilty of a number of attacks in the near south side and Grant park sections of the city last spring, summer and early fall. At that time Merritt, his wife and their infant daughter lived with Merritt's parents on Georgia avenue, S. W. The prisoner and his family moved to the Greenwood avenue apartment late in November, about the time the first of the series of attacks on the north side took place.

Seek More Identifications.

Lieutenant Sturdivant announced Monday night that as soon as Merritt had been viewed by all of the victims in north side attacks the women and girls attacked last year on the south side would be called in to view the prisoner.

"We want to keep both sections of the city separate in this case," Sturdivant said. "But all of the women who have been victims will be called in. If they identify him as have the others the matter will be placed in the hands of Mr. Boykin to use as he sees fit."

The police Monday made public the following list of attacks in which they said the evidence points to Merritt:

List of Attacks.

November 23, on Hardee street, near Walthal.

November 25, on East Fourth street, near Peachtree.

December 2, on Walker street, near Peters.

February 6, on Boulevard, near East avenue.

February 6, near Wabash avenue and Angier place.

Much of the credit for the arrest of Merritt and Hamilton in connection with the north side attacks was given Atlanta newspapers Monday by Chief of Police James L. Beavers.

Beavers Praises Press.

"I cannot be too emphatic in my praise for the newspapers and the way they have handled this case," Chief Beavers said. "Premature publication of our plans would have ruined everything. The newspapers knew the situation as well as we did and they did not print a line until the man or men we believe guilty had been arrested and identified.

"The attitude of the newspapers from the very start was one of earnest cooperation and the public as well as the police owes thanks for the good done the city by this excellent bit of journalistic judgment."

Chief Beavers also was loud in his praise for the men participating in the capture of Merritt and Hamilton.

"The uniformed men whom we put in plainclothes for this special detail did nobly," the chief said. "I could not say too much for them and those who performed their duty so well can rest assured that the heads of the department will not forget their good work."

More than 100 men, put in plainclothes and assigned to duty on the north side, were returned to their regular details Monday night. A number of them had been working double shifts and will be given a rest period as soon as possible, Chief Beavers announced.

COLDEST SPELL IN 340 YEARS HITS CONTINENT

weather in 30 years in some sections and violent snowstorms in Wales.

Street car and omnibus service was suspended in Cardiff, where streets were reported impassable because of snow. Many autoists were marooned and various small villages were isolated. Hundreds of head of cattle were reported frozen to death.

Fierce winds beat on Craigweil house at Bognor, where King George is reported recovering steadily. The storm was the worst in a number of years.

Two more persons were frozen to death in Berlin this afternoon and 147 were treated at hospitals for frozen hands, feet and noses. Most of the casualties were women.

Three children died of cold near Breslau, Germany. The thermometer was breaking all records in Poland, where thousands of persons are suffering for lack of coal. All railroad lines are blocked by snow and a majority of the roads are impassable. Several minor riots were reported as the public protested the rising price of fuel. Reports indicated that the frigidity extended well into the Balkan states.

Forty-nine degrees below zero Fahrenheit was the temperature reported from Landeshut, Silesia. Nothing to equal this had been known there, it was said, for 239 years.

Berlin, with a mark of 22 degrees below zero Fahrenheit, had its coldest spell in 130 years. Breslau registered five below in the early hours.

Breslau was startled by a heavy detonation just before daylight. It was found that the frost had cracked one of the bridges over the River Oder, leaving a gap nearly an inch wide right across the bridge from one parapet to the other.

Birds dropped dead from trees in the Tiergarten, Berlin.

Cologne said it had the coldest carnival time since 1895. The River Rhine was frozen from bank to bank at the famous Lorelei Rock, an extremely rare occurrence.

In Jugoslavia the government sent airplanes with food, blankets and other supplies to snow-entombed villages.

The city of Koritza, Albania, was the source of reports that hunger maddened wolves were decimating flocks and herds.

Danube Frozen Four Feet.

Four women were reported buried under snow near Tricala, Greece. It was 32 degrees below zero Fahrenheit at Szaboles, near Szegedin, the coldest since 1860. Between Roustchuk and Guirgev, the Danube was covered with a four foot layer of ice.

Bulgaria has 22 below zero Fahrenheit in some sections. No trains were running between Sofia and Constantinople and schools were closed throughout the country.

The Warsaw-Bucharest Express, carrying 120 passengers, was marooned by the snow at the station of Kosmin. In Czechoslovakia, Prague reported the coldest day in 154 years. At Budweiss, in southern Bohemia, the mercury fell to 40 degrees below zero centigrade.

EDISON FEARS EVIL OF STATIC PERMANENT

yearly, but that it is improbable static will ever be completely eliminated.

Mr. Edison let it be known that he favors the proposed additional $24,000,000 appropriation for prohibition enforcement now before congress and believes that the navy of the United States should be kept on a parity with that of Great Britain.

When a correspondent asked him for a brief formula for a happy life he replied tersely:

"I am not acquainted with anyone who is happy."

While he was engaged with the questionnaire Henry Ford slipped quietly into the office by a side door and sat near his old friend. The automobile manufacturer wore a brass button in his lapel, one of the buttons supplied to all Edison employees on the inventor's birthday. On the button were the words: "A happy Edison birthday—February 11."

"Please don't. This is Mr. Edison's day," Mr. Ford cautioned newspapermen who advanced to question him. Later, however, he posed with President-elect Hoover, Harvey Firestone, who arrived after the interview, and the inventor for several photographs.

Mr. Hoover's boat docked at the Edison wharf on the Caloosahatchee river a few moments after the electrical wizard had dismissed the reporters.

Mr. Edison, speaking over a coast to coast hookup of 26 stations, made a brief radio talk of 101 words.

Mr. Edison said:

"Ladies and gentlemen:

"This is Thomas A. Edison speaking from Fort Myers, Fla.

"This has been such an eventful day, with so many kind messages from so many friendly people, that I find it difficult to express my heartfelt thanks. I am still working hard, and I ask you to accept my efforts as a proof of my affection, instead of words.

"I wish I could invite all of you to have some birthday cake, but unfortunately we can't eat by radio—just yet. I'll have to work on that problem.

"Well, good night, everybody. Thank you and good luck."

HOOVERS LEAVE FOR FISHING TRIP.

Fort Myers, Fla., February 11.—(AP)—President-elect Hoover was aboard the yacht Saunterer again tonight cruising down the Caloosahatchee river on a tarpon fishing expedition after spending six hours here today with his friend, Thomas A. Edison, on the electrical wizard's 82nd birthday.

The president-elect and Mrs. Hoover and their party which includes Mr. and Mrs. Edgard Ricard, of New York, and Jeremiah Milbank, eastern treasurer of the republican national committee and owner of the Saunterer, plan to spend several days fishing for tarpon south of Fort Myers.

Prescription He Wrote in 1892 is the World's Most Popular Laxative

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for elderly people. All drug stores have the generous bottles.—(adv.)

Frequent discussions of the "railroad valuation case" now before the United States Supreme Court have appeared recently in newspapers and magazines. In some minds the impression has been created that the Court's decision will be followed by immediate and drastic changes in the railroad rate structure—that a lower basis of valuation will mean decreased rates while a higher valuation will mean substantial increases. This is by no means the case.

The move to have a valuation set upon their property was not inaugurated by the railroads, the principal advocates of the Valuation Law passed in 1913 having been the Interstate Commerce Commission and the late Senator Robert M. LaFollette.

The question of freight or passenger rates is not the primary issue of the case now being tried before the Supreme Court. The railroad involved—a nine mile switching road operating in St. Louis—is protesting the Commission's valuation of its property because under that valuation it must pay to the government a portion of its earnings. The Transportation Act of 1920 requires that any railroad earning in any one year more than 6% of the "fair value" of its properties must pay into the United States Treasury half of its income in excess of 6%. Valuation for "recapture" purposes rather than valuation for rate making purposes is the point at issue.

The revenue of the railroads from passenger traffic is annually decreasing and freight revenues are likewise being impaired by numerous rate reductions. The railroads have been able to meet this situation only because of increased efficiency and rigid economy. There are, however, limits beyond which efficiency and economy cannot go. If rate increases become necessary it will be because these limits have been reached and not because of valuation of railroad property.

No matter what valuation is placed upon the railroads, every railroad must be allowed to earn sufficient to keep its plant and equipment at a high standard of efficiency and to earn a "fair return" upon the money invested in it. In no year since the railroads were returned to the control of their owners on March 1, 1920, have their earnings reached the rate of 5¾% which the Interstate Commerce Commission has set as a fair return. Any further decrease in their earnings therefore would endanger their ability to render the kind of service that their patrons need and expect.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

Remarkable New Element, Virogen, Restores Health to Weak, Suffering People, Declare Noted Medical Authorities.

The wonderful power of Virogen to rebuild natural strength, health and vigor is now attributed by physicians and scientists to its blood-building power. Virogen, they explain, regenerates human blood by supplying Nature with the elements essential to the formation of new blood.

Almost every household, it is said, contains one or more persons whose vitality is below normal—not necessarily invalids, but rather weaklings, who are prone to disease and complaints of every kind. To these Virogen has proven of inestimable value in rebuilding natural strength and health through regeneration of the blood.

A Modern Scientific Discovery.

A noted New York hospital physician first wrote the Virogen prescription. In hospitals and private practice, before its introduction to the general public, it proved a vitalizing food for the blood, a builder of firm flesh, bone and muscle and an indispensable factor in the correct functioning of the body.

Among the numerous symptoms which may indicate in varying degrees weak blood and its need of Virogen are: Lack of muscular strength and endurance, weakness of irritability; pale, anemic skin; restless sleep, loss of appetite, dyspepsia and indigestion, loss of weight, susceptibility to colds and catarrh, habitually cold feet and hands, exhaustion after moderate exercise or work, premature age and various skin eruptions. On the whole, it is said, the heart and stomach suffer the most from weak blood and respond most quickly to its strengthening effect.

After taking Virogen for a few days the color of the skin begins to show the improvement in the quality of the blood; the strength and endurance of the nerves and muscles gradually increase, and the organs of the body as a whole become stronger, resulting in a sense of physical fitness and vigorous health. The improvement of the blood is quick to strengthen the nerves, as shown by the restful sleep and the refreshed sensation which accompanies the use of Virogen.

Looks Ten Years Younger.

Georgia Legion Chief Indorses Memorial Tower

The personal approval of Lewis A. Moore, state commander of the American Legion, has been given the project of constructing a world war memorial tower on Blood mountain, according to James F. Morison, adjutant of the Atlanta post of the legion. A resolution by the Atlanta post called for construction of the tower and the naming of a committee to determine ways and means.

The tower would be located on the crest of the mountain, Mr. Morison said, and in the heart of the state forest park near Neel Gap. It would be utilized as a point of observation for forest fire wardens and for sightseeing visitors in that section of Georgia.

Investigations by the committee to be named under the resolution would be based on plans for the tower to be worked out by Dr. Charles M. Strahn, of the University of Georgia. The cost, Mr. Morison said, would run into the thousands of dollars, and the general plan of architecture along lines of old English feudal castles. It would be of stone construction, the material to be quarried from the mountains near by.

The matter will be presented to the state legion convention when it meets in Macon in June, Mr. Morison added.

State Forester B. M. Lufburrow expressed himself as pleased with this move of the legion.

The tower will be named the American Legion Memorial Tower and will commemorate Georgia's world war dead.

DR. N. R. MELHORN WILL SPEAK HERE AT UNION MEETINGS

Dr. N. R. Melhorn, of Philadelphia, Pa., who will address the union meetings at the Baptist tabernacle during the period between February 18 and February 22, inclusive, brings to Atlanta a reputation as a speaker of great power.

The prime movers of the Evangelical Ministers' association, the Christian Council and the committee on church cooperation feel that they are particularly fortunate in obtaining a speaker of Dr. Melhorn's ability to open these efforts. They are confident that Dr. Melhorn will have a series of messages for the workers of downtown Atlanta and any others who can so arrange their days to be at the Baptist tabernacle any day except Saturday from 12:15 to 12:45.

$4,159,500 IN BONDS DEPOSITED IN 1928 WITH TREASURER

A total of $4,159,550 in bonds was deposited with the state treasurer, as bond commissioner, during 1928, according to Sam J. Slate, state auditor, in a report released Monday. Fees collected during the year amounted to $1,126.25.

All bonds included in the report were deposited by insurance companies doing business in the state as evidence of good faith, under a requirement of the law, with the exception of $600,000 in state of Georgia and government bonds deposited by the N., C. & St. L. railroad as security for the annual rental on the Western and Atlantic railroad property of the state.

FOG PREVENTS SUB TESTS; NEW EFFORT TO BE MADE TODAY

Aboard U. S. S. Mallard Off Key West, Fla., February 11.—(AP)—Heavy fog during the morning and a choppy sea in the afternoon prevented further tests today of the new safety device, aboard the submarine S-4, and further escape tests by means of the oxygen inflated lung were postponed until tomorrow.

The Mallard and its protege, the rejuvenated submarine, were anchored tonight, with plans being perfected to conduct the further tests tomorrow morning. The lung has been proved successful in depths of 40 and 76 feet. It now remains to hold the tests from a depth of 110 feet, which, if successful, officers in charge of the operations believe, would prevent future disasters, such as befell the S-4 late in 1927, when she was rammed and sunk with a loss of 40 lives.

DECISION DELAYED BY PRISON BOARD IN GRINSTEAD PLEA

The state prison commission Monday announced that no decision had been reached in the case of Griff Grinstead, who is under death sentence on a charge of killing Homer Stuckey, Montgomery county deputy sheriff.

At a recent hearing a statement was made by an attorney that former Sheriff M. L. McRae, of Montgomery, had harbored Grinstead while he was a fugitive from justice. The former sheriff has asked the commission to let him appear before that body to make a denial of the charges. He already has denied the charges in full in a statement issued to Georgia newspapers. The prison commission will be in session Tuesday and it is expected that McRae will be given an opportunity to testify at that time.

They make 'em with Steel Hinges and ball-bearings for Atlanta Business Men

In some cities a ring-book is just a ring-book. Atlanta is different. Whether it is because Atlanta business executives use ring books more or are just naturally more particular we don't know, but we have to give them something finer than the ordinary. That is why we chose the last word in ring-books shown above—the "Monarch", manufactured by the National Blank Book Company—a firm which we know and all Atlanta knows as the manufacturer of fine record-keeping equipment.

The Monarch is made with a handsome brown leather cover, has hinges of steel at the point where most ring-books give out first, is equipped with ball-bearing booster-levers for instant opening. We are exclusive agents for this exclusive book, as for other National Blank Book equipment in Atlanta.

TO THE OWNERS OF AMERICA'S HOMES FROM THE DESIGNERS OF AMERICA'S SKYLINE

The new Allerton House in Chicago, designed by Murgatroyd & Ogden, noted New York architects. At right, E. F. Murgatroyd, member of the firm of Murgatroyd & Ogden.

"—it has been thoroughly demonstrated that in the long run rust-proof home construction proves a great economy."—MURGATROYD & OGDEN

E F Murgatroyd

THERE are two important reasons why you should install Copper, Brass and Bronze materials when you build or buy.

First: Service! These rust-proof metals give unfailing, unvarying service. Once they are installed you need never give them another thought.

Second: Economy! Although Copper, Brass and Bronze cost somewhat more than rustable metals, they are far cheaper in the long run. They cannot rust. Their use obviates repairs and replacements. And they enhance the resale value of the house.

The leading architects of the country are practically unanimous in advising the use of rust-proof construction for all buildings—especially for modest priced homes. Murgatroyd & Ogden, for instance, say in the same letter from which the above quotation was taken:

"The use of Copper, Brass and Bronze in buildings today is getting more and more common and we feel that in the near future they will entirely supplant the ferrous metals wherever corrosion is to be contended with."

Write our Building Service Department for additional information. There is no obligation.

Considering their life-long service and their absolute protection against rust, Copper, Brass and Bronze are not expensive even in the construction of small homes.

MEETING IS CALLED ON SCHOOL FINANCES

Composite Body Will Consider Problem at Gathering Next Monday.

Alderman J. Charles Murphy, head of a composite committee composed of members from the finance committee of city council, the board of education and a citizens advisory commission named by Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, Monday called a meeting of the group for 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, February 25, at the city hall for the purpose of seeking a solution to the school finance problem.

Members of the DeKalb and Fulton county delegations in the Georgia legislature will be invited to attend the session.

In the meantime, Jere A. Wells, superintendent of Fulton county schools and Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of Atlanta schools, will appear before a special bond committee named by Mr. Ragsdale at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon to consider some solution of the same problem.

Members of the bond committee named by the mayor to recommend projects to be included in a proposed new $8,000,000 bond issue for public improvements, have announced that a feasible finance plan for the schools must be evolved before bonds can be issued.

Alderman Claude Ashley is head of the committee.

Members of Mr. Murphy's committee in addition to the chairman are Councilmen Wiley L. Moore, Nelson Spratt and Ellis B. Barrett from council; George W. Powell, W. W. Gaines, John T. Hancock and Dr. McIntosh M. Burns from the board, and Robert F. Maddox, W. J. Davis, William Van Houten and H. Y. McCord, from the citizens commission.

Members of Mr. Ashley's committee are Councilmen Spratt, James L. Wells and J. W. Rountree and Fred Wilson, Thomas Elder and W. E. Small.

LOCAL FIRM TO ERECT BIRMINGHAM BUILDING

Allen J. Krebs Co. Awarded Contract for $1,500,000 Medical Arts Structure.

Award of the contract to erect a $1,500,000 medical arts office building in Birmingham has been made to the Allen J. Krebs company, an Atlanta concern, it was reported here Monday. The contract was awarded by John T. Jones, of Houston, Texas, who with his brother, Jesse H. Jones, widely known capitalist and real estate developer, is financing the structure.

Final negotiations in purchase of the site, which is in the business district, at Seventh avenue and Twentieth street, are expected to be concluded today. Actual construction will be started as soon as attorneys have approved the land title and a few building details are complete, the report stated. Mr. Krebs, who has been in conference with Mr. Jones at Birmingham, is due to return to his office here today. His company will act as general contractors for the undertaking. Architectural supervision will be by Birmingham architects.

When the project to provide the physicians and dentists of Birmingham with a specialized office structure was launched some time ago, it was planned to construct a 16-story building. Since that time approximately 150 physicians, surgeons and dentists are said to have signed leases for space in the proposed office building. When interest in the project was taken by the Jones brothers several days ago, revision of the original plans, calling for a larger structure, perhaps 20 stories in height, was contemplated.

The Jones brothers are owners of office buildings and other property in many sections of America and are said to be among the largest real estate developers in the south. J. T. Jones came to Birmingham to investigate the project and immediately made arrangements for purchase of the site and erection of the building. It is his intention to push the work as rapidly as possible, report of award of the contract to the Atlanta firm stated.

The cost of construction was estimated at $1,500,000.

FORRESTER ESTATE SUED TO RECOVER ON INVESTMENTS

A suit seeking to recover money alleged to have been turned over to the late George W. Forrester, Sr., for investment was filed Monday by Mrs. J. D. Hatchett and Mrs. L. W. Patterson against Mrs. Leila R. Forrester, individually and as executor of Forrester's estate, and against life insurance companies with whom Forrester is said to have held policies.

Mrs. Hatchett alleges that Forrester's estate is indebted to her for $750 and interest, while Mrs. Patterson seeks the recovery of $2,022.50 and interest. The petition alleges that Forrester had insurance policies approximating $90,000. Mrs. Hatchett said that she turned her money over to Forrester to be invested in coal, while Mrs. Patterson said that her money was to have been invested in purchase money notes. Cecil R. Hall filed the petition at attorney.

Prohibition Law Enforcement Hit By World Judge

The present prohibition laws of the United States can never be adequately enforced, in the opinion of Dr. Antonio S. de Bustamente, of Havana, Cuba, one of the eleven judges of the world court and professor of international law at the University of Havana, who is at the Biltmore hotel. He came to Atlanta to address the Citizenship conference at Emory university. He stated that he is a teetotaller, and prejudiced in favor of restricting the use of alcoholic beverages, but he sees no chance of successful enforcement of our present prohibition law. Despite inability of enforcement, however, Dr. Bustamente believes there is small chance of any important changes being made in it, adding that it presents the anomaly of having two classes of citizens who are diametrically opposed to each other working to the same end. "The good citizen who is honestly and genuinely dry, and the bootlegger who profits under your present prohibition law are interested in keeping the constitutional amendment exactly as it now stands," he said.

Despite the complex international problems which tax the minds of world court judges, Dr. Bustamente showed a keen knowledge and patriotic interest in affairs of Cuba, predicting that the time would come when Cuba would be the most important country in the western hemisphere.

Dr. Bustamente was gracious in his comments on the beauty of Atlanta and the charm of her people, the latter referring to the reception committee which met his train Monday. He expressed surprise at the number of Cuban students in Atlanta's colleges, remarking that 80 of them were in the reception committee.

BOOK EXPOSITION LEADER RETURNS FROM CHAPEL HILL

Miss Agnes Kendrick Gray has just returned from a brief visit to the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. She is director of the southern book exposition to be held March 16 to 23 in the book shop of M. Rich & Bros. company, and visited the university on behalf of the exposition.

While in Chapel Hill Miss Gray interviewed Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mumford Jones, who are closely identified with the cause of southern literature. Mr. Jones is a poet, and editor of "The Literary Lantern," a book page syndicated throughout the south. Mrs. Jones is a former Atlantan and is now identified with the University of North Carolina Press. Mrs. Jones and W. L. Couch, director of the press, promised an exhibit of their work for the exposition.

Miss Gray also saw Addison Hibbard, editor of "The Lyric South," an anthology containing work of southern poets, including Miss Mary Brent Whiteside. Another important author interviewed in Chapel Hill was Dr. J. G. de Roulhac Hamilton, an historian collecting rare documents throughout the south for a library at the university. Professor Frederick Koch, director of the famous Carolina Playmakers, was interviewed, and Miss Gray visited the beautiful little theater on the university campus.

Several of the above named authors and directors are expected to be in Atlanta during the week of the southern exposition, and Georgia book lovers will have the opportunity of meeting and hearing them.

OUT-OF-STATE PATRONS SEEK SEATS FOR OPERA

Missouri, Alabama and South Carolina Represented in Latest Requests.

Interest in Atlanta's 1929 season of grand opera, to be offered by the Metropolitan Opera company beginning the week of April 22, is attracting widespread attention in cities and states other than Atlanta and Georgia. The Atlanta Music Festival association Monday received a request for ticket reservations from Mrs. L. W. Baldwin, of St. Louis, wife of the president of the Missouri Pacific railroad.

Alabama and South Carolina also were represented in the request for ticket reservations, Dr. H. F. McConnico, of Montgomery, Ala., and Mrs. M. L. Roper, of Laurens, S. C., sending in checks for tickets. Among those making reservations from Georgia were Mrs. C. C. Brooks, Roswell; R. A. Simson, Washington, and L. M. Steinheimer, Savannah. Mrs. Flora Fader, Memphis, Tenn., was another person from an outside state sending in a reservation.

The opera company will open its engagement with "La Rondine," by Puccini, which will be sung here for the first time and all of those making reservations included this opera in their list.

Since the first announcement made last week of the initial list of prominent Atlanta citizens who enthusiastically rallied to the support of the Music Festival association in its plans to present a grand opera season here in April, guarantee cards are pouring in a steady stream at the offices of the association from old and new patrons alike.

Following is the list of names just added to the guarantors: Miss Natalie Hammond, Dr. C. W. Strickler, R. H. White, Clark T. Winship, H. G. Hastings, Mrs. Mary M. WINTER CLOTHING SOUGHT FOR POOR BY SALVATION ARMY

An appeal for warm clothing in all sizes, for children and adults, was broadcast Monday night by Captain Hugo Bloomberg, social service officer of the Salvation Army, following a flood of emergency calls from poor families during the freezing weather of the last 48 hours.

Captain Bloomberg stated that all contributions of clothing, along with paper, rags, broken furniture or other material that can be reclaimed to support the industrial home, would be collected promptly on telephone call to Ivy 2224.

The cold weather, he said, has disclosed much acute distress in poorer sections of the city, where scores of families are without adequate clothing and bedding. "Almost any garment, however badly worn, may serve to prevent real suffering if we can get it," he asserted.

Forestry Association Resolution Deplores Death of Hollomon

Resolutions expressing grief over the recent death of James A. Hollomon, associate editor of The Constitution, were adopted by the executive committee of the Georgia Forestry association and were made public Monday.

The untiring work of Mr. Hollomon in behalf of the forestry association, it was set forth in the resolution, was a great factor in the development of forestry in Georgia. At the time of his death Mr. Hollomon was chairman of the legislative committee of the association, in which position he had served for several years.

President Harmon asked the executive committee to advise with him in the selection of a successor to Mr. Hollomon, but inasmuch as there is no legislation under consideration at present, action in this matter was deferred. The committee authorized President Harmon and Bonnell H. Stone to act in behalf of the association in all legislative matters until the next annual meeting of the forestry association.

The executive committee also adopted resolutions approving the service rendered the people of Georgia by the state board of forestry and commending the policies of the association as set forth at a meeeting held Friday in the office of the governor.

THE SOUTH'S ONWARD MARCH.

On this page is reprinted an emphasized editorial by the Manufacturers Record in which the people of the south are urged to repeat a famous Napoleonic stratagem—"to beat a march instead of a retreat!"

The counsel to strenuously promote industrial enterprises which themselves will create new and enlarged markets for the raw and ripened products of southern fields, forests, truck farms, orchards and mines is timely and all to the good of those who have the will to profit by it.

Editor Edmonds is outstanding as a protagonist for whatever wise and operative effort and enterprise will contribute to the development and prosperity of the southern people. He advises only what he believes sane and constructive, and balances his enthusiasms with accurate data obtained by careful investigations.

The Constitution agrees thoroughly with his thesis that now is the time for southern leaders to defy any "creeping paralysis" of business pessimism and to cry "Forward, march!" all down the line. There are no compelling signals anywhere upon the southern business and industrial horoscope to warrant lack of faith in our people's ability to conquer temporary depressive circumstances and command continuous successful exploitation of the marvellous and inestimable resources with which Providence has endowed them.

Factoring and processing industries do certainly tend to concentrate population and create consuming markets for the products of the primary industries. The misfortune is that often those factory populations are not supplied from the farms, pens, poultry yards and truck gardens of their vicinage. That fact has been peculiarly demonstrated in the south—painfully so in our own state.

It was an evil era for the south when its people were forced, sixty-odd years ago, into the sub-war necessity of having their smokehouse in the west and their wardrobe in the east. That duplex recourse has possessed us, like a Gadarene devil, ever since, so that even yet the people of the incohate eldorado state of Georgia are sending scores of millions of dollars annually to other states for the beef, pork products, poultry, eggs, butter, cheese, hay, oats and corn which could and should be produced regularly and abundantly enough upon the farms of the state.

We need more and greater industries, to be sure, and we are going to get them, but more than all we need farmers shrewd enough to capture and hold the immediate consuming markets of their home state.

PAN-AMERICAN EDUCATION.

In connection with the 67th annual convention of the National Education association here in Atlanta, June 28-July 4, President Lamkin has invited the ministers of education in nineteen nations of this western hemisphere to send delegates to an inter-American educational conference to be held here at the same time.

The project is the first of its purpose that ever has been proposed and evinces a splendid constructive idealism on the part of President Lamkin. And if the conference results, as he anticipates, in the formation of a Pan-American Education association, holding annual conferences in the future, the fruits of the organization should be immensely valuable and far-reaching in effects.

Much of the friction that now and then develops between the United States and other American peoples can be traced to the absence of cultural correspondences between them. Lack of psychological and political understandings has been caused in a majority of cases, perhaps, to the differences in the educational systems of this and those other nations. A thorough survey of the educational agenda of each and a gradual coordination of plans to bring their national cultures into identities of information and aspirations will go far to establish mutual thinking and cooperations.

Atlanta will be fortunate indeed, and ultimately famous in history, if this summer the proposed inter-American educational conference shall lead to a common Pan-American system of international culture by the independent republican peoples of the western world.

The result may well be that in the generations to come all the American peoples will have a correspondence of mental training and will be able to reason and determine the issues of their relations in terms of common knowledge, amity and international interest.

OUR ANNIVERSARY APPEALS.

This day is the 196th anniversary of the planting of the colony of Georgia, on the Yamacraw bluffs at Savannah, by General James Oglethorpe. Four years hence, therefore, we will arrive at the bi-centennial of the commonwealth. That occasion should find our people strongly willing to celebrate it in some substantial and creditable manner.

Meanwhile it will be proper and helpful for the intelligent and progressive-minded citizens of the state to study its past history in order to learn how far the commonwealth has come from its birth in the arts of civilization, government, industries and social engineering for the common welfare?

Those are subjects for earnest thought, comprehensive research, and a courageous proclamation of the findings. Back sights are even more necessary to the marking of a straight course ahead than the foresights. To determine where and in what lines the state has lagged in progress and needs speeding-up stimuli, we must know the errors or laches of our past, and provide against their repetition in the future.

It is dutiful and beautiful to laud past glories and dead heroes of the state, but that is lip-service without substance if it does not inspire the living generation to vision and boldness in planning and achieving a better and peerless commonwealth.

THE CONCORDAT IN ITALY.

The treaty of peace signed yesterday between the Italian government and the Papacy breaks the impasse which has existed between the state and the church of Rome for over fifty-eight years.

The triumph of Garibaldi and Victor Emmanuel in 1870 in consolidating Italy, absorbing the Papal states and denying the temporal power of the Pope outside the walls of the Vatican, created the long feud that has since prevailed between the civil and ecclesiastical elements of the kingdom.

Their reconciliation has had to await the rise in the government of a dictator who could deal with the situation with power as absolute on the civil side as that of the Pope on the church side. So long as Italy was a constitutional monarchy, with a parliamentary popular check upon state transactions, the impasse continued unbreakable.

Now two powerful rulers—Mussolini and Pius XI—have agreed upon a concordat which seems to happily end the prolonged feud.

It is an issue that concerns Italian polity alone, but the settlement will have pleasing percussions throughout the world among Italian emigres and Catholics equally loyal in their double loves for the church and the motherland.

BACKING STONE MOUNTAIN.

Seldom has an editorial in The Constitution obtained quicker and more pronounced approval than that of Sunday calling for a new and harmonious enthusiasm for the completion of the Stone Mountain Confederate memorial.

The sentiment comes to us from near and far that The Constitution has voiced the general feeling that "forgetting the things that are behind" and looking constructively to the future, the great memorial must be brought into being without undue delay. This is accompanied by a confidence that under the direction of an able business man like President George F. Willis the enterprise takes on its most hopeful aspect, with a common disposition of the people most interested patriotically to cooperate with him with one mind and one heart.

It is strongly heartening to know that public interest in the completion of the illustrious project at Stone Mountain is not evaporating or even languishing. The consummation of the work will be hailed throughout the nation with high gratification and star Atlanta and the south upon the map of the planet with a distinction that will remain always uneclipsed.

Let us hope that the Mississippi river won't go on a rampage this spring before congress does something about it.

What to do with our ex-presidents doesn't worry us as much as what they did to us

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

The Kaiser's Book.

It is comforting to note from the kaiser's book, "My Forefathers," that "the Hohenzollerns are human, like everyone else," but a certain degree of doubt may be cast on the statement that "the sentiment of personal responsibility of the Hohenzollerns to God has led them automatically to think always of the public good." It is a strange and sketchy book. No one, reading the account of the reign of the author's grandfather, would imagine that Bismarck was anything more than a passive spectator of events in that reign. Wellington did not win the battle of Waterloo, says the kaiser, and, in that he is right; Blucher did, aided by the Prince of Orange. Wellington was being beaten, when Blucher turned the scales. On the Crown Prince problem, which cropped up in almost every generation of the family, the ex-kaiser expresses his personal views: No son is exactly the same as his father; the history of our ancestors proves this well enough. Every man is the product of his own generation. But if the heir to the throne has more interest in the inferior outward appearance of the so-called modern times, and tries to express them by his own manner of living without reference to the tradition of his house or in direct opposition to the father who is reigning, he can, more particularly if badly advised, become a danger for his country. In London they call the book "lovable," because of its absurdities.

Simile Crop.

Another set of similes is now presented by Frank J. Wilstach, noted as the author of "A Dictionary of Similes" and as an annual compiler of interesting figures of speech. According to him, the following were some of the best similes produced in 1928: "I slept like a cornerstone," Sir Austen Chamberlain. "The Hollywood telephone book is beginning to read like a Lithuanian time-table," Milt Gross. "Vapid as the glass eye of a stuffed fox." James Joyce. "Alone as a Methodist in Bavaria," H. L. Mencken. "As insidious as cake crumbs in bed," Nina Wilcox Putnam. "As noisy as an eel gliding through a pool of oil," Tony Sarg. "The public mind is like a baby's stomach; you must feed it one thing at a time and damn little of that." Herbert Bayard Swope. "A beautiful procession of clouds, like a flock of sheep," Thornton Wilder. "As out of date as the rustle of a skirt," Charles G. Shaw. "The play runs into a happy ending as serenely as a taxi into a pedestrian," John Anderson. "About as necessary as another leg to a centipede," F. A. Jusaites.

Twilight of Soldiering.

Life for the Chinese soldier in Peking is not what it used to be; no more free rides in the tramcars; no more walking into restaurants ordering a meal and walking out without paying; no more walking into theaters without buying tickets and taking the best seats regardless of the paying public. All that is finished and the troops are angry. It was the mayor of Peking who issued an order prohibiting these practices. The same action has been taken by the military authorities in Shanghai. The troops there were even worse than the Shansi troops stationed in Peking, and the commandant of the Woosung-Shanghai garrison issued orders that soldiers in full uniform must not eat or smoke in the streets; must not travel in tramcars or buses without paying the fare; must not appear on the streets improperly dressed. Soldiering in China is not what it used to be.

Health Talks

By Dr. Wm. F. Brady.

A MEDICAL DETECTIVE STORY.

President Wilson's praise of one of Fletcher's murder stories gave that form of fiction a great impetus in this county. In England some of the cabinet ministers confessed a fondness for good mystery yarns. President-elect Herbert Hoover likes 'em, too. Now everybody's reading them, when he is not writing one himself.

The doctors in these stories are—well they average up not so bad. Thorndyke compensates in a measure for Watson, and Hailey has his points.

The detective of fiction must be ever on the alert to "find the woman." The physician in practice must be as alert to recognize Anaphylaxis. That is not the name of a woman, but a peculiar reaction that may occur when a susceptible or sensitized individual digests or otherwise absorbs certain substances of nitrogenous or protein character, whether of food or other origin. Hives is anaphylaxis; but several other skin disturbances may be of the same nature and that is why the doctor must be on the alert.

Either this peculiar sensitization or susceptibility is on the increase or else we are getting more skillful in diagnosis, for not only skin manifestations, but also digestive disturbances, asthma, hay fever, and allied conditions, and bladder irritation is now frequently traced to some particular food protein or extraneous protein, by means of skin scratch tests with greatly attenuated solutions of the purified proteins. The individual who is sensitized to a given protein substance develops a small hive-like spot at the point where the extract is applied on the skin, but if not sensitized shows no such reaction.

This skin scratch test is not absolutely reliable in all circumstances but it is at least suggestive as a guide to the physician in getting at the actual cause or nature of the patient's trouble and perhaps finding a way to permanent relief. One plan now used successfully by the physician to corroborate the skin scratch test is the "elimination diet."

Right here is an excellent place to interrupt the meeting long enough to say that when anyone talks about "elimination" meaning excretion, he really doesn't know just what he is talking about. If this is not quite clear to you, bring on the utterance of your "elimination" expert and I'll endeavor to point out what is wrong with it.

An "elimination diet" is simply a diet from which the specific protein food substance is excluded. How can the doctor tell what to exclude if he doesn't know definitely which protein causes the patient's trouble? He can't. He just keeps the patient on one or two items, say bread and milk, for a week. If no trouble, other items are added one at a time, and week after week, until the specific protein is discovered—or in other words, until the patient suffers an exacerbation of his trouble. That clinches it. From then on the patient leaves that item out of his diet.

Crime Is Thought Romantic In Atlanta, Tompkins Is Told

DELUSION DOES CITY HARM, DETECTIVE SAYS

BY LOYD A. WILHOIT.

Atlanta is suffering with the popular delusion that crime is a highly romantic calling—and the mental ailment is one that works no good for this community.

This statement on the excellent authority of Detective J. A. McKibben, one of the most popular and successful operatives of the Atlanta plainclothes squad, was made Monday to Lionel Tompkins, the New Yorker who is seeking to learn Atlanta and its ways by short cut. Planning to move here, Mr. Tompkins last Friday adopted the peculiar expedient of dropping invitations to lunch from an airplane over the heart of the city—and, as a consequence, he was further enlightened upon the psychology of the south's "Gate City" by Detective McKibben over a luncheon table at the Biltmore hotel Monday.

Criminals Thought Heroes.

It was there that Mr. Tompkins learned that, along with New York and Chicago and numberless other places, Atlanta somehow has grown firm in the faith that criminals bear some sort of resemblance to the characters who disport themselves through the pages of highly-flavored fiction like combination D'Artagnans, Don Juans, Captain Kidds and Robin Hoods.

Whereas, according to Detective McKibben, the very reverse is true and the life of a confirmed criminal is a pretty drab and dreary affair, with a pronounced lack of emotion and a poverty of romance.

"There's nothing delightful nor quixotic about the criminal and his ways," Detective McKibben emphatically informed Mr. Tompkins "and the sooner the public, the juries and the courts realize that we are engaged in a very serious business, the quicker will we get somewhere in reduction of murder and crimes of all sorts."

Work of Maudlin Sympathy.

The detective recounted cases in Atlanta where perpetrators of brutal crimes had been showered with flowers and candy and various other nonsense by sentimental ladies, and how maudlin sympathy had gone a great way to thwart the police in their work of bringing criminals to well-merited punishment.

Having established the fact that romance in crime is conspicuous only by reason of its absence, the detective proceeded to explode another highly popular fallacy—that a detective's career is a series of wild adventures and thrills.

"The plain truth is that practically all really workable detective activity is done with the aid of informers, or 'stool pigeons,'" Detective McKibben stated. "It cannot be as the public supposes—that a detective wanders aimlessly about eavesdropping and depending on 'Lady Luck' for results. The detective himself can get nowhere by walking into criminal haunts, for as soon as he does everybody shuts up like a clam and pretty soon there's only the detective left on the scene. The average law-abiding citizen has no source of information. Therefore nothing remains but to find out what really happened from those who are likely to have been there or who are close enough to those who committed the crime to learn the details."

The Old "Hooie."

Consequently crime and "rings" and "police dragnets" and "molls" and "gunmen" and all their ways get a pretty black eye—movie plots and magazine stories to the contrary notwithstanding. To employ a rather vulgar but highly descriptive phrase, "it's all hooie," according to Detective McKibben.

Dealing with Atlanta's crime situation, the detective also told Mr. Tompkins the following interesting facts:

Colored criminals are responsible for most petty misdemeanors, but the "bad white" is the man who commits the bulk of holdups, murders, automobile thefts, safe robberies and major crimes.

Most robberies are committed by men or boys ranging in age from 18 to 30.

Few Amateur "Blowers."

The great majority of "safe-blowings" are done by northern and eastern professionals. A local amateur betrays his hand by contenting himself with hammering off the safe combination.

Crimes committed by young men—and they are many here—can generally be traced to either of two motives; first, the youth starts rushing a girl or running with an expensive crowd and steals in order to supplement his allowance (if he comes of good family) or his salary (if he is on his own); and second, that he has been raised so strictly at home that he literally "runs hog wild" with the first taste of freedom and independence inherited along with early manhood.

Detective McKibben said that he doesn't approve of the Baumes law for so-called habitual criminals and added the belief that "what is really needed in Georgia, as in other states, is better cooperation between the courts and the police."

Handicap of Policeman.

"As it is now," he explained, "the police officer or the detective works hard, builds up his sources of information, is brave in the performance of his duty, gets his man and brings him into court only to have a sentimental jury or big-hearted but misguided judge turn the offender loose with freedom to go right back and do it again.

"I do not believe in bloodthirsty vengeance, but I like the way they do it in England, where sentiment has no place in the courtroom. As a result, there is possibly less crime in England than most other countries of the world. I believe in capital punishment. In my long experience with criminals I do not recall a single murderer who did not deserve to be done away with. They say that all the executions during the past thousand years have not stopped murders, but they are wrong. An execution, of course, has no effect upon what has gone before nor will it have any effect upon future generations. But an execution today affects very strongly the acts of people living today, and that's all it should be expected to do. Whenever there is an execution, murder in that particular community drops off instantly until the memory of it wears off.

More Cooperation Urged.

"I positively do believe that there could be more cooperation between the police and the courts. I have no specific recommendations to make, but I know that in a great majority of cases the police have evidence that the defendant has committed a great many crimes, but since he is being tried on only one charge, neither judge nor jury is permitted to know all the facts that we, the police know. In consequence, our man is frequently let loose upon society again."

Mr. Tompkins' series of interviews, in which he seeks to find and analyze the true spirit of Atlanta and the city's reaction to its own problems, will continue through Friday. Today he has invited to have luncheon with him a member of the little theater movement; a young writer with a flair for flying on Wednesday; someone contemplating suicide on Thursday, and on Friday he has requested an invitation to dine in an Atlanta home where beaten biscuit and fried chicken may be had.

Mr. Tompkins is extensively traveled and is the author of several volumes of essays and travel experiences.

Your Broadway and Mine

BY WALTER WINCHELL.

New York, February 11.—Broadway hears of the shakedown gag just successfully worked on one of the leading chin-ema favorites. The star succumbed for a handsome lad who couldn't make his orbs behave, but he didn't tell the girl he was sealed. After a swift courtship of a month his squaw went into her act and threatened the young star with another form of front page publicity. The star's trust fund was called upon to give up 30 grand to keep it sotto-voce, and the team of badger workers are now in the Main Drag to give it a bad name.

This is absolutely on the urp-and-urp!

IN FEWER WORDS.

Wallace Sullivan appropriately calls second-rate talking pictures "Ear-aches."

WHOOPEE, OR NOT WHOOPEE, THAT IS THE QUESTION.

Among other things that make a columnar gray young is having thrust upon him the blame for a popular expression. The nationally known "Makin' Whoopee," frinstance, has from time to time aroused this person or that one, who either penned a letter containing abuse, praise or clowning; or some editorialist in the provinces yowled: ". . . . New York again claims something that was invented in the prairies."

Those constant followers of here probably would tell you that the popular word has been repudiated by this corner a number of times. That is, the department pointed out, almost a year ago, that it first heard "whoopee!" at a rodeo held at Madison Square Garden six years ago. Thus "whoopee" apparently was originated by the cowhands and rangers. The expression "Makin' Whoopee," the department also believed, it said, first appeared here over three years ago, when it chronicled: " . . . Frances Williams and Dick Simmons were making whoopee at Texas Guinan's last night."

There has been no objection to that claim, but the complainants have never argued about "making whoopee." They ignored the line, selecting only the word whoopee to yip about. As a matter of fact, "whoopee" is purely a derivative of "whooping it up." Take Service's poem: "A bunch of the boys were whooping it up," and so forth. Yet there is an army of letter writers who have pointed out that Kipling used the word (not the expression) many years ago; that Shaw once employed it; that Shakespeare even used it, and so on. Probably true, probably true. We reiterate. We have never claimed it.

Not a fortnight ago, Mary Rennels, the tome oracle for the New York Evening Telegram, paragraphed: "George Jean Nathan was the first to use 'whoopee,' in a book, in 1916. What has Walter Winchell got to say about that?"

We checked it up with Mr. Nathan, telling him that if he desired the alleged fame that went with originating the word we would be glad to reprint Miss Rennel's comment. Mr. Nathan admitted that he had used it, but that he did not create it, and that the book publishing press department evidently sent out the statement. "Every one knows," Nathan added, "that you popularized the expression, 'making whoopee,' so why discuss it?"

Ted Yudain, who columns for a New England paper (it wasn't listed on the clipping that came), says: ". . . . The widely-used, much-abused word was revived by Whoopee Winchell. The revival of that word, descriptive of innermost emotions, was, in all probability, for the sake of the drug store cowboys, but it was first used in the wild and woolly west, where men are men. The yell, at that time, was shouted by the courageous men of the plains."

Time for South To Beat a March

(Editorial Manufacturers Record of February 7.)

An old story, doubtless familiar to many of our readers, but always worth repeating, is that when Napoleon, feeling he had lost one of his great battles and that the only safety of his army was to fall back, ordered a drummer boy to beat a retreat. The drummer boy dared to reply: "Sire, I have never learned to beat a retreat. But I can beat a march that will make the dead soldiers to rise and fight again." Given permission to beat that march, he threw his whole soul into it with such tremendous energy that the tide was turned, the despondent soldiers were rallied, and rushed on to a great victory for an army that Napoleon had thought was lost.

All through this country the time has come, and this is preeminently true of the south, to beat a march and not to beat a retreat. Business men have been halting and hesitating; they have been ordering their people to beat a retreat, when the present is more appropriate than ever before in the history of the south to beat a march. Great railroad, manufacturing, and general business interests of the country should order that their people beat a march. This would stir the spirit of the pessimists to optimism, change the whole atmosphere of business, stimulate everybody to go forward and lead on to a great victory for southern progress and prosperity. The industry—whatever may be its character, whether railroad, manufacturing, power companies or others—which undertakes to beat a retreat shows its own pessimistic feeling and helps to bring defeat where there might be a great victory.

If at this—using a much abused term—psychological moment there could sweep over the south a spirit of optimism, a spirit of beating a march with tremendous energy, the time would rapidly come when abounding prosperity would sweep over the entire south, and from the south over the entire country.

The Manufacturers Record fully realizes every adverse condition under which business has labored for the past twelve months, but it knows the time has come to beat a march.

Then Forward, March! under the leadership of men who dare to do great things, and thus turn the tide from pessimism to abounding optimism.

END TO SPECULATION SOUGHT BY SENATE

ture agreements that came to his attention.

During Ransdell's discussion of the bill, Senator Brookhart, republican, Iowa, asked whether the futures exchanges aided the farmer or the speculator.

"What shape would the farmer be in," Ransdell countered, "if he had no agency to protect him and was at the mercy of a combination of millers? He certainly would be on the rocks. These so-called gamblers come into the market when they think the price is low enough, buy cotton, and immediately the price steadies."

"Suppose the millers and the speculators combined?" Brookhart asked.

"Can you get speculators to combine to put down the price?" Ransdell returned.

During the world war, Ransdell explained, the exchanges closed and prices went "down and down."

To Beat Prices.

Senators Ransdell and Brookhart also engaged in an exchange regarding the use speculators made of the surpluses. Brookhart contended that the only use speculators make of the surpluses, "is to beat the price down."

Senator Smith, democrat, South Carolina, explained that farmers must sell all their crop immediately "because they are helpless, and somebody is going to buy."

Brookhart pointed out that in Iowa last summer oats were selling for 32 cents a bushel as the new crop came on the market while a few weeks before the price was 65 cents a bushel.

"Until we get this country to realize something must be done in the way of financing surpluses," Smith declared, "we're going to have these farm problems."

During the debate, Senator George, democrat, Georgia, gave notice that he intended to propose as a substitute for the Caraway bill, one passed by the house last month. This bill, which was introduced by Representative Vinson, democrat, Georgia, would permit trading in futures but would place this business under certain restrictions to be regulated by the secretary of agriculture.

George Favors Change.

Washington, February 11.—(By Staff Correspondent.)—In keeping with plans made known last week, Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, today moved to have the Vinson cotton exchange regulation bill substituted for the pending measure by Senator T. H. Caraway, of Arkansas, restricting future trading in cotton.

The move by the Georgia senator was a parliamentary coup designed to effect final passage of the bill in the upper chamber. Representative Carl Vinson, of Georgia, author of the measure, has already obtained favorable action in the house. It is declared to contain the most stringent federal regulation of the New York Cotton Exchange attempted by congress in recent years.

The Caraway bill was brought up today as the unfinished business of the senate after receiving legislative priority at the hands of the steering committee last week. After a more or less spirited discussion of several hours Senator George offered the necessary motion to effect substitution. In doing so he announced that he would reserve the right to propose a few minor amendments before a vote is taken, probably tomorrow or Wednesday.

Vinson Expresses Hope.

Although Senator Caraway has announced pointed opposition to the substitution, both Senator George and Representative Vinson expressed confidence in the success of the enterprise. As explained by the two Georgia members, the purpose in the coup is to give the Vinson bill a legislative status having better prospects for final enactment this session. Senator Ellison D. Smith, of South Carolina, has pending in the upper chamber a companion bill to the Vinson measure, but had indicated an unwillingness to press for action, although a favorable report was forthcoming from the senate agricultural committee. It was this reluctance on his part that prompted the Georgia senator to seek action on the house measure.

Moreover, substitution of the legislation will obviate the necessity for further action in the house, aside from the work of conferees in adjusting any minor differences, whereas even though the Smith bill were to pass in the senate parliamentary procedure would require its adoption later by the lower chamber, since it carries a new title. This is one of the parliamentary situations which the maneuver is designed to overcome.

Tries to Save Bill.

After realizing that Senator George intended to press for action without his cooperation, the South Carolina senator joined forces with those behind the program in an effort, it is declared, to salvage whatever credit there may be due him for his previous interest. In consequence, an arrangement is expected to be forthcoming by which Senator Smith will amend the George motion to provide for his bill being incorporated in the Vinson measure without affecting the latter's title or scope.

The bill calls for the same federal supervision and regulation of the New York Cotton Exchange as now applied to the wheat pit of the Chicago board of trade. Provision is made for southern points of delivery of cotton traded on the exchange, 10 southern cities, including Augusta and Savannah, being designated for this purpose. Representative Vinson has declared that the legislation will have an important and highly beneficial effect on the cotton industry, insuring better and more stable prices.

democratic member of the banking committee, warned against any tinkering by congress with the nation's credit system. He expressed the view that no harm could be done in asking the board for its view on legislation, but he thought that nothing would be more damaging to the nation than for congress to undertake to determine what is and what is not speculation.

However, Senator Brookhart, republican, Iowa, urged that congress prohibit member banks of the federal reserve system from issuing any loans whatever to brokers. He declared this situation "is the menace of our times."

Meanwhile, the house received another resolution for an investigation of the board today. Representative Brand, democrat, Georgia, proposed an investigation by the house banking committee of the loans issued by the federal reserve banks of New York, Chicago and New Orleans since January 1, 1925, to brokers "for the purpose of speculating in cotton, tobacco, corn, wheat, swine and cattle."

This resolution, along with those of Representative Black, democrat, New York, asking investigation of the warning issued by the board against brokers' loans, was referred to committee without discussion.

Senator Glass reminded the senate that the federal reserve board is not charged by law with the supervision of stock exchange activities. He recalled also that he has pending a bill whereby he proposed to withhold more of the reserve funds from fields of speculation.

Alabama St. Viaduct Plan Indorsed by Representatives Of Fifth and Seventh Wards

Additional Impetus Given Move by Sanction of Aldermen W. Guy Dobbs and J. Allen Couch.

Additional impetus was given the move to construct a viaduct on Alabama street, extending from Forsyth street over the Spring street bridge to Haynes street, when adjoining wards voiced approval through their representatives.

Alderman W. Guy Dobbs, of the seventh ward and chairman of the bridge committee of council, and Alderman J. Allen Couch of the fifth, joined a large group of council members and prominent citizens in sanctioning and urging inclusion of the project in the projected new bond issue of $8,000,000 for public improvements.

"Aside from the fact that the bridge will be the beginning of the greatest era of development and expansion in the area in which it is proposed to locate it, the structure would be an important traffic artery connecting the center of Atlanta to the southwest in a most advantageous manner," Mr. Dobbs said.

"It has the unqualified approval of scores of leading business men, and would be of inestimable value to the fifth and contiguous wards in presenting a new outlet for traffic in the section. It also would be a great factor in relief of congestion in the heart of the city itself. I am heartily in favor of the proposal and hope that it will be included among the projects to be offered to the people of Atlanta in the new bond issue."

"The time has come when one portion of Atlanta can not be neglected insofar as public improvements are concerned without reflecting in an unfavorable way on every other section," Mr. Couch said. "This proposed new viaduct would give a deserving area an improvement which is badly needed and at the same time would offer a new and very desirable traffic artery to the southwestern portion of the city.

"It would connect the heart of Atlanta over a new route to this area and would at the same time react to increase real estate values throughout the city. I cannot recommend it or support it too strongly."

VATICAN BECOMES SEPARATE STATE

minion and sovereign jurisdiction of the holy see over the vatican as at present constituted.

City of the Vatican.

"For this purpose the 'City of the Vatican' is created, declaring that in its territory no interference by the Italian government will be possible and that there will be no authority but the authority of the holy see. St. Peter's square, though forming part of the vatican territory, will continue being normally open to the public and subject to the police powers of the Italian authorities. The boundaries of the vatican city are indicated on a map annexed to the treaty.

"A special clause specifies that all public services with which the vatican city will be endowed shall be by Italian connection with other states telegraph, telephone, wireless broadcasting and postal services.

"Another agreement was provided for between the holy see and the Italian state for the circulation on Italian territory of terrestrial vehicles and aircraft belonging to the vatican city.

Immunity to Dignitaries.

"Another clause specifies persons subject to the sovereignty of the holy see, namely those having stable residence in the vatican city. The treaty also lays down the immunity which will be enjoyed even by those who do not reside in the above mentioned city, namely all dignitaries of the church, persons belonging to the pontifical court and vatican officials declared indispensable by the holy see.

"Territorial immunities also are provided for the patriarchal basilicas and certain edifices situated outside of the vatican city in which the holy see has housed or will house its congregations or offices and services necessary for its administration.

"Italy recognized the holy see's right to send its own diplomats to foreign countries and to receive foreign diplomats according to the general rules of international law. The two high contracting parties bind themselves to establish normal diplomatic relations by accrediting an Italian ambassador to the holy see and an apostolic nuncio to Italy, who will be the dean of the diplomatic body according to customary procedure as recognized in the congress of Vienna.

"It is also agreed that the artistic and scientific treasures existing in the vatican city and Lateran palace continue to remain visible to students and visitors.

Criminal Prosecutions.

"Another clause states that if the holy see requests it, either in any single case or as a general rule, the Italian government will see to punishment in its own territory of crimes committed in the vatican city. Similarly the holy see will deliver to Italy persons who have taken refuge on vatican territory accused of acts which are considered criminal by the laws of both states.

"Yet another clause states that the vatican wishes to remain and will remain extraneous to temporal competitions between other states and from international congresses convened for this purpose unless the parties in conflict appeal unanimously to its mission of peace and reserving the right, in any case, to exercise its moral and spiritual power. As a consequence of the above, the vatican territory will always be considered neutral and inviolable.

"Then comes a declaration as follows: 'The holy see considers that with the agreements today signed it possesses guarantees necessary to provide with due liberty and independence the spiritual government of the diocese of Rome and of the Catholic church in Italy and the whole world declares the Roman question definitely and irrevocably settled and therefore eliminated, and recognizes the kingdom of Italy under the dynasty of the House of Savoy with Rome as the capital of the Italian state. Italy on its side recognizes the state of the vatican. Do sovereignty supreme pontiff. The law of guarantees and any other law or act contrary to the present treaty is abrogated.'

Clause in Marriage.

"The article concerning marriage is particularly interesting and says 'the Italian state, wishing to give back to matrimony which is the base of the family dignity in agreement with the Catholic tradition of its people, recognizes matrimony as a sacrament regulated by canon law in its relation to civil law. The bans of marriage must appear in the parish church as well as in the municipality. Immediately after the celebration of marriage the parish priest will explain to the married couple civil consequences of marriage, reading the articles of the civil code concerning the rights and duties of a married couple.

"'The parish priest must also send within five days the marriage certificate to the municipality and have it copied in the registers there. The cases concerning marriage and the dissolution of the marriage celebrated but not consummated or reserved to the ecclesiastical authorities for their sentence, before becoming definite, must be brought before the supreme tribunal of segnatura (a king or supreme court) which will determine if all the rules of canon law have been respected concerning the competence of the judge and whether the interested parties were represented before the court or judged by default. The decision of the supreme tribunal segnatura will be sent to the court of appeal of the Italian state, which will enforce the sentences of the ecclesiastical authority ordering them to be annotated in the municipal marriage registers. With regard to cases of separation, the holy see consents to judgment being given by the Italian civil authorities.'

Religious Teaching.

"The teaching of religion becomes compulsory, not only in the elementary schools, but also in the second schools, according to the program established in the accord between the holy see and Italy. Italy recognizes Catholic organizations forming part of Italian Catholic action, which, according to instruction of the holy see, must keep their activity outside of any political party and under the immediate control of the hierarchy of the church for spreading and applying Catholic principles.

"Toward the end the concordat establishes that any future difficulty in the interpretation of the same is to be solved by the holy see and Italy through mutual and friendly understanding.

"The financial convention establishes that the holy see, as definite settlement of all its financial relations with Italy in consequence of the fall of temporal power, accepts 750,000,000 lire cash and 1,000,000,000 lire in Italian state consols at 5 per cent. This sum is inferior to what Italy would have paid if the holy see had accepted the allowance granted by the law of guarantees of May 13, 1871. The treaty of conciliation, the concordat and the financial convention must be ratified by the supreme pontiff and the king of Italy within four months from today's signature and will have effect from the moment of ratification."

LOW FINES BRING MANY PLEAS; SOME END IN GRIEF, JAIL

Tampa, Fla., February 11.—(AP)—Sixty-six prohibition cases were disposed of here today in rapid-fire order by Judge Lake Jones in federal court. Pleas of guilty to possession brought fines of $5 to $25 and when it became known that this tariff was being exacted, there was a stampede to plead guilty. In the rush some of the defendants overlooked the fact that there was a difference between charges of possession and of sale. Sale meant 30 days in the county jail and two or three received commitments before they woke up.

W. C. Snyder admitted having 728 bottles of home brew in his possession and having sold a few. The judge warned him that the second count in the case carried a jail sentence but Snyder stuck to his plea and got 30 days, his sentence in another case to run concurrently.

Transportation charges brought heavier penalties, the highest fine being $200. Several automobiles were ordered confiscated. The docket carried 158 cases when the day began.

GOTHAM BANK CLOSES

State Agent Takes Charge of City Trust Company and Five Branches.

New York, February 11.—(AP)—The state superintendent of banks today took charge of the City Trust company, with five branches, three in Manhattan and two in Brooklyn. Its capitalization is $1,225,000 with a book surplus of $965,712 and deposits of $7,347,550.

COUNCIL TO DECIDE GAS TANK BATTLE

families of those who might be killed.

"It would be unfair competition to permit one company to install two 20,000-gallon tanks on a site in the heart of a business district and deny that same right to other companies which are paying a large part of the taxes and licenses of the city."

Stored Gas a Hazard.

"Any gasoline storage constitutes a fire hazard," Mr. Millican stated. "We lost one of our stations in Florida today. We have been forced under existing ordinances to install bulk tanks outside the city limits. It would not be fair to permit other companies to establish large tanks inside the inner fire limits."

"We complied with every stipulation of the city in obtaining the permit to establish our station," Mr. Knower said. "We already have expended about $2,000 in prosecution of the work in accordance with the permit which was granted us last July and revoked in September. We think it fair that we be allowed to proceed with our project."

The board voted four to three to adverse a petition which would request council to revoke the rescinding order.

The three members of the committee who voted to recommend that council reopen the matter announced that they would file a minority report.

Those voting to recommend reopening were Huiet, Barrett and Williamson, and will file the minority report. Those voting against reopening were Dobbs, Saunders, McCutcheon and Pennington.

Saunders Breaks Tie.

When the vote was taken it stood three to three and Mr. Saunders, who is chairman of the board, voted to break the tie.

Members of the board also voted against any change in the age limit for applicants of the fire department, leaving the limit at from 21 to 35.

Druid Hills residents were granted another 30-day extension of fire service by the city pending an effort on the part of residents to work out some plan by which the community would be given fire protection. The board previously had set February 15 as the last date on which the city would attempt to offer protection. W. B. Schwartz and C. F. Wilkinson appeared as a committee before the board asking the extension of time.

W. J. Redwine was suspended for 10 days and W. A. White for 20 days following conviction of charges of intoxication.

Several other minor rule changes also were voted by the board, and routine matters were discussed.

Representatives of 19 Nations Invited To Educational Meet In Atlanta June 28 to July 4

Sessions Will Be Preliminary Conference of Inter-American Educational Body.

Washington, February 11.—(Special.)—President Uel W. Lamkin, of the National Education Association of the United States issued invitations today to the ministers of education in 19 nations of the western hemisphere, requesting their participation in an informal inter-American educational conference to be held at Atlanta, Ga., June 28, to July 4, 1929, in connection with the sixty-seventh annual convention of the National Education association. Invitations were sent to Argentine, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, Cuba, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Nicaragua, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Salvador, Uruquay, and Venezuela.

Before sending the invitation President Lamkin was assured by representatives of a number of these countries, through Dr. Glen Levin Swiggett, of Washington, D. C., secretary of the movement for an inter-American educational organization, that the various nations would look with favor on holding the preliminary conference in the United States and on holding the first formal meeting in one of the nations of the south. President Lamkin was reminded that the World Federation of Education associations originated in a similar conference in San Francisco in 1923 and held its second conference in Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1925.

Mr. Lamkin expects each nation to send one or more representatives to Atlanta and he believes an organization of great significance will be formed. In commenting on the invitation he said today, "The educators in these nations are on most cordial terms with each other. This organization will help to create a better understanding between the people themselves. I look upon this as a most important movement and one which will rapidly improve relationships.

"I am in favor of holding the first formal meeting of the proposed organization in one of the southern republics. It is a recognition of the kindly attitude of educators in those nations towards this country for the preliminary conference to be held at Atlanta."

FORD GIVES EDISON 22,000 ACRES LAND

Savannah, Ga., February 11.—(AP)—The interest of the rubber world was focused upon Georgia today with the announcement by Thomas A. Edison that Henry Ford had turned over to him 22,000 acres of land in this section to use for rubber producing experiments.

The inventor disclosed plans for the rubber plantation at his winter home in Fort Myers, Fla., during the annual interview with newspapermen.

Mr. Ford's tract near here comprises a stretch of land 12 miles long and three miles wide along the banks of the Ogeechee river. Mr. Edison said it would be stocked with rubber producing plants which would be breeded and then put to work.

The much maligned golden rod was named by the American wizard as one of the best producers of rubber. He has been experimenting with rubber at his laboratory here for sometime and has found that there are from 1,200 to 1,400 rubber producing plants in the United States.

Golden rod is abundant in Bryan, Chatham and adjoining counties. Practically all of the land is high. It borders the coastal highway and tracks of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad and the Seaboard Air Line railway crosses the acreage.

For the most part the tract consists of ante bellum plantations. A corner of one of these plantations extends into Chatham county.

RAILROAD CHIEFS ATTEND FUNERAL OF W. N. MITCHELL

Four officials of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, including Vice President Archibald Fries, James Murray, assistant to the president; H. O. Hartzeld, assistant to the vice president, and F. H. B. Bulloch, of the president's office, arrived in Atlanta early Monday morning in Mr. Fries' private car to attend funeral services for W. Norwood Mitchell, general southeastern freight agent for the company, which were held at 9 o'clock Monday morning from the Sacred Heart church with Father M. A. Cotter officiating.

Following the services here, the body was taken to Richmond, Va., for burial at the Hollywood cemetery at 11 o'clock this morning.

The four officials, together with Mrs. Mitchell and son, Otey B. Mitchell, the only survivors, accompanied the body to Richmond.

Mr. Mitchell, who was a widely known business and fraternal leader, died at his home, 997 Columbia avenue, Saturday morning following an extended period of illness. Prior to his coming to Atlanta in 1896, he had been located in Richmond, Va. He was 76 years old.

PERKERSON PARK HEARING CALLED BY WILEY MOORE

Councilman Wiley L. Moore, of the seventh ward, chairman of the finance committee of city council, Monday called a special meeting of the committee for 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, February 21, to consider a proposal that council set up $26,250 for purchase of the Perkerson tract, now known as Ragsdale park. All parties interested are urged to attend.

Members of the tenth ward delegation in council have insisted that steps be taken to meet the obligation which the city assumed in agreeing last year to pay $400,000 for the 430-acre tract for park purposes. They offered a paper in council calling for the allocation and this is the paper which will be up for discussion.

MORGAN BOUND OVER

Violating Motor Vehicle Theft Act Charged.

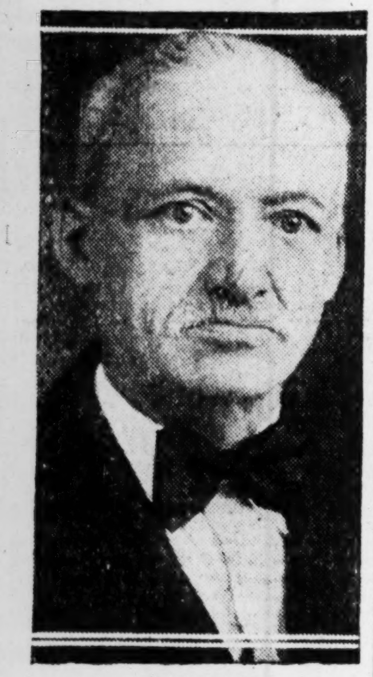
H. E. Morgan, alias H. E. Creel, was placed under $1,000 bond Monday following a hearing before United States Commissioner E. S. Griffith on charges of violating the motor vehicle theft act and an additional bond of $100 on charges of possessing intoxicants.

Pat Wall and J. B. Wright, of Rockdale county, were placed under bonds of $500 each on charges of manufacturing whisky.

HAD FEARED HE'D BE FORCED INTO GIVING UP WORK

Blaser Feels as Well as He Did When He Came to This Country From Switzerland When a Boy

"For six months I was in such a rundown condition I thought I'd have to quit work. With the first bottle of Sargon I noticed a change for the better. I am on my third bottle now. My troubles are ended and I feel as well as I did when I came to this country from Switzerland when a boy.



FRED BLASER.

"I was so weak and rundown that with every change in the weather I caught cold and had a hard cough. My liver was out of order and I was badly constipated. I had no appetite. Food of any sort didn't appeal to me. I had severe headaches nearly all the time. I was bilious, my tongue was coated and I had a bad taste in my mouth. I was losing weight and strength rapidly. I didn't sleep well and in the mornings I was tired, sluggish and generally felt worse than when I went to bed.

"A large number of my friends who had been taking Sargon spoke so highly of the treatment that finally I tried it. All traces of my former troubles have disappeared. I am in better health than I have been for years.

"From my own experience I can sincerely endorse Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills. The pills are different than any I ever used. They are dependable and cause a natural, easy action. They do not gripe or sicken in the least. I give the Sargon treatment full credit for ending my health troubles."

The above statement was made recently by Fred Blaser, 261 Fifteenth street, Milwaukee.

The Sargon representative is at Jacobs' main store, 6 and 8 Marietta street, where he is meeting the public and explaining the merits of the medicine. Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills may also be obtained at the other Jacobs' stores all over Atlanta.—(adv.)

CARNES WILL BE TAKEN TO STATE FARM TODAY

Ex-Treasurer of Baptist Board To Begin Serving 5-Year Sentence.

Clinton S. Carnes, ex-treasurer of the Southern Baptist home mission board, today will be taken to Milledgeville where he will begin his five-year term.

It will be Carnes' third trip to the penitentiary, he having previously served two terms upon federal convictions of using the mails to defraud. The five-year sentence he will begin today was ordered last week by Superior Judge Virlyn B. Moore on his plea of guilty to having stolen $80,000 from the mission board.

Several other less publicized prisoners will accompany Carnes to Milledgeville. They will be in charge of a guard from the state prison farm. The trip will be made by motor, but the time of departure has not been announced. It is expected to be in the early morning. As little attendant publicity and photographing as is actually necessary is reported to be the desire of Carnes.

Twenty-seven Baptist ministers of Norfolk, Portsmouth, Elizabeth City and vicinity, in attendance at the weekly meeting of the Norfolk-Portsmouth Baptist Ministers' conference at Norfolk, Va., Monday, affixed their individual signatures to resolutions deploring the action of the Southern Baptist home mission board in agreeing to the verdict imposed on Carnes.

The resolutions call upon the board to furnish the Baptist fellowship with a complete statement of the board's affairs.

This coupled with the attack from his Raleigh, N. C., pulpit Sunday by the Rev. J. Powell Tucker, pastor of First Baptist church there, characterizing the disposition of the Carnes case as a "flagrant, astounding and suspicious miscarriage of justice," drew from Dr. Luther Rice Christie, president of the mission board, the following statement at the board's offices here:

"We intend to furnish the Baptist people with a full and complete report of the conditions of the mission board. When we agreed to the five-year sentence for Carnes we expected sporadic protests and resolutions decrying the act, but we feel sure that when the condition of the board is made known and we have pointed out to our Baptist people that we took what we considered the best course, we feel sure that they will agree with us."

Dr. Christie added that members of the board's administrative staff were working on this report and that it would be ready in a few days.

CARNES VERDICT HIT AT NORFOLK MEETING.

Norfolk, Va., February 11.—(AP)—The verdict in the case of Clinton S. Carnes, defaulting treasurer of the Baptist home mission board, was characterized as a "flagrant and outrageous miscarriage of justice" in resolutions adopted and signed by 27 members of the Norfolk-Portsmouth Baptist Ministers' conference at their meeting here today.

The resolutions censured the board for agreeing to the sentence imposed and suggested that a full statement of affairs was needed to overcome the impression "that much information was being withheld" by the board.

There was no opposition to any part of the text and all the ministers present confirmed their attitude toward the affair by signing their names.

The resolutions read as follows:

"Be it resolved: That we, members of the Baptist Ministers' conference of Norfolk, Portsmouth and Elizabeth City, have heard with consternation and grief the agreed-to verdict on Carnes, defaulting treasurer of the home mission board, Atlanta, Ga.

"That a verdict of from five to seven years on only one count out of 20 counts, dismissing the remaining 19 counts on which he had been indicted, is a flagrant and outrageous miscarriage of justice which will add greatly to the confusion of our already demoralized denominational situation.

"That we hereby protest the action of the board and express the hope that our pastors and churches generally will enter a like protest.

"That we call on the home board to give to our people a complete statement of its affairs so as to remove the growing suspicion that much information has been withheld from our brotherhood.

"That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Religious Herald and to the home mission board."

Better Than Whiskey For Colds and Flu

The sensation of the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the people as ten times as quick and effective as whisky, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are supplied with the wonderful elixir, so all you have to do is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk 60c for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonsful. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel the distressing symptoms of your cold fading away like a dream, within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

Take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and children, for Aspironal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for children as well as adults. Quickest relief for catarrhal croup and children's choking up at night.—(adv.)

Crowds Besiege 'Coquette' Train on California Trip

GIRLS ANXIOUS TO SEE "NOBLE RED MEN"

BY LILLIE MAY ROBINSON
(Special Staff Correspondent.)

Aboard the "Coquette Special," Somewhere in New Mexico, Feb. 11.—From the land of the tall corn up over the big hills and through the big snows we have come until now we are dropping down into New Mexico and fifty pairs of eyes are anxiously scanning the landscape for a bright blanket or a string of beads, denoting, of course, the presence of an Indian.

The "Noble Red Man" is the next novelty which will greet Miss Everitt and a score of other fortunate girls who are aboard this train heading for California and a grand welcome from "America's Sweetheart."

Chicago was disappointingly tame but Kansas was satisfyingly rustic and, of course, Colorado and its mountains was awe-inspiring and beautiful no end.

Through Kansas' level plains we sped, stopping only at a few towns. But at these places! The natives nearly overwhelmed us for in some way word had spread that our train was actually carrying Mary and Doug instead of merely bearing their guests. The long line of cars was besieged at every hamlet and our denials of the famous pair's presence failed to convince the admirers. At one place we actually had to tell them that Mary was confined to her berth with tonsilitis and Doug would not leave her side, before we could stop the attempts to board the cars.

But the night trip over the mountains really provided the thrills. At Trinidad a huge engine was put on the rear of the train as a "pusher," while two were put at the front and we started up over the hills.

Through the greater part of the clear, cold night a thrilled bunch of young ladies sat up and watched the progress of this climb. Up among the big rock and snow-covered hills we moved until it seemed we were fairly touching the myriad stars. And off in the distance we saw the glare of a forest fire that dimmed for a space, the brilliance of the stars.

When a sleepy bunch finally retired it was only to snatch a few hours' sleep and then rise to watch the sun as it rose over the snow-clad peaks we had passed in the night, and followed us among the hills that will lead us tonight to Albuquerque and Indians.

Philatelic Expect To Meet Public Here Wednesday

Walter Emerson, of Chicago, noted collector of stamps and president of the Chicago Philatelic society, who has purchased stamps owned by collectors and persons in possession of old letters and stamped documents in all sections of the country, will devote all day Wednesday to acquainting readers of The Constitution with the history and value of old stamps, purchasing those owners offer for sale. He will meet the public on the sixth floor of The Constitution building between the hours of 9 a. m. and 5 p. m.

Mr. Emerson arrived in Atlanta Monday from Chattanooga, where he made contact with the public of similar nature to the one he plans here. He plans to leave Atlanta Wednesday night for Augusta and Charleston before returning to Chicago, and will be on the lookout for rare stamps during the entire trip.

Mr. Emerson states he sometimes finds valuable stamps owned by persons not directly interested in stamp collecting, but who have groups of old letters and documents stored away.

LAST SERVICES TODAY FOR JOHN T. COLLIER

Atlanta Tax Assessor Will Rest This Afternoon in Family Cemetery.

Funeral services for John T. Collier, 69, Atlanta tax assessor who died Sunday at his home near Adamsville, will be conducted at 3 o'clock today at the residence. The Rev. Felton Williams will be in charge and burial will be in the family cemetery at the home. Death came after an illness of only a few days.

Mr. Collier was made assessor in 1895 and from that time until his death, a period of more than 33 years, held this position, making a remarkable record of service and efficiency. At the time of his appointment he was in the dry goods business here.

A native of Atlanta, Mr. Collier came of a line of prominent builders of the city. He married Miss Mary Leach Wilson, daughter of Judge W. A. Wilson, for many years sheriff of Fulton county. Mr. and Mrs. Collier for the past several years lived at Judge Wilson's old home on Fairburn road. This structure was built during the civil war and is one of the landmarks of that section of the county.

He was past grand sachem of the Georgia division of the Order of Improved Red Men and also was a Mason and an active member of the Calvary Methodist church.

Surviving Mr. Collier are his widow; seven daughters, Mrs. Martin W. Thomas, of Savannah; Mrs. J. G. Moore, Mrs. T. D. Duffin, Mrs. W. H. Martin, Miss Emma Wilson Collier and Miss Dorothy Collier, and three sisters, Mrs. Clark Puckett, Mrs. M. K. Counts and Mrs. John Day.

Piles Go Quick

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt found the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. He tried it in 1,000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 96 per cent, and then decided it should be sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

JUDGE SENTENCES NORTHCOTT TO HANG MONDAY, APRIL 15

Riverside, Calif., February 11.—(AP) Gordon Stewart Northcott, convicted slayer of three boys on his Wineville chicken ranch, today was sentenced by Superior Judge George R. Freeman to hang April 15.

Your Complexion is always Lovely!

This is the story of a clear skin that comes from a strong, healthy body and the right number of rich, red-blood-cells.

Your happiness may depend upon a clear skin

BEAUTIFUL is the companionship that abounds in contentment, joy and happiness.

It is no wonder then that good health plays an important part in the affairs of people. Good health is the way to attract, hold interest, and above all inspire deeper love.

Take the skin, for example. Pimples, boils, eczema and sallow complexion are usually but symptoms of a deeper—a more dangerous trouble—a lack of the normal count of red-cells in the blood.

These outward troubles are not inviting. Neither can they be covered up. They embarrass. Steal away joy and happiness—and sometimes love.

A lovely—clear skin—is within the reach of all. To those who have lost it, hope is offered.

You, too, may have a lovely complexion, rose-petal in texture, pretty as a picture and without a single pimple.

Without plenty of rich, red-blood, there could be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or healthy beautiful women.

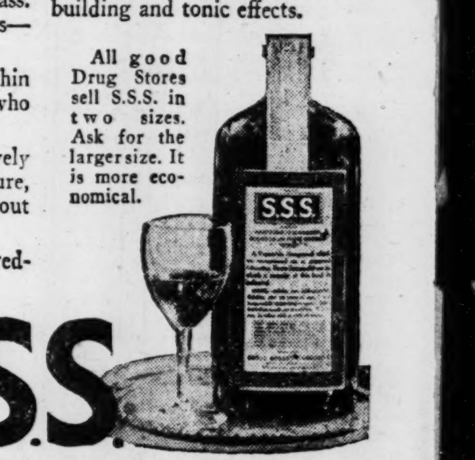
Rich, red-blood, is the means of giving you an appetite, firm flesh, strength, sound sleep, steady nerves, a smooth, clear skin.

When you take S.S.S. to get rid of these outside blemishes, you are building up the system to ward off the graver diseases of which these blemishes are Nature's warning.

Thousands of users have testified to the benefits of S.S.S. in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

Take S.S.S. at meal-time. You will be delighted with its blood building and tonic effects.

All good Drug Stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.



S.S.S. is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has a successful record of over 100 years back of it.

Boys' Plays G. M. A. and Smithies Meet Bluebirds Today

Purple Wins, 38-22; Cadets Victors, 33-10

Tech High Has Easy Time Winning From Marist, 41-20; U. S. B. Beats Decatur.

BY D. A. HALLMAN.

Boys' High, Georgia Military Academy, University School for Boys and Tech High came through their first round matches in the city prep tournament yesterday at the Atlanta Athletic club.

The scores:
Boys' High, 38; Commercial, 22.
G. M. A., 33; Fulton, 10.
U. S. B., 27; Decatur, 26.
Tech High, 41; Marist, 20.

In the second round today Boys' High will clash with G. M. A. at 3 p. m. and U. S. B. will tackle the Smithies at 4 o'clock. Both contests will be played on the A. A. C. court.

By virtue of a great showing yesterday, G. M. A. should win over the Purple, and Tech High is favored to defeat U. S. B. The winners will meet for the city title next Monday afternoon at the Athletic club.

Boys' High, G. M. A. and Tech High are three favored teams in the G. I. A. A. tournament which will be held in Atlanta under the auspices of The Atlanta Constitution in March.

The best game of the day was that between U. S. B. and Decatur. The Bluebirds got away to a slight lead and increased it from 4 to 2 at the first quarter, and 10 to 8 at the half to 23 to 12 at the end of the third period. In the final quarter the suburbanites staged a rally to creep from 25 to 14 to within one point of tying the score, tallying five points in the last minute of play.

Carpenter Is Star.

Carpenter, Bluebird forward, was the best player seen on the court in any of the four games yesterday. This elusive cager was everywhere, dribbling, passing and shooting. Carpenter scored 14 points to lead in scoring for the game. The contest was rough, Nix, U. S. B., and Cavan, Decatur going out on personals. Bothwell, Decatur forward, proved a thorn in the Bluebird's side and the late rally by the losers was due principally to Bothwell's playing.

The Smithies took the court in the final game of the day and romped through an easy victory. Chandler was high point man with 15 tallies. This was the highest score of any individual in any of the four games. Buster Mott, Tech High ace, made no attempt to run up his usual high margin, being content to pass to teammates. English, center for the Smithies, scored 13 points before he went out on fouls in the last quarter.

The first quarter found Tech High leading, 11 to 2, and the half saw the Smithies ahead, 17 to 7. The score at the end of the third period was Tech High, 28; Marist, 14.

Marist failed to threaten at any time, being unable to make even crip shots. The losers did not make any substitutions while the entire Tech High squad saw action.

Boys' High Wins.

Boys' High scored a convincing triumph over Commercial by overtaking an early lead of the Typists and increasing the margin thereafter. The Purple lead, 7 to 4, at the end of the first quarter, 19 to 6 at the half and 31 to 16 at the third quarter. Commercial scored but one field goal in the first half and four in the second. Wilson, Boys' High center, sunk five shots from floor in the first half and Stayton, Boys' High forward, equaled the feat in the second half and added a free throw to lead in scoring with 11 points. Bodne, Commercial guard, tallied 10 points on four free shots and three field goals.

The Purple did not show to as good advantage yesterday as it has in past games this season. Grant was covering the floor rapidly but was shooting and missing long ones and the entire team was passing raggedly and shooting poorly. Wilson and Brewer, for the Hurricane, and Epstein, for Commercial, were banished from the game for too many personal fouls. Sixteen fouls were called against Boys' High and seven against the Typists.

The Georgia Military Academy Cadets showed the best playing of the year in their easy victory over the small Fulton team. The Cadets led, 9 to 1, at the quarter and 21 to 1 at the half. The third quarter saw the losers get two more free shots to make the score 3 to 29.

G. M. A. Victory Easy.

The Cadets used the game as a warming-up affair for the battle to come this afternoon against Boys'. Eight players saw action and seven of them figured in the scoring column, Clark and Hackney being high in this respect with eight points each. Pund, recovering from injuries, saw action but a part of the contest. He scored six points and exhibited his usual strong defense game. Shepard, G. M. A., and Lindsey, Fulton, went out on fouls.

In the games this afternoon G. M. A. should earn the right to meet Tech High in the finals. Boys' will offer the Cadets a stiff battle but can hardly expect to humble the College Park team unless the Purple players hit their stride as a unit again. Boys' won over G. M. A. two weeks ago by two points in a double overtime game. This victory was made through the aid of Katz, no longer with Boys' High. Stayton, however, is ably filling Katz's shoes, while Bluestein, another absent Boys' player, would probably not see action anyway, due to the excellent showing of Bryan Grant.

The Cadets offer a fast offensive, with Clark and Hackney working as a unit. The passing of these two is swift and accurate. Pund, one of the best guards in the city, will probably cause Boys' forwards plenty of the grief during the tilt.

Tech Should Win.

In the second game of the afternoon Tech High will have no trouble winning from the Bluebirds unless Mott loses his eye for the basket and Carpenter hits his stride as he did yesterday. Carpenter is flashier than Mott and a better dribbler. He is more accurate on short shots and works with his team well. Mott, on the other hand, is better at long shots and knows how to take full advantage of feeding by other Smithies. When Mott is right, which he wasn't yesterday, his teammates pass the ball to him at every opportunity and Buster sinks baskets with abandon from anywhere on the court.

The Bluebirds do not have as strong as offensive as the Smithies and their defensive is weak compared to the man-to-man system employed by the present city champions. The game will probably be one of long shots, with the Smithies coming out on the long end of a large score.

If G. M. A. gets over Boys' High, the Cadets will give Tech High a taste of real excitement next Monday in the finals. Two losses to Tech High this year have not disheartened the Cadets, who have shown the best improvement in form in the city over early season playing.

Boston Braves Get Sunday Permit

Boston, February 11.—(AP)—The city council late today granted the Boston Braves a permit to play Sunday baseball in this city. Action came by voice vote with only two councilmen opposed and closed a bitter fight of almost two months' duration between the council and Braves officials.

The council's action was accompanied by attacks on Emil Fuchs and Charles F. Adams, president and vice president, respectively, of the Braves, who have been the object of criticism at every council meeting since they charged certain members with attempted extortion to obtain local ratification of Sunday sports.

VARIETY SHOW OFFERED FRIDAY AT AUDITORIUM

Pugilistic melodrama ranging from slugging to snappy boxing is expected to result from the series of matches that Promoter S. C. Roby offers at the city auditorium Friday night in his bargain show.

Five bouts have been booked and as heavyweights are involved in three of them plenty of knockouts are certain to add to the excitement.

For instance, there is small chance of the scrap between Bearcat Obie and K. O. Cornell going the full route of six rounds. Each of those scrappers weighs 235 pounds and specializes in old-fashioned slugging, rather than fancy footwork and clever boxing.

Happy Hunter, the heavyweight who never fails to please the fans, is also accorded a prominent spot on the program. He meets Hilton Wright in a six-rounder and a knockout is seen as the climax of their match.

In the other six-rounder on the Friday night card, Speedy Freeman will strive to knock Seldon Heard out of his wits. Freeman, who hails from Conyers, Ga., appeared here once before and made a hit with the fans.

The two ten-round bouts on the card are certain to produce some fine boxing. In one of the features Tiger Taylor tackles Cowboy Kid. In the other Cecil Flowers will be pitted against Roy Dunn. The latter two are regarded as the snappiest negro boxers in Atlanta and are certain to give the fans a run for their dough.

Matsuyama Loses To W. Cochran

New York, February 11.—(AP)—Kinrey Matsuyama, mighty Japanese atom, finally met defeat in the world's championship 18.2 balkline billiards tournament here tonight, losing to Welker Cochran, of Hollywood, Calif., 400 to 373 in 19 innings.

Lyn Lary Agrees on Pay, Signs With New York

Visalia, Calif., February 11.—(AP)—Lyn Lary, of Visalia, young shortstop of the Oakland Pacific Coast league club who has been sold to the New York Yankees, has settled salary differences with the champions and will join their camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., February 25.

It was understood he demanded $10,000 a year.

Bowling Record.

Sheboygan, Wis., February 11.—(AP) The A. B. C. singles bowling record was equalled today by George A. George, of Depree, Wis., who rolled 749 in the annual Wisconsin meet. The record was set by Harry E. Smyers, of Pittsburgh, in 1924.

Georgia Tech Baseball Drill Opens Today

Clay Calls Veteran Squad Into Action; Pitching Staff Proving Worry.

BY HERB CLARK.

Today is the day set aside by Coach Robert Alva Clay, known to the ball parks of the south as "Kid," for the inception of the diamond season at the Tech Flats, where the southern "Little Napoleon" holds forth with the crew of ball players who are expected to push the white and gold of Georgia Tech to the top of the conference flagpole.

In the infield, the outfield and behind the bat, Kid has worlds of good material.

The infield can be composed of entirely veteran, or near veteran men, with Warner Mizell on first, Red Terrell at second, Shorty Smith playing shortstop, and Jimmie Frink on third base. Frink is the only one of this crew who has not had enough experience to make himself immediately at home. The rest of the boys have played before, Mizell and Terrell having gone all through last season with the Jackets, and Smith is now embarking on his third and final year of campaigning. Frink is a junior, and has had his year of freshman ball together with a season on the scrubs last year to prepare him for college ranks.

Plenty of Reserves.

The reserve strength in the infield is also good, with Dunlap, Jones, Holt, Isaacs and Drennon coming up from Roy Mundorff's previous rat outfit.

With Waddey and Parham, both heavy hitters and good fielders, returning to take over their duties in the outfields, Clay's worries in the gardens are at a minimum. Hutchinson, Teeples, Dyar and possibly Jones, who wields a powerful war club, and who can snag flies with the skill of a veteran and who will make a bid for both infield and outfield posts, available for duty in the far confines of the park.

And behind the bat Clay has Captain Jimmie Stevens as his number one man, with Izzy Schulman and Ed Herron, both capable receivers, ready and waiting for the call to relief duty.

Pitching is Worry.

As stated, Clay's fretting will be confined to his hurling staff. John Jordan is the only member of the past staff who is certain, even at this late date, to be eligible for mound duty. Mundorff is sending three men, Little, Branson and Quinn, up to the varsity lot for investigation, and from this outfit, and what other candidates present themselves from the rest of the school, Kid must find enough starting and relief ball tossers to carry the Jackets through this season with some semblance of success.

Whether or not he can do this is a stiff problem, which will be taken up from its most practical side starting this afternoon.

PURDUE QUINT STILL ON TOP IN POINT RACE

Chicago, February 11.—(AP)—Despite two weeks' idleness, Purdue and its elongated center, Charles "Stretch" Murphy, still monopolize scoring honors in the Big Ten basketball campaign.

Purdue has a good margin in team scoring with 236 points in six games, while Murphy tops the field in individual scoring with 80 points.

Jimmy Strickland, Indiana forward, crept to within 11 points of Murphy's total last week, but has one game less than Murphy to play. The other leaders stack up as follows: Gist, Chicago, 53; Van Heyde, Ohio State, 51; Foster, Wisconsin, 50; Ervin, Ohio State, 49; Harmeson, Purdue, 48; Tenhopen, Wisconsin, 48; Wilcox, Iowa, 48; Truskowski, Michigan, 45, and Gleichmann, Northwestern, 45.

Michigan, leading the championship race with five victories, is easily the best defensive team. In five games, Michigan's opponents have scored only 109 points. The Wolverines also have committed the least number of personal fouls, 46. Indiana appears to be the roughest playing team in the race, as 77 personal fouls have been marked against it in seven games.

The team scoring table, showing games won and lost, field goals, free throws, total, personal fouls and opponents' total:

Nurmi Will Compete In New York A. C. Games

New York, February 11.—(United News.)—Paavo Nurmi's next start in the metropolitan district will be in the two-mile race in the New York A. C. games at Madison Square Garden a week from tonight.

It was at this same race four years ago that Nurmi set the present world's record of 8:58 1-5 for two miles, considered by many track experts as the best record on the books.

Nurmi has declined an invitation to compete in a special race in connection with the metropolitan championship Saturday night, giving as his reason his desire to lower his own two-mile record Monday night.

Brooklyn, February 11.—(United News.)—John Van Ryn, of East Orange, N. J., ranked No. 5 in the national men's singles for 1928, defeated Francis T. Hunter, of New Rochelle, N. Y., ranked No. 2, in the semi-finals of the Heights casino indoor tournament here today, 2-6, 7-5, 7-5.

Hughes Leads Emory Golfers in Qualifying

Julius Hughes, sensational Atlanta junior golfer and a freshman at Emory university, led the qualifiers in the annual winter tournament of the school yesterday. Hughes was followed closely by Gordon, last year's champion, Robinson, Ford and Crawford.

Either eight or 16 men will be picked from players who tried yesterday and will play a tournament of match play. The four men who survive to semi-final round will compose the Emory golf team which will compete in the intercollegiate matches in the spring. The winner will be rewarded with a silver statuette of a golfer.

The round yesterday was played over the hilly Druid Hills course under most unfavorable conditions. The cold wind and soggy turf served to run up the scores which, however, were not unreasonably high considering the conditions.

S. M. U. Coach Declines Virginia Grid Offer

Dallas, Texas, February 11.—(AP)—Ray Morrison, football coach at Southern Methodist university here, has declined an offer of a similar position at the University of Virginia, he announced today.

The first intimation that Virginia was negotiating with Morrison was given in a Baltimore dispatch some time ago.

Morrison is under contract to S. M. U. until September 1, 1930. S. M. U. was elated over Morrison's decision.

Firpo Bobs Up In Ring World; Faces Big Bill

"Wild Bull of Pampas" Proves Very Colorful and Draws Much Interest.

Shortly before Rickard's death he discussed with Bulger plans for publication of these memoirs in book form. One of the most picturesque figures to loom up in boxing for many years was Luis Firpo, the Argentinian. There was much discussion and a big division of opinion whether he was a real fighter with championship possibilities, or merely a spectacular flash in the pan.

Nature gave Firpo the build and constitution of a giant. I don't think there was any doubt about Firpo being level-headed. There certainly can be no question that he was game.

Damon Runyon, the sports writer, dubbed this giant South American "The Wild Bull of the Pampas." As a matter of fact, Firpo is a city-raised fellow, and I doubt if he knows much about the Pampas. Just the same, it was a wonderful name. It added all the more to the picturesqueness of the big fellow. It helped to make him a drawing card.

Attracts Attention.

Firpo, by the way, was a good illustration of the fighter who always attracts attention whether he be a really great fighter or not. Long before the big fellow had developed enough ability to compel a fight with the champion the public was growing more and more anxious to see him. Anyone reading the newspapers and listening to the comment of boxing fans could sense that. The international flavor was always a big factor in his drawing ability.

From the promoter's point of view, Firpo was the richest-looking prospect in the field at the time. I was determined to invest in him for big profits sooner or later. The time arrived sooner than I expected.

There has been much said and written about the "build-up" for Firpo—that is, the gradual talking up of a fight to get the public interested. There was nothing particularly brilliant or skilful in building up interest in the big South American. He built up himself by his ability to attract attention.

Must Earn Reputation.

Incidentally, I have never known anybody to have a reputation without having done something to earn it. A man may live long on an established reputation, but he must have done something to get that reputation in the beginning. The thousands of men who have tried all their lives to get a reputation only to meet with failure can appreciate this.

When we first heard the rumbles of the giant Argentinian we thought it just another one of those things, as they say in boxing vernacular. But the rumbles persisted. When the giant finally showed up, everybody was talking about him. Some attempted to treat it as a josh. Just the same, the fans wanted to see him.

To feel the situation out, we put Firpo through preliminaries. As usual, these wound up eventually in a bout with Bill Brennan, famous trial horse. I wonder if boxing fans ever stopped to think how valuable to the game is a man like Brennan. Just short of a champion himself, Brennan was right to put the stamp on somebody else. Any man who could beat Bill Brennan was pretty good.

Fight Is Arranged.

We arranged a fight between Firpo and Brennan at Madison Square Garden March 12. That opened the eyes of the doubters. The betting was 3 to 1 against Firpo, and I have heard Brennan himself bet $1,500. The Argentinian got quite a razz at the start that night, but when the fight was over thousands went away predicting that he would be the next contender for Dempsey's crown.

In the fourth round Brennan landed a vicious right on Firpo, and then butted him over the eye. That bothered the big fellow and he was a pitiful sight starting the fifth round. This happening had aroused a slumbering giant, as Brennan was soon to know. "The Wild Bull of the Pampas" began to roar. Still, Brennan, the skilful old war horse, looked like a winner up to the twelfth round. Then something happened.

Firpo rushed from his corner and fairly smothered Bill with an attack. Brennan could hardly get his arms up to ward off the assault. Finally Firpo landed a right on his jaw. As Brennan ducked Firpo cracked him behind the ear with the rabbit punch, knocking him cold. Oddly enough, this was exactly the same punch, delivered in the same round, that Dempsey had used to knock out Brennan.

Firpo was now a drawing card. How big a figure he became in the fight world every fan knows.

HAWK-EYE-ING SPORTS
by DICK HAWKINS

Baseball Time at Tech.

ROBERT ALVA CLAY, oftimes known as "Kid," will start a campaign at Georgia Tech this afternoon which will be most interesting to watch. The 1929 baseball frivolities will have their first rehearsal in an effort to add one more conference championship to the list at Georgia Tech.

The bare fact that Tech might win another championship is not so important in this question as one other factor that enters into the equation. This factor is more abstract than concrete but is the subject of much argument and therefore deserves a certain amount of attention.

THE sporting psychologists who like to look underneath the surface for a motivating agency will tell you that athletic prowess among schools or other organizations runs in cycles and that right now Tech is in the center of the cycle. To put it another way, Tech has been on the upgrade in athletics for the past two years and this scholastic year should produce champions or near-champions in all lines of sport.

They will point to the national championship football team, the international renown of Ed Hamm. They will point to the Tech basketball team now at the top of the conference list and a fairly good bet in the conference tournament. They will tell you that Tech's baseball team this year should and probably will keep up the cycle of events and win a title.

ALL this may be the bunk and it may not. Certainly, it is true that a glance back through southern conference athletics shows certain schools at the top and others at the bottom periodically. One has to but turn back a few years and find the names of Auburn, Georgia, Alabama and Vanderbilt riding the crest.

Being of a rather practical frame of mind we choose to look over the roster of material and then talk about the "cycle of sports." It is true that both methods bring about the same conclusion in this particular argument.

THERE are two or three weaknesses in the Clay lineup this season but nobody knows what may develop between now and the time of the first conference game. At third base there is a gap where Ed Crowley left and in right field McCash will be missed. On the mound there is a large question mark.

Florrid and Jourdan will be back to take their share of the burden but the rest of the staff has yet to prove its worth. The Kid is not particularly worried about the mound talent and he is the man who should do the worrying if any is necessary.

HITTING power should be there as usual. In Parham and Waddy he has a couple of sluggers he can depend upon. The handsome Robert Parham is what some folks call a "money ball player." Not that Robert is professional in any sense of the word but he does his best work under pressure. In the first inning with little at stake he may whiff but in the last inning with the score tied and a man on base he is more likely to lift the pill out of the county than not. He is going to make some league a good find if he chooses to play pro ball.

Shorty Smith is a good leadoff man while Warner Mizell at first base is not only a valuable fielder but this year should develop into a great hitter. He is a sure-fire slugger though not as long as Parham and Waddy. Stephens is a crackerjack catcher and a good fair hitter while Tom Jones, who may play the other garden position, has promise of hitting ability which may develop this year or may not.

ALL this analysis may not mean much. But the attitude of Coach Robert Alva Clay means much. The Kid refuses to be worried about the pitching staff or any other position for that matter and the Kid may be a lot of things but he is no empty optimist.

Baseball's Big Parade Will Start This Week

Many of Major League Teams Leave for Training Camps Before Sunday—Squads Are Cut.

BY ALAN J. GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

New York, February 11.—(AP)—Baseball's big parade is all ready to take up the march to the south as well as to a few outposts in the far west.

By the end of this week, most of the 16 major league squads, or at least their advance guards, will be on the way to the training camps scattered from St. Augustine to Catalina island. By the end of this month or not later than the first week of March the battle between regulars and rookies will be on in full blast.

Smaller squads, with a marked increase in college talent ambitious for big league action, feature most of the big league rosters. Shakeups in the organization or personnel of a number of clubs, notably the Detroit Tigers, Washington Senators, St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago Cubs, will cause unusual attention to be directed toward the workouts of these outfits.

Lines Strengthened.

All alone the line, in the American league, they are strengthening to give battle to the world's champion Yankees, whose advance guard does not leave for the St. Petersburg camp for another ten days. In the National league there is every prospect of another hot fight for the pennant.

Most of the clubs are traveling light, so far as the quantity of extra talent is concerned, the spring squads appear reduced to a point where only the likeliest rookies are having their expenses paid for tryouts.

The Athletics and Cardinals, according to their rosters, will each have less than 30 players in camp so that neither will have any trouble getting down to the limit of 25 by June 15.

Sizes of Squads.

Here are the sizes of the squads to the marshalled in the camp, according to the club rosters:

American league—Athletics, 27; Chicago, 31; Washington, 32; New York, 34; Boston and Cleveland, 35 each; St. Louis 36, and Detroit 37.

National league—St. Louis, 26; Brooklyn, 30; Chicago, 31; Philadelphia, 34; New York and Boston, 37 each; Pittsburgh, 38, and Cincinnati 39.

The pathfinders for the giants start the jaunt to San Antonio tomorrow, led by Secretary Jim Tierney. The players departing will include Warren Ogden and Floyd Johnson, pitchers, and Jack Cummings, catcher, whose signed contract was received today. At St. Louis the party will be joined by Joe Genewich, Larry Benton and Bill Walker, pitchers; as well as Ray Schalk, assistant manager and catcher, and Joe Witry, another backstop

First Workout.

The first workout for batterymen at San Antonio is slated for February 15 and the roll call for the regulars is scheduled for March 1.

According to Tierney, only three players remained to be signed for 1929—Garland Buckeye, giant southpaw; Jimmy Welsh and Fred Leach, outfielders.

Wilcy Moore, minus his tonsils, is ready for a big comeback on the mound for the Yankees this year. Just what effect the throat operation will have upon his effectiveness remains to be seen but the Oklahoma right-hander today notified Secretary Ed Barrow it had been performed and that he was on the way to Hot Springs, Ark., for workouts preliminary to joining the champions in Florida February 25, the date on which the Yankee assembly will be sounded.

Olivares To Wed Cuban Girl Feb. 21

Havana, February 11.—(AP)—Joe Olivares, Cuban shortstop of the Louisville Colonels of the American Baseball association, will be married February 21 to Senorita Celia Jiminez, member of an old Cuban family and resident of Havana. Olivares formerly played in the Southern association.

Race Track Hearing Is Set for Friday

St. Petersburg, Fla., February 11. (AP)—Hearing in the application of J. G. Rines, Baptist church deacon, for an injunction to close the track of the St. Petersburg Kennel club on grounds that gambling has been conducted openly, was reset by Circuit Court Judge T. Frank Hobson this morning for next Friday.

Action by the court was taken after track attorneys objected that the legal three-day notice, required in such actions, had not been taken. The court was inclined to agree with the track lawyers and counsel for the applicant agreed to reset the case for Friday.

Delaney To Retire.

Bridgeport, Conn., February 11.—(United News.)—"Four or five more fights and then I'm through with the fight game for good," Jack Delaney told his brother, Arside Chapdelaine, before he left for his training camp at Lake Winnepesaukee, N. H., recently.

Strib Is Idle As Rain Halts Sharkey Drill

Roof Put Over Training Quarters So Future Showers Will Not Interrupt.

Miami Beach, Fla., February 11.—(AP)—A tropical shower broke into Jack Sharkey's training schedule this afternoon, forcing him to postpone his workout. The Boston sailor had to content himself with a session of road work under a hot sun this morning.

Meanwhile, "Young" Stribling, who meets the former gob in Flamingo Park arena on the night of February 27, was idle, except for three miles of road work. He plans to go into the Everglades tomorrow to do some fishing, returning to throw himself into intensive training.

To prevent his future sessions with his sparring partners from being interrupted by showers, Sharkey witnessed the open air training quarters at the Kennel club gain a roof. A large force of carpenters busily put the top in place.

There was talk of other Florida cities seeking future bouts. Jim Downing conferred with Jack Dempsey today and related that Tampa business men had offered to underwrite another big contest for $500,000.

"Pa" Stribling, representing his son; Johnny Buckley, for Jack Sharkey, and Dempsey, promoter of the bout, will confer Wednesday on the selection of a referee for the contest.

Sharkey's road work today was completed in company with Andy Callahan, Boston junior welterweight, who has arrived to help the sailor speed up his footwork. Al Lacey, his trainer, said the roadwork will be increased until Sharkey hits the 10-mile mark each morning.

The contractors engaged in putting up the seats at the arena told Dempsey today that 43,000 seats would be ready tomorrow.

Dempsey said today that there would be plenty of preliminary contests to amuse the early crowd on the night of the contest. He declared the preliminaries would consist of eight or nine bouts, ranging from four to eight rounds. The semi-windup has been scheduled between Johnny Grosso and Marty Gallasher, he said, and Baby Stribling and Andy Callahan have been matched. The opening number will be a battle royal.

J.P.C. Wins Game From Piedmont

Monk Dorfan's boys coasted to another victory on their own court last night, the quintet from Piedmont college being the victims of the occasion. The final court gave the J. P. C. a 49-28 advantage.

The J's led from the starting whistle in a game which went further to prove that the clubbers have a good team but which did not show any features of real interest to the spectators.

The clubbers maintained their score at double that of the Piedmonters throughout the first half with but one short intermission, and the end of the period found them leading by a 32-12 margin.

In the second frame, the collegians started out to make things interesting, but their spurt was neither extended nor effective. They did score 16 points to 17 for the J's, but this was due mainly to a spirit of inactivity which pervaded the club camp. The boys wisely figuring that, if they could win without expending any excessive effort, to rush around would be foolhardy.

In the preliminary contest, the Horse Guard five went down before the Reds by a 35-24 count. Katz was best for the Reds, while Endicott shone for the Horse Guards.

Why Fat Returns

when folks stop starving

One may reduce by starving, but the fat returns when one stops. The reason is this: Most people who are over-fat have an under-active thyroid. That is the gland which largely controls nutrition. Until this deficiency is corrected, much food goes to fat. Modern physicians, in treating obesity, aim at this condition. They use to correct it the chief factor used in Marmola.

Marmola prescription tablets are made by a famous medical laboratory. The formula appears in every box, also the reason for results. Users know what they are taking and why.

When science discovered this method and proved it, the main factors were embodied in Marmola. That was over 20 years ago. Since then, people who were over-fat have used millions of boxes. Users told others the results—the loss in weight, the gain in health and vigor. Thus the use has grown to enormous proportions.

That is one great reason why excess fat is nowhere near as common as it was. Slender figures are the vogue.

Beauty, health and vitality demand that excess fat be banished. To lose 20 pounds means to drop ten years. Try it in this easy, pleasant way.

No abnormal exercise or diet is required. Go get Marmola. Watch results for a little while and you will be delighted. Don't delay.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

The Pleasant Way to Reduce

"Amazing—so many women must learn this from others"

—writes a Washington hostess

The embarrassment of this grave social offense is finally ended. This scientific sanitary pad is now treated by patented* process to end all offense.

WHERE smart women gather socially—or in business—even the most attractive are guilty of offending others at certain times. Yet they, themselves, seldom realize it. When told, they become miserably self conscious. They try in vain to overcome the difficulty by make-shift methods. Now science offers safe and certain relief from this fear.

*Kotex now scientifically deodorizes

Millions of women have learned to depend on Kotex within the last ten years. It has brought them better health, greater peace of mind under trying conditions. Now comes an added advantage. Kotex chemists have discovered (and patented) a process that absolutely ends all odors. After several years of research, the one remaining problem in connection with sanitary pads is solved!

No more bulky outlines

That awful feeling of being conspicuous because of the bulkiness of old-time methods is gone, too. Kotex pads are rounded and tapered so there is no evidence of sanitary protection when worn. You may add or remove layers of filler, as needed—a thing all women appreciate. There is a new softness, because both filler and gauze have been specially treated. Finally, Kotex is so easy to dispose of, eliminating all need of laundering.

Buy a box today, at any drug, dry goods or department store . . 45c for a box of twelve. Supplied, also, in rest room vending cabinets.

Deodorizes . . . and 4 other important features:

1—Softer gauze ends chafing; pliable filler absorbs as no other substance can;
2—Corners are rounded and tapered; no evidence of sanitary protection under any gown;
3—Deodorizes—safely, thoroughly, by a new and exclusive patented process;
4—Adjust it to your needs; filler may be made thinner, thicker, narrower as required;

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

DANNY AND NANNY DECIDE TO MOVE.

BY Thornton W. Burgess.

Dissatisfaction leads to change
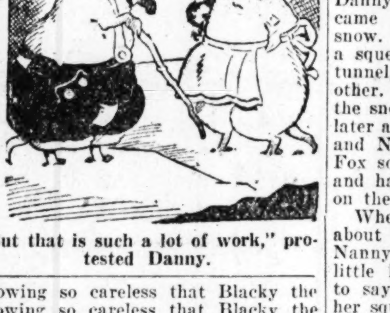
—Old Mother Nature.

Nanny Meadow Mouse was no longer satisfied with the home she and Danny had under the snow. She had been satisfied with it. Yes, indeed, she had been entirely satisfied with it until Danny became heedless and gave their secret away. He gave their secret away by climbing up to the surface of the snow too often and growing so careless that Blacky the Crow caught him by the end of his tail and when he escaped from him, Roughleg the Hawk very nearly caught him. Also, Reddy Fox had discovered where to dig for him.



"But that is such a lot of work," protested Danny.

"It's your fault, Danny Meadow Mouse," declared Nanny, and her squeaky little voice was very cross, indeed. "Had you listened to me we could have gone right on living here with nothing in the world to worry us. Everything was perfect. None of our enemies knew where we were and there was no way for them to find out. But now they know. Reddy and Mrs. Fox will be digging down all around here. I'm tired of being frightened. The thing for us to do is to move."

"But that is such a lot of work," protested Danny. "It means we'll have to dig a tunnel to wherever we want to go."

"Isn't it better to do a little work than to satisfy somebody's appetite?" demanded Nanny.

Danny had to admit that it was. "Still, I think you are foolishly scared," protested Danny. "I think you are making matters a lot worse than they are. What if Blacky the Crow and Roughleg the Hawk and Reddy Fox and Mrs. Reddy Fox do know that we are living down here, as long as we don't go up to the surface, how can they get us? And I promise you, Nanny, that I'll stay down here as long as the snow lasts."

"Pooh!" exclaimed Nanny. "You would remember that until about the time you get real hungry for certain seeds. Then you'd forget all about it. You would go climbing up to the surface to get those seeds from the weed tops."

"No, I wouldn't, Nanny," protested Danny, "but really I don't see any sense in moving. We are perfectly comfortable here. Nobody is going to disturb us."

The words were hardly out of Danny's mouth when two black paws came plunging down through the snow. They just missed Danny. With a squeak of fright he fled along one tunnel, while Nanny fled along another. Those two black paws threw the snow out very fast and a moment later a nose sniffed right where Danny and Nanny had been sitting. Reddy Fox somehow heard them down there and had dug down through the snow on the chance of getting them.

When Reddy had finally gone on about other business, Danny and Nanny met at the entrance to their little home. "Well, what have you to say now?" demanded Nanny, and her squeaky voice was very sharp, indeed.

"Only this," replied Danny, very meekly. "That, as usual, you are right, my dear. As usual, you are right. We'll move. And the sooner we move, the better. The question is, where shall we move to?"

"I don't care, so long as we get away from here," replied Nanny, nervously. "Anywhere is better than this."

"I know where we'll go," replied Danny. "You follow me." He started off at once along one of their little tunnels. When he came to the end of it he began to dig. Nanny was right at his heels.

MOTHER GAVE IT FOR COLDS, BILIOUSNESS

Thedford's Black-Draught Praised by an Arkansas Lady Who Has Taken It as a Child and Grown Woman.

North Little Rock, Ark.—Writing of her experience in the use of Thedford's Black-Draught in her home, Mrs. Maud Spells, 312 East Second Street, this city, says:

"My mother gave me Black-Draught when I was a child, for colds and biliousness, and it always seemed to help me.

"After I grew up, I used to have severe headaches. The aching was right through my temple. Every morning, when I would get up, I would have a bad taste in my mouth.

"I was reading one day about Black-Draught, and decided to take it again. I found that it was just what I needed. It seems to cleanse the system and relieve me of the headache, so now, when I feel the least bit bad, I take Black-Draught and keep these headaches away."

Manufacture of Thedford's Black-Draught began in 1840, and many people tell of having taken it all their lives when in need of a laxative or cathartic medicine.

When you take Black-Draught, the digestive organs are helped in a healthful, natural way, and normal elimination is restored without the sickening effects that characterize the use of powerful mineral drugs.

Stubborn Cough Quickly Ended by Famous Recipe

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that usually follow the "flu."

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded —(adv.)

Now You Can Reduce 2 to 4 Lbs. In a Night

Eat what you please
Wear what you please
Do what you please
Take no risky medicine

Thousands of smart women have found this easy way to take off 2 to 4 pounds once or twice a week. These women take refreshing Fayro baths in the privacy of their own homes.

Fayro is the concentrate of the same natural mineral salts that make effective the waters of twenty-two hot springs of America, England and Continental Europe. For years the spas and hot springs bathing resorts have been the retreat of fair women and well-groomed men.

Excess weight has been removed, skins have been made more lovely, bodies more shapely and minds brighter.

The Hot Springs Are Now Brought to You

A study of the analyses of the active ingredients of the water from twenty-two of the most famous springs have taught us the secret of their effectiveness. You can now have all these benefits in your own bath. Merely put Fayro into your hot bath. It dissolves rapidly. You will notice and enjoy the pungent fragrance of its balsam oils and clean salts!

Then, Fayro, by opening your pores and stimulating perspiration forces lazy body cells to sweat out surplus fat and bodily poisons. Add Fayro to your bath at night and immediately you will lose from 2 to 4 pounds in an easy, refreshing and absolutely harmless manner.

Your physician will tell you that Fayro is certain to do the work and that it is absolutely harmless.

Fayro will refresh you and help your body throw off worn-out fat and bodily poisons. Your skin will be clearer and smoother. You will sleep better after your Fayro bath and awaken feeling as though you had enjoyed a week's vacation.

Lose Weight Where You Most Want To

Fayro reduces weight generally, but you can also concentrate its effects on abdomen, hips, legs, ankles, chin or any part of the body you may wish.

Results Are Immediate

Weigh yourself before and after your Fayro bath. You will find you have lost from 2 to 4 pounds. And a few nights later when you again add Fayro to your bath, you will once more reduce your weight. Soon you will be the correct weight for your height. No need to deny yourself food you really want. No need for violent exercise. No need for drugs or medicines. Merely a refreshing Fayro bath in the privacy of your own home.

Try Fayro at Our Risk

HERE'S PROOF

For obvious reasons, names are not quoted, but every letter published has been authorized and names and addresses will be given on request.

If each healthful bath of Fayro does not reduce your weight from 2 to 4 pounds, we will refund your money without a question. You risk nothing.

OKLAHOMA HOUSE WINS EARLY JOHNSON BOUT

Body Plunges Into Impeachment Case Without Ceremony.

Oklahoma City, Okla., February 11. (AP)—Plunging without ceremony into its major contention—that Henry S. Johnston is not competent to remain as governor of Oklahoma—the house of representatives board of managers today won three legal skirmishes in its prosecution of Johnston before the senate impeachment court.

Johnston's trial on eleven articles of impeachment preferred by the house opened this morning before the senate court. By consent, the board of managers began presentation of evidence on all charges with that of incompetence uppermost. The charges will be voted upon separately when all evidence has been taken.

Without avail, counsel for the suspended governor objected on three occasions to the trend of questioning on grounds that it was immaterial to the charge. Charles W. Mason, chief justice of the supreme court, who is presiding over the trial, overruled the first objection and the senate voted down two others in succeeding roll calls.

Pardon Draws Fire.

Testimony centered about the pardoning last December of R. D. Crossthwaite, convicted murderer and fugitive from justice. Johnston's attorneys objected to testimony relating to Crossthwaite's slaying of Thelma Lovejoy, young Oklahoma City school teacher, in 1918, and stories of her brother's and father's protests after they had learned the pardon, on the ground that it was not pertinent to the charge and was prejudicial.

Testimony along that line was abandoned after Thomas W. Owen, of the governor's counsel, said he would admit any of the prosecution contentions as to the pardon except that it was corruptly and unlawfully issued. Owen said that H. E. Sullivan, private secretary to Johnston, had misled the governor in the case.

John Head, member of the house board of managers, said it was the prosecutor's purpose to show that Johnston was "completely under the domination" of James R. Armstrong, uncle of Mrs. O. O. Hammonds, who as confidential secretary to Johnston was charged to have wielded a compelling influence over him.

Atlanta Woman's Club Picks Committee on Nominations

An address by Dr. Sam W. Small and the election of a nominating committee to select officers for the coming year featured the regular meeting of the Atlanta Woman's club Monday afternoon.

Mrs. John R. Hornady, president of the club, presided over the meeting and introduced the speaker of the occasion.

The following members were elected on the nominating committee: Mrs. Bun Wylie, Mrs. John A. Perdue, Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, Mrs. W. F. Trenary, Mrs. W. A. Robertson.

Dr. Small in making an address on "Georgia Day" discussed important events in Georgia's history and the outstanding achievements of the state's sons and daughters. He referred to February 12 being the 196th anniversary of the founding of the colony of Georgia by Oglethorpe, at Savannah, and called attention to the fact that there were only four more years before the state would celebrate its bicentennial, the 200th anniversary of the founding of the commonwealth.

The speaker spoke of the fact that the constitution of Georgia was made 50 years ago, and stated that though the state had progressed rapidly in other lines, it had not in political lines. He spoke of the necessity of revising the state's tax system—the property owners, home owners and farmers paying taxes, etc. He urged the women to go to the polls and vote and reminded them of their responsibility as American citizens.

The following new officers of the club were installed: Mrs. Irving S. Thomas, first vice president; Mrs. M. L. Thrower, second vice president; Mrs. J. P. Billups, recording secretary; Mrs. Odis Poundstone, assistant recording secretary; Mrs. A. H. Hazzard, treasurer; Mrs. E. B. Havis, assistant treasurer; Mrs. W. P. Dunn, corresponding secretary; Mrs. D. F. Stevenson, auditor; Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, parliamentarian.

The membership chairman, Mrs. James T. Williams, reported 16 applications for membership to the club. The following departmental chairmen made reports: Mrs. Ira Farmer, American citizenship; Mrs. Earl Scott, fine arts; Mrs. J. M. Manry, American home; Mrs. L. D. T. Quinby, public welfare; Mrs. E. B. Havis, junior membership; Mrs. Newton Wing, motion pictures.

A beautiful musical program was enjoyed. Miss Marguerite Cooper, talented violinist, rendered a group of numbers from Georgia composers, one being her own composition. Mrs. D. C. Adams was heard in a group of songs and was accompanied by Miss Dorothy Waldman at the piano.

Mrs. Hornady, president, spoke of tentative plans for the Friday afternoon teas at the club and announced a George Washington birthday tea for February 22. Mrs. Hornady also exhibited a beautiful gavel, which was the gift of Mrs. E. V. Carter, federation chairman for the club.

Mrs. John A. Perdue was in charge of the attractive patriotic decorations and Mrs. Fred Rice furnished flowers.

Best for Children's Colds

Just rub it on . . .

This modern external treatment is best for children's colds because it brings relief without "dosing." Every mother knows that too much "dosing" is so likely to upset children's delicate stomachs.

Vicks is just rubbed on, so of course it cannot disturb the digestion. Its healing vapors, released by the warmth of the body, are inhaled direct to the inflamed air-passages. At the same time, Vicks "draws out" the tightness and soreness like an old-fashioned poultice.

TOUCH

BY ARTHUR B. REEVE.

"Find your husband, Mary? I wouldn't know where to look."

"I know that, Walter. But I thought you might get Mr. Kennedy interested. I need help desperately."

"So, 'Fat' Barr deserted you—ran away with another woman. I'm so sorry to hear that. But why have you waited ten years, Mary? He might be dead and buried by this time."

Mary Barr shook her head, did not answer immediately. Over by the laboratory window, she was glancing anxiously at the door, now and then, for Kennedy.

I noticed now the lines that time and many troubles had drawn on her face.

Kennedy swung breezily into the room. I saw Mary Barr brace up. I knew she was calling on all her reserve force, smothering pride, to meet this ordeal of baring her troubles to a stranger.

Craig stopped suddenly as he caught sight of his visitor. It was only a moment, and the formality of introduction was over.

A minute and I was starting to tell him as much of Mary's story as I knew. For I remembered her romance well. As a very young girl she had come to the Star, had been there when I joined the staff of reporters. Mary Baker, as she then was, had been one of the best operators in the telegraph room. During her time the favorable rating of other telegraphers in the wire room depended on their comparison with Mary Baker.

I recalled there had been some disappointment on the part of the staff of the Star of those days when Mary announced her forthcoming marriage to Jim Barr. Somehow we felt that, with her personality, Mary should have picked a richer plum off the matrimonial tree. He was a telegrapher, too, and a mighty good one, an expert, and it was he who used to be called on to send the world series, the big football games—in fact, on any occasion where speed and accuracy and a pile of work demanded the topnotcher. Everybody knew him as "Fat" Barr and liked him.

I was in the midst of telling Craig about Mary Barr when he raised his hand. "If you don't mind, Walter, I would rather have Mrs. Barr tell her own story."

I nodded. Mary Barr fumbled with her bag for a moment, silent, as if considering, just where to begin and what to tell. Then she looked up directly, frankly into Craig's eyes.

"Mr. Kennedy, if it weren't for my boy, my poor little crippled son, I wouldn't be here. 'Fat' Barr would never be disturbed for myself alone. But Buster Barr needs a father just now, if ever any boy did."

Kennedy nodded gravely. This was a case of mother need. My hopes ran high for his acceptance of Mary's case.

"It was a matter of a sudden bit of good fortune—and another woman," went on Mary, tremulously. "Jim and I always lived in a nice apartment, simple but in a good neighborhood. On the floor below us lived a couple by the name of Rice. They had no children and Frank Rice was a traveling man. You know what that meant. There was little work to do in that apartment below me. All Fanny Rice had to do was dress and make herself look pretty.

"I had a baby boy to take care of, the apartment, and meals to prepare for a man who believed in eating. I couldn't help knowing my neighbors. You don't need any introduction when there is a baby around. They speak to the baby and to you. That's how I met Fanny Rice.

"I was pleased over her interest in Buster. I didn't think about having a good-looking husband. Jim wasn't too heavy to be attractive, and he was jolly. Before I knew it Fanny Rice was up in my apartment a good deal of the time. And she didn't leave when Jim came home. Often that meant asking her to stay to dinner. I got tired of it, but Jim enjoyed her jokes and liveliness.

"It was easy for Fanny. Jim started to stay out late nights, and then somehow Fanny's calls became less frequent. Just about this time an uncle of Jim's died and left him about fifteen thousand dollars. Then Fanny stopped calling on me and changed her tactics and went out to places with Jim openly. It was like a defiance to the world. That went on for a couple of weeks. Then they both disappeared, left New York.

"She went away a few days before Jim. But neither Frank Rice nor I have seen them since. That is, until about a month ago. I met Frank Rice. He told me he was sure they were in Texas, that he had heard of a fellow, through a friend, in some little jerkwater Texas town, known as Baiting Hollow. Fat was always talking about Texas. Got it from the movies, I guess. I thought that would be the place they'd travel to on account of Jim always wanting a ranch down there. It seems I was right."

"Where's this Frank Rice, now?" asked Kennedy.

"In New York, when he isn't on the road. He never tried to get a divorce—held off for spite. That wasn't my reason. I was thinking of my boy. If anything should happen to me before he grew up, the boy would have more chance if Jim had no other legal wife living."

"You didn't try to locate Jim Barr when he first left you?" inquired Craig.

"No. I couldn't hunt him. I had to hunt work. The actual matter of living took most of my attention in those days—bread and butter, and a roof over my head and Buster's."

Mary Barr leaned back a moment as if trying to gain strength to tell the rest, then began again. "Now I have come to my worst sorrow, Mr. Kennedy. It is over my boy. I can sink all my pride, all my self-respect, anything, if I can do him any good . . . A month ago he was as well as a boy could be, an active boy, intelligent.

"We just lived for each other. Of course Buster asked me where his father was, why he did not live with us. I told him the truth. Instinctively the little fellow resented his father's actions and, if that were possible, gave me more of his childish affection. Buster and I were pals.

"Then this accident occurred. Buster was out playing with some other children. An automobile, a reckless driver—that tells the story. They got him. No money. A jail sentence. But Buster hasn't walked since. There's something wrong with his spine. Another operation is necessary, one that can be performed only by the most skillful surgeons. His recovery from it is not assured, but there are hopes if he has it done that possibly in a year or so he'll be able to walk.

"Even after the operation it means that the child must be flat on his back for months. Buster is willing to do anything—the bravest little spirit in the bravest little body I ever knew." Tears were trickling down Mary's face, unashamed tears, over her boy's suffering. "But Buster has my hopefulness. It is the only thing that keeps us both going, just now. Mr. Kennedy, don't you think that boy's father should be made to help?"

"I do." Craig was emphatic. "And I'll help you find him. If you write, or if you start inquiries down in Texas through strangers, he may find out, pull up, and leave. Then you'd be no better off—worse, with the useless expense. You seem to feel that from Frank Rice you have a genuine clue?"

"Yes, I do. Frank is convinced. But he does not care."

"Could you go down to Texas with Walter and me?" asked Craig, with a slight hesitation.

"Why, yes. I could leave Buster in the hospital. I have money enough for that and to see me through the Texas trip. After that, though, I'm broke. I've had to spend so much of my savings on Buster since the accident."

Kennedy nodded, appreciating Mary's financial frankness, and I rather admired her for it.

'The Doctor's Dilemma' Scores Again at Erlanger

George Bernard Shaw's sparkling bit of satire at the expense of the medical profession, "The Doctor's Dilemma," again drew a sizable audience to the Erlanger theater Monday, the play having been presented for the first time here last Saturday.

The play is a thing of bubbling delight, of subtle comedy and poignant drama, and the Theater Guld Repertory company presented it in such a way as to heighten its every delicious effect.

Brandon Evans' interpretation of taciturn old Sir Patrick Cullen was a rare treat, and Edwin Maxwell's treatment of the part of bluff Sir Ralph Bloomfield-Bonnington was a revelation to Atlanta theatergoers. Thoroughly acceptable in their respective roles were Alan Mowbray as Louis Dudedat; Elizabeth Risdon as Jennifer Duedad, and Warburton Gamble as Sir Colenso Ridgeon. The various minor parts also were filled acceptably, and the cast and the play were perfectly mated.

While there were no uproarious applause, the audience spared no pains to display its thorough appreciation for the subtlety of Shaw's famous work and the artistry of the performers. After all, the deep-throated chuckle of intensely keen amusement should, and probably does, mean more to the heart of the true artist of the theater than the roar of the gallery god. In plentiful coin of the former sort were the Theater Guild players repaid for their work Monday night.

The company will remain at the Erlanger throughout the present week in several favorite vehicles. It might not be amiss to call the attention of doctors—particularly specialists—to the fact that "The Doctor's Dilemma" again will be offered Wednesday night.

CAPITOL OFFERS FINE VAUDEVILLE AND GOOD PICTURE

In both vaudeville and pictures programs Loew's Capitol scores with a great show which opened Monday. The vaudeville bill is headed by the ludicrous burlesque act of Charles Ahearn, veteran comedian and his Millionaire band, while the picture is "The Bellamy Trial," which has been characterized as the greatest "courtroom drama" ever screened.

Charles Ahearn has paid Atlanta many visits and it seems that his act gets funnier and funnier every year. Certainly it makes you laugh until your sides literally ache. Miss Trinx Jackson, Atlanta girl, who began her stage career after she had won a dance contest staged under auspices of The Constitution, is with the act and offers three pretty dances.

Another good comedy turn is that of Murray Gordon and Jimmy Walker, entitled "Go Ahead and Shoot." This is a song and dance offering and both the singing and dancing are unusually good.

Freshmen and Co-eds is the name of one of the offerings which pleased. Three men and three women are in the turn and they offer all kinds of dancing with a couple of pretty song hits.

John R. Walsh is a singer who selects songs of a popular nature. He has a rich baritone voice and uses it to advantage. Valdo Gordon plays the accompaniment on the piano.

The opening act is presented by Julius Feurst, "The Man on the Blocks." He does some marvelous balancing.

"The Bellamy Trial" is a genuine hit and it is a good tip to advise all who enjoy real mystery stories cleverly handled to be sure and see this talking picture. Leatrice Joy and Betty Bronson are in leading parts while Kenneth Thomson, late of the Wagner Players at the Erlanger theater, does excellent work as "Stephen Bellamy," one of the leading roles.

COMEDY, MELODY AND BEAUTY FOUND IN CARD AT KEITH'S

Comedy, melody, feminine pulchritude and grace and a lively good humor abound on the boards at Keith's this week and the net result is a stage show which seems to please everyone.

An act that might well be styled the "Phor Phools" is the piece de resistance from the comedy standpoint. These four young men offer clowning of various sorts and kinds, slap-stick, burlesque, wise cracking and what not. They also do a little soft and melodious crooning which takes well.

Danny Duggan carries a company which includes, believe it or not, one good xylophonist, two young "hot" dancers who make the boys sit up and take notice and a beautiful and graceful partner with whom he does some ditto dancing. Nuff?

Tarcom Bezazian, tenor, with the competent aid of Miss Edna White and her companions provides some melody of a little different sort. Clemons Bellings, with an accent, trained pony and dogs and some new tricks, presents the other act.

"Captain Lash" is a rollicking, fast moving drama of ships and ports and sailors and girls that is as breezy, as brawny and as likeable as its husky star, Victor McLaglen.

Into the mouth of Clyde Cook—who plays Cocky, little friend and advisor of the burly Lash, boss stoker, and excels in the part—the subtitler puts the words which briefly and graphically give you the bon mot of the play. "For," says the little cockney to his friend as he tries to dissuade him from the folly of his chase after a "lady," "you have bilge-water in your veins and the smut of the stoke hole on your nose—and you can't change."

REAL WAR PICTURE, SANS LOVE OR PLOT, SCORES AT RIALTO

Love and war! These two conflicts in human life find in every man receptive interest. But take them separately; will war alone furnish that gripping power that makes a moving picture a success?

In the production, "Behind the German Lines," shown at the Rialto this week, there is not a hero, a sweetheart, a vine-covered cottage, nor a villain. There is not even a subtle plot that thickens and grows around an individual life. It is a war picture, but it has no hero nation, even. It is simply the war from a different point of view; the point of view of the German.

In the best depicted story of the world war taken from the actual records of any nation, this picture, based on the official German war reports, gives the layman something to think about. It reminds him that the war was just as real a war with the Germans as with the French or the other allied powers. It shows the suffering that their men went through, and the starvation and privation among their folks back home. It is looking from behind the German lines.

The picture is intensely interesting, and far surpasses the majority of lovesick melodramas usually connected with the war. It does not fall far behind the "Big Parade" in interest, though it has not the glamour of lovers. The maps and charts showing the progress of the war are historically enlightening as well as interesting. My guess is that it will be a success.

OUTSTANDING WORK OF SALLY O'NEIL PLEASES MET FANS

Although its "wealthy playboy—venerable chorus girl" motif is vastly more hackneyed than even the well-known obituary expression, "prominent and influential citizen," the Metropolitan theater's current photoplay, "The Hardboiled Angel," seemed to please the trade Monday afternoon.

And it was dainty Sally O'Neill who literally lifted the vehicle from the prosaic depths in which the obviously ante-bellum theme had cast it—that is, if the chorus gals were gold diggers in those good old days.

In the role of a non-whoopeely inclined Broadway star, so the story tells, Miss O'Neill quite firmly resolves to marry "dough" in the person of the scion to some five million grand, who correctly anticipates and gets plenty of opposition from his ever-alert father.

But the father ultimately discovers that his son's wife is different from the other chorus girls and his plans to institute divorce proceedings are immediately discontinued—to the undivided elation of those concerned.

A Vitaphone music song and dance specialty, a comedy sketch via Photophone and Fox Movietone news, complete the bill.

The "Wolf," played by George Bancroft, is a vivid and vigorous character. The "wolf" if a stock dealer who directs a few pools, makes a killing, and at the height of his success discovers that his wife is unfaithful to him and is in love with one of his business associates.

After some exciting stock exchange scenes are shown the "wolf" is revealed in his home where he surprises his wife and his friend. Instead of the usual pistol shot he decides to take a different kind of revenge. He catches his rival in a trap and ruins him financially and then turns his wife out of his home with her lover. It is a rather complicated plot but it is carried out swiftly to the climax. The picture is short, lasting a few minutes longer than an hour but it is interesting every moment.

The Howard stage band under direction of Louie Lowry offered a presentation entitled "Jazz Town." It is a lively musical show with the excellent Howard orchestra bearing the heaviest burden of the evening. The band numbers are pretty and are ably played by the Howard organization.

Pretty little Marie White offers two attractive dances, one a toe dance of unusual merit. Bob Earle sings several popular songs with band accompaniment while Freddy Bernard provides some blackface comedy and also sings a couple of jazzy songs and does a couple of speedy dances.

In "The Wolf of Wall Street" George Bancroft is given able support by Baclanova, Russian star, Paul Lukas and Nancy Carroll.

Erlanger.

Another treat is in store for Atlanta amusement-lovers tonight at the Erlanger theater, where that superb dramatic organization, the Theater Guild Repertory company, will again present Sam Behrman's scintillating comedy, "The Second Man." Without question, many of those who witnessed the performance of this most delightful and whimsical play last week, will again want to see the outstanding quartet of artists who made of the play a living, breathing reality. Miss Elizabeth Risdon, Miss Peg Entwistle, Alan Mowbray and Neal Caldwell will, no doubt, gather to themselves more admirers of their exquisite art. The program for the balance of the week is as follows: Wednesday matinee and Saturday night, "John Ferguson;" Wednesday night, "The Doctor's Dilemma;" Thursday night and matinee Saturday, "Ned McCobb's Daughter;" Friday night, "The Second Man." Seats are now on sale at the Erlanger box office and at Phillips & Crew Piano company.

Coming to Erlanger.

Of all the musical comedies of recent years, none, perhaps, have everywhere attracted such audiences as "Rio Rita," which comes to the Erlanger theater next Monday night for a week's engagement with matinees Wednesday and Saturday. The expense in taking on tour an attraction of the magnitude of "Rio Rita" is well understod when one learns that not only a beauty chorus is listed in the personnel but a full ballet of dancing girls as well; two complete orchestras are utilized, one on the stage and one in the pit. The principal actors, singers and dancers, it is reported, have been selected without regard to expense and the result apparently is a theatrical performance of a magnitude which is rare in these days. Mail orders are now being received. Box office seat sale opens Thursday morning.

Loew's Grand.

The Fox production, "Mother Knows Best," opened a three-day return engagement Monday at Loew's Grand theater and was well received by the crowd. This picture is based on Edna Ferber's story and is full of tremendous heart interest. It is admirably acted by a cast which includes Madge Bellamy, Louise Dresser and Barry Norton. It is a story of a love-starved daughter denied romance by a managing mother. The talking features of the picture are particularly good.

Cameo.

Alamo No. 2.

The biggest outdoor "set" in the world—the Sahara desert—is an important background of "The Garden of Allah." Rex Ingram's new picture which was filmed entirely abroad for Metro-Goldwyn with Alice Terry and Ivan Petrovich in the leading roles, which is now playing at the Alamo No. 2 theater. Camel caravans, miles long, 2,000 Arabs at prayer, a sandstorm and other high lights of the famous desert romance which Willis Goldbeck adapted from Robert Hichens' story are filmed with the Sahara, one of nature's wonders, as a background.

Ponce de Leon.

H. B. Warner plays his greatest role at the Ponce de Leon theater today and Wednesday in "Sorrell & Son." Managers Swint and Davis say they expect two of the biggest crowds of the month to see this marvelous picture. The story is of the love of a father who goes to the extreme for his son and only child after the mother has gone the wrong road. This is real entertainment and will keep tears in your eyes.

Empire.

"Submarine," the tensely thrilling undersea drama starring Jack Holt and Ralph Graves, is to be shown for the last times today at the popular Empire theater, corner Georgia avenue and Crew street. The picture tells the story of a veteran underseas diver who is called upon to save the life of a man who has stolen his wife's love. Dorothy Revier is seen opposite Holt.

81 Theater.

Colored shows may come and go but "Miss Inez," which will be presented Friday night in a midnight frolic for white persons only will long be remembered as one of those well nigh perfect productions on the colored stage.

In its initial showing Monday afternoon every act on the program received a hearty applause and an encore followed every one. The first show was considerably longer than usual but well worth the while.

Manager Tom Bailey stated after the show that it was one of the best that has ever been presented at 81 Decatur street and white patrons will be treated to a real show next Friday night. "Very few shows present a program in which every act receives plenty of applause," he said, "but this week's program is one of those kind."

Among the highlights on the program are Allen and Allen in a number of song and dance numbers, George Allen in several specialty numbers which literally rock the house, Slim Lancaster in an unusual dance number, George Craft in "Miss Inez," Speights and Speights in a cabaret scene, Gladys Dorsey and Randolph Johnson. A chorus of eight aid materially in the specialty numbers.

OPERATION IS LIKELY FOR ALLEGED SLAYER

Ernest Eich Is Removed From Ward To Private Room.

Doctors at Grady hospital late Monday night were deliberating upon the advisability of operating on Ernest Eich, 19-year-old youth who is under indictment for the murder of his 17-year-old wife, and who was shot three times in the abdomen at the same time that Mrs. Eich died with a bullet through her heart.

A slight intestinal obstruction developed late Monday afternoon forcing Eich's removal from the ward to a private room. And shortly before midnight doctors were still undetermined as to whether an operation would be necessary.

Eich maintains that he was shot by his wife as the culmination of the series of quarrels and that after shooting him she turned the gun on herself. He was charged with murder and placed under guard, however, after a coroner's jury reported that it had found that a bullet had entered Mrs. Eich's body from the back.

Grand Old Man Of World Rulers Dies; Aged 88

Troppau, Czecho-Slovakia, February 11.—(AP)—The grand old man of the world's rulers, Prince John of Lichtenstein, died today at the age of 88 in his palace here. For more than 70 years he held gentle sway over his tiny principality of 11,000 souls which snuggles like a child between the parent states of Austria and Switzerland.

Louis XIV of France was the only European monarch of historical times who exceeded the length of reign of Prince John. He won the added title of "The Good" for the intimate contact which he maintained with his subjects and the considerable portion of his income which he devoted to their welfare. He also was munificent in gifts of oil paintings and objects of art to the Austrian nation. The value of these gifts was said to exceed $20,000,000.

For some time Prince John had been failing in health and it appeared that he was destined to become blind despite the operations performed by the finest Vienna surgeons. On this account he was unable last November to be with his "household," as he preferred to call his subjects, when they celebrated the completion of the seventieth year of his reign.

LOUISIANA STATE DEBATING TEAM LOSES TO EMORY

The Emory debaters started their 1929 season at the Emory auditorium Monday night by taking a contest from the Louisiana State university team by a unanimous vote of the judges.

The question was "Resolved: that a substitute for trial by jury should be adopted." The Emory team, composed of Edward Brown and Frank Settle, was on the negative side. Henry Faust and Paul Borron made up the losing team. The judges were Dr. Witherspoon Dodge, Horace Russell and Dr. E. H. Folk.

The contest was witnessed by the largest number of persons ever to attend a debate at Emory. The team has a heavy schedule booked, including northern and eastern trips. Among the opponents which will be met are Harvard, Princeton and Northwestern universities.

SMOKY MOUNTAIN PARK SETTLEMENT BY ARBITRATION

Nashville, Tenn., February 11.—(AP)—The dispute between the Little River Lumber company and the Smoky Mountain park commission likely will be settled by arbitration and not legislation as a result of a meeting here today between officials of the lumber company and commission.

It was announced at the meeting that the state was willing to purchase timber rights from the lumber company on much of the tract and that the "middle prong" in the proposed national park will be excluded from the area and retained by the lumber company.

The company and commission will each select an inspector to inspect the timber in the Thunderhead district and arrive at a price, which the state would pay. If the two cannot agree, a third estimator would be selected by the United States forestry service.

The Day in Finance

BY R. L. BARNUM

Violent Liquidations of Friday Fail to Appear in Day's Trading. Coppers Outstanding for Strength.

New York, February 11.—Violent liquidation in the stock market Friday up to the closing was not resumed today. The opening of prices was mixed with about as many stocks up as down. Coppers were outstanding for strength and activity, with copper metal prices the highest in eight years.

During the first half hour heavy selling was resumed in Chrysler, carrying that stock below par to a new low for this movement; an unsettling market for other shares, including coppers.

Call money opened at 8 per cent, the highest renewal rate since January 4 or during the period of record-breaking year-end money market requirements. Despite this, selling of stocks ceased before the end of the first hour, with an upward price movement starting. Before noon leading shares had recovered from one to three points or more of the early morning.

Call money fell to 7 per cent in the late afternoon, stimulating broad gains. Buying activities in many sections of the list and the market closed generally around the highs of the day. Copper shares led the late rally.

Trading, however, was light. This was partly due to the approaching holiday and partly to the decision of professionals and pool managers to stand aside until after the federal reserve bank here had held the special meeting of directors called for 2 o'clock. Wall street was correct in guessing that there would be no announcement by the reserve bank directors until after the close of the stock market.

Already Taken Steps.

Informed Wall street understands that the three federal reserve banks have already taken steps to force member banks to withdraw loans made in the New York call money market, those three federal reserve banks being at Minneapolis, Dallas and Kansas City. These three banks together with the one at San Francisco still have a rediscount rate of 4 1-4 per cent against the 5 of the other eight federal reserve banks.

It is understood that the federal reserve banks at Minneapolis, Dallas and Kansas City have notified member banks in these districts that rediscount privileges will be discontinued where credit is being obtained from the federal reserve banks while at the same time the member banks are lending money in the Wall street call money market.

It has been pointed out in this column recently that as far as member banks were concerned it was not natural for them to borrow from their federal reserve bank for 5 per cent or at 4 1-2 per cent in the case of four reserve banks and lend the credit thus borrowed from the reserve banks in the call money market here, where anywhere from 6 to 12 per cent has been obtained so far this year, the rate today being 8 per cent.

For the longer look ahead informed Wall street believes that the federal reserve will never have control of the money market such as is held by the Bank of England until the reserve banks here follow the time-honored policy of the Bank of England in making the rediscount rate higher than the open market rate.

The Bank of England has always operated on the theory that member banks should pay something for the privileges of rediscounting. Instead of our reserve banks making it cost the member banks something to rediscount, the member banks are now making large profits by borrowing from the federal reserve banks and lending the credit thus obtained in the Wall street call money market which is feeding the stock market.

Will Continue Policy.

Informed quarters here believe that the New York Federal Reserve bank will continue its recently adopted policy of making the member banks carry more of the existing load of bankers acceptances. At the close of 1927 bankers' acceptances were outstanding to the amount of $1,284,000,000, an increase for the year of $224,000,000.

The average holdings of this paper last year, however, by member banks were only $25,000,000, leaving the federal reserve banks and foreign banks to carry $1,000,000,000.

It is being pointed out here in informed circles that the foregoing figures show conclusively that the member banks are dependent upon the federal reserve banks to a much larger extent than is shown in the outstanding $852,000,000 rediscounts by member banks at the federal reserve banks.

As the federal reserve banks dispose of their holdings of bankers' acceptances such paper must be taken up by the banks thus reduced, this lending power.

LOCAL AIRPORT NEWS CANDLER FIELD AERO INDUSTRY ITEMS

More than 60 letters have been sent to various business firms in the city asking their cooperation in a year's campaign to popularize the use of airmail by the citizens of Atlanta, it was announced Monday at a special meeting of the aviation committee of the junior chamber of commerce, of which Dr. Herbert Kennedy is chairman. Dr. Kennedy stated that his committee had been much gratified by expressions of cooperation received from many of the firms solicited. The purpose of the campaign, the chairman stated, is to have the large advertisers in the city include in their copy slogans such as "Use Airmail," "Airmailit" or similar expressions. Dr. Kennedy said that his committee hopes, in this manner, that the importance of utilizing the airmail opportunities which Atlanta presents will be impressed upon the people of the city and the development of Candler field and the expansion of aviation in general indirectly benefited.

Appropriately enough, John K. Ottley, Jr., and his bride, Miss Mary Harvey, following their wedding Thursday night at the Second Baptist church, will leave by airplane for Cuba and other points south on an aerial honeymoon. Miss Harvey, a beautiful and popular belle of the city, is the daughter of Robert E. Harvey; Atlanta banker, and Mr. Ottley is southern manager for Pitcairn Aviation, Inc., operators of the Atlanta-New York and the Atlanta-Miami airmail routes.

A contract has been signed for the erection of a brick passenger station at the Selman airport, of Monroe La. The building will provide a waiting room for air passengers, rest rooms, and space for oil storage, servicing of aircraft and quarters for officers of the Delta Air Service, Inc. The structure is to be tile roofed and of ornate design.

Believing that there is a definite field for the operation of flying clubs in this country and that such operation may best be national in scope, the committee of the National Aeronautic association appointed to study the situation has tentatively recommended provision for organization of private flying clubs within the association as chapters. A standard set of rules to facilitate organization and operation of these clubs has been devised and will be distributed soon. It was said that one of the services of the coordinating committee of the association might be some form of group insurance for flying equipment.

Gliding, or the flying of inexpensive, motorless airplanes, is a sport which has been comparatively neglected in America, but this condition may be changed before the end of the summer. A number of companies have been formed to manufacture gliders and gliding clubs are being formed during the winter in a number of cities. A gliding club has been organized at Detroit with a membership of 50 and a chapter will be formed at Cape Cod, Mass. The practical value of learning to operate one of these sensitive, delicately controlled soaring planes before starting to fly a powered ship is well recognized in Germany, where it is required that all transport pilots pass tests on the gliders before they are employed on mail and passenger runs.

Giant passenger planes which will have motors totaling 2,200 horsepower and which will fly at an altitude of between four and six miles to escape ocean storms are proposed by the Junkers Airplane company in Germany for regular trans-Atlantic service, according to a report received at Washington. The planes will carry 50 passengers in cabins built into the wings, more than six feet thick and 120 feet long. The wings also will contain four 550 horsepower engines, completely accessible for repair or adjustment while in flight. A special compressor device will enable the plane to fly at 20,000 feet with scarcely any loss of power, according to company engineers, who state that an effort will be made to increase the ceiling to 32,000 feet.

Cartersville Rites For T. P. Trammell, Former Atlantan

Funeral services for Thomas P. Trammell, 60, former Atlantan, who died Saturday at his residence in Venus, Fla., will be conducted Wednesday in Cartersville, where the body will be taken for interment, it was learned here Monday.

Mr. Trammell, who has been connected with the United States department of revenue for 30 years, left Atlanta several years ago to move to Florida.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Rosa E. Trammell; one daughter, Mrs. Arthur McIntyre, of Atlanta; four sons, W. L. Trammell, of New York; J. W. Trammell, of Los Angeles; R. J. Trammell, of Memphis, and T. E. Trammell, of Jacksonville, and two sisters, Miss Mary Trammell and Mrs. Walker Lewis, both of Atlanta.

FEDERAL RESERVE DIRECTORS MAKE NO RATE CHANGES

New York, February 11.—(AP)—Directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York in their special meeting today made no change in its rediscount rate of 5 per cent. The directors made no statement concerning the meeting.

Rev. T. P. Cleveland, Retired Presbyterian Minister, Gravely Ill

The Rev. Thomas Parmalee Cleveland, widely known retired Presbyterian minister, late Monday night was gravely ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. C. Smith, in Highland View. Due in part to his advanced age of 93 years his condition was considered by doctors as extremely critical.

The Rev. Cleveland is believed to be one of the lodest living alumni of Princeton university, having graduated at that institution with the class of '58. He served as a chaplain and as a major in the Confederate forces during the war between the states and saw much active service in the struggle. He was at various times connected with several educational institutions and was for a number of years pastor of the Hapeville Presbyterian church. He was born at Washington.

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN,
Associated Press Market Editor.

Chicago, February 11.—(AP)—Crop damage threatening Europe as well as this country, with wheat supplies in North America decreasing rapidly, tended today to carry wheat prices upgrade. Berlin reported temperatures 15 below zero, wheat in eastern Germany and in Poland was said to be minus sufficient snow covering, and wheat values at Rotterdam jumped 5 cents to 7 cents.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were firm, 5-8 cent to 1 cent net higher. Corn finished at 1-4 cent decline to 3-8 cent advance, oats 1-4 cent down to a shade up, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 5 and 7 cents.

From the outset the Chicago wheat market today showed an advancing trend. In addition to unfavorable crop reports from Europe, talk persisted about likelihood of injury having been done to domestic winter wheat, especially in sections tributary to St. Louis. Moreover, notwithstanding record world shipments for the week, 23,312,000 bushels the amount of wheat on ocean passage remained about 1,000,000 bushels short of last year's total at this time.

Meanwhile, announcement was made that the United States wheat visible supply had been diminished 2,301,000 bushels in the last week, and that the Canadian stock had decreased 1,522,000 bushels. A year ago, the falling-off in the domestic supply for the week was only 809,000 bushels whereas this year the shrinkage since January 1 has been about 14,000,000 bushels.

Corn was under selling pressure on account of evidence of a heavier country movement of corn to terminal markets. Arrivals of corn in Chicago today were 672 cars, compared with 520 cars at this time last week. The corn visible supply increased 1,921,000 bushels for the week. Less was heard of corn export demand. Oats were influenced mainly by corn action.

Provisions averaged lower as a result of scattered selling which more than offset an advance in the value of hogs.

CONVERTIBLE ISSUES BOOSTED BY 10-POINT RISE OF ANACONDA COPPER

Few Rails and Sugars Sag To New Low Levels for Year

Ten industrials	100.16	100.22
Combined average	96.41	96.42

Combined year ago	99.78	.....

Total bond sales (par value) $12,031,000.

New York, February 11.—(AP)—Anaconda Copper 7s, with a 10-point advance, carried the convertible issues and some of the secondary rails upward in today's irregular bond market. A few rails and some of the sugars, however, sagged to new lows for the year. The improvement in the convertibles reflected the stock market's strength in the face of higher money. Sales for the third time this year exceeded $12,000,000.

Active buying carried Alleghany Corporation 5s up a point to 104 and American International 5 1-2s nearly 2 points to 107 1-4. Both issues, however, were several points under their high figures established nearly two weeks ago. International Telephone convertible 4 1-2s were another strong spot, climbing 1 5-8 points, and Porto Rican-American Tobacco 6s rallied from a low of 102 3-4 to close at 105 1-2, up 2 3-4 points on the day.

The high-grade rails were generally soft, Baltimore & Ohio first 5s slipping back a point and Southern Pacific 4s of 1949 nearly 3 points. Trading in the short line rails was featured by a 4 1-2-point jump in refunding 4s of Ulster & Delaware, one of the roads involved in the New York Central's unification plans. Boston & Maine 5s sagged to a new low at 96 1-4 on reports stockholders would be asked to subscribe to new bonds under a plan for payment of accrued dividends.

Camaguey Sugar 7s dropped to a new low for 1929 at 92 1-2.

Utilities improved with the advance in the stocks. Public Service of New Jersey 4 1-2s dropped to 187 and rallied in the late trading to 195 for a net gain of 2 points on the day.

Selling was fairly general in the foreign list. Bulgarian Kingdom 7 1-2s lost 2 points.

Curb bonds were irregular, Associated Gas 4 1-2s advancing 10 points with the stock.

United States government obligations were heavy.

New York, February 11.—Following are today's high, low and closing prices of bonds on the New York Stock Exchange and the total sales of each bond.

HEAVY BUYING IN MINING AND UTILITY SHARES FEATURES CURB TRADE

Electric Bond and Share Leads With 3-Point Gain

New York, February 11.—(AP)—Heavy buying of the public utility and mining shares, a few of which recorded sensational gains, featured the resumption of the upward price movement in today's curb market. Some irregularity developed at the opening, but the big board's disregard of the high renewal rate for call money and the outcome of the federal reserve meeting after the close revived confidence, and a general advance was under way before midday. Short covering played a prominent part in the late trading.

Electric Bond & Share was again the leader of the public utility group, soaring 22 1-2 points to 267 1-2, and retaining all but a point of its gain. Associated Gas & Electric warrants were marked up 39 points, but lost 10 points of their gain. American & Foreign Power Warrents soared 11 1-2 points, and Associated Gas & Electric, American Super Power issues, Cities Service and Electric Investors closed 4 to 9 points higher.

Phelps Dodge was the spectacular feature in the mining group, soaring 70 points to a new high at 375 and losing but 7 points of its gain on buying influenced by predictions of a further increase in copper prices. Lake Superior Mining ran up nearly 10 points and New Cornelia, Newmont, Hudson Bay, Shattuck Denn and a few others rose 1 to 3 points.

Motors responded to reports of record-breaking January production, Checker Cab climbing nearly 6 points, Auburn 3 and Ford Limited 1 1-8. Radio shares also pointed upward, with Zenith and De Forest in the vanguard of the advance. Oils displayed a slightly firmer undertone, but the gains were held to a point or two. Uneasiness over the recent growth in crude oil output has had a depressing influence on that group.

General laundry machinery responded to reports of expanding earnings. New peak prices in the industrial group were established by American Department Stores, Borden's (new), Curtiss Air & Express, Goldman Sachs issues, Gold Seal Electric, Haygart Corporation, International Projector, U. S. Freight and the Van Camp issues.

There were a few soft spots, Standard Silver breaking 9 points and Rainbow Luminous Products, Industrial Financial Certificates, Neisner Bros. and a few others losing 2 points or more.

New York, February 11.—Following is the official list of transactions on the New York Curb Market, giving all stocks and bonds traded. (An x preceding name of issue indicates prices are in cents.)

New York, February 11.—(AP)—The cotton market was higher today on covering combined with some trade and commission house buying promoted by relatively steady Liverpool cables and bullish private figures on domestic consumption for January. The advance to 20.10 for May encountered considerable realizing, but it was absorbed on reactions of 7 or 8 points.

That delivery closed at 20.07, compared with 19.97 at the close of Saturday. The general market closed steady at net advances of 8 to 11 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 4 to 12 points and sold up to 20.00 for March and 19.57 for new October contracts in the early trading on rather an active demand. Buying, which included demand from the trade as well as covering and commission house interest, apparently was stimulated by the firmer showing of Liverpool and reports that a private authority estimated domestic consumption for January at 665,000 bales, against 534,352 for December and 586,142 for January last year.

These figures and rather better standard cloth statistics than anticipated for last month came in for a good deal of bullish comment. The advance, however, met considerable realizing. Fresh buying may have been restricted somewhat by the proximity of the holiday. After the first flurry of demand, support became less active. Prices sagged off to 19.91 for March and 19.51 for the new October contract, or about 6 to 9 points from the high levels of the morning. Offerings were not heavy and the market steadied up again in the late trading. Closing quotations were within a point or two of the best on the old crop positions.

Standard cloth statistics showed sales for last month amounting to 92.5 per cent of production, which was rather above recent expectations and indicated a decrease of seven-tenths of one per cent in stocks on hand at the end of January. It also showed a decrease of 6 per cent in unfilled orders.

Private cables said there had been covering, trade calling and continental buying in Liverpool. Exports today 10,936, making 5,912,210 this season. Port receipts 15,510. U. S. port stocks 2,146,452.

NEW ORLEANS TRADES BECAUSE OF HOLIDAY.

New Orleans, February 11.—(AP)—Trading in the cotton market today was largely under the influence of the impending holiday tomorrow, there being alternate periods of liquidation and covering. Prices, however, worked slightly higher under a moderate demand stimulated by bullish private consumption figures and although there was some realizing at the advance, May ultimately sold up to 19.48 and closed at 19.46, or 11 points net higher. The general market closed very steady at net advances of 10 to 11 points.

Receipts 15,217; for week 26,687; for year 8,137,210; last year 6,935,388. Exports 11,006; for week 34,205; for year 5,737,353; last year 4,756,156. Stocks 2,205,865; last year 2,263,897. Stock on shipboard 132,351; last year 134,936. Spot sales 17,788; last year 5,636.

Cottonseed Oil.

NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, February 11.—The market in cotton seed oil futures was somewhat easier today owing mainly to the realizing in advance of the holiday. Prices were supported somewhat by expected bullish consumption figures. Prime summer yellow oil closed unchanged at 9.80 and prime crude at 8.87½ to 9.00. Futures closed barely steady. February 9.80; March 9.82; May 9.92; July 10.12; September 10.15.

NEW YORK.

New York, February 11.—Cottonseed oil was moderately active and easy today, closing 7 to 17 points lower. Liquidation for over the holiday and in advance of the January consumption report on Wednesday uncovered stop-loss orders and forced prices down rather easily in the absence of any aggressive support.

January consumption is expected to approximate 300,000 barrels, compared with 271,000 barrels in December and 267,000 in January, 1928. Sales 14,300 barrels. Prime crude 9.25; prime summer yellow spot 10.65; March closed 10.80; May 10.74; July 10.99; September 11.18.

Exchanges Closed Today.

New York, February 11.—There will be no New York stock, bond or curb lists tomorrow, February 12. Exchanges closed.

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER,
Associated Press Financial Writer.

New York, February 11.—(AP)—The stock market displayed unexpected buoyancy today after last week's unsettling developments in the credit situation. The only effects of the announcement of a special meeting of the directors of the New York federal reserve bank after the close, and of the holiday tomorrow, seemed to be a slowing up of the pace of trading, total sales dropping below 4,000,000 shares for the first full session in weeks.

Reports that Secretary Mellon would issue an encouraging statement on the stock market after the close were circulated about Wall street during the session, and restored confidence to a marked degree. However, nothing whatever was forthcoming from the secretary, who declined to discuss credit or the federal reserve board in any way. The meeting of the New York reserve bank directors after the close brought no change in the rediscount rate, and nothing was revealed as to its purpose, leaving Wall street rather mystified.

Call money opened at 8 per cent, the highest renewal rate since early January, but dropped to 7 as funds were attracted by this rate. The federal reserve board's condition statement of weekly reporting member banks disclosed a further increase in borrowings at the reserve institutions, amounting to $39,000,000, and an increase of $133,000,000 in loans. Further attention to the brokerage loan situation by congressmen in Washington was met with some misgivings in speculative circles.

Copper, rubber, chemical and utility shares were in the forefront of the advance. Peoples Gas, Radio and Otis Elevator mounted 14 points each, while American Foreign Power jumped 11 to a new peak. Chile and Greene Cananea led the coppers with gains of about 7 and 9 points, the former breaking into new high ground.

Goodyear Rubber mounted 10 points, and Columbia Carbon 12. Union Carbide, Electric Auto Lite, Westinghouse Electric, General Electric, National Cash Register and American Telephone were among issues mounting 6 to 8 points. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem gained about 4 points each. Some of the rails made good headway, Canadian Pacific and Pere Marquette climbing about 6 points.

Chrysler was under heavy pressure during the forenoon, falling below the 100-mark, but the issue rallied to 104 1-2 at the close, up over 2 points. Abraham and Straus was a weak spot, losing more than 10 points in a small turnover. Burroughs Adding, McCrory Stores preferred, National Surety, Nickel Plate and Pittsburgh and West Virginia were among the handful of issues closing off 2 to 5 points.

U.S. FOREIGN TRADE SHOWS HEAVY GAIN

Washington, February 11—(AP)—The heavy increases in American foreign trade for 1928 were disclosed by commerce department figures today to have been evenly distributed over nearly all quarters of the globe.

Detailed figures applying to the chief world geographical divisions showed that only the Pacific islands failed to take more American exports during 1928 than during 1927.

Imports decreased markedly from the Asiatic territory, and the price movement in a single commodity—crude rubber—was held by the government's trade observers to be chiefly responsible for this, the decline in rubber prices having continued throughout 1928.

For the year, exports and imports by grand divisions of the globe, compared with like figures for 1927, follow:

Exports.	1928.	1927.

Canada was the best national customer of the United States during 1928. Exports to that country reached the total of $916,155,506, a total greater than that of Great Britain, and a marked increase over the American exports of $836,532,373 to Canada in 1927. Imports from Canada were likewise the largest coming to this country from any other nation, and for 1928 reached the total of $488,999,157 as compared with $475,028,148 in 1927.

Market Gossip

Daily Views of Wall Street Stock Market by Telegraph.

Stock Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

New York, February 11.—(Special.)—Stock prices opened higher in today's session and while evidencing some irregularity at various stages, moved generally forward and closed at around the best levels of the day.

Apparently anticipation of the special meeting of the directors of the New York Federal Reserve bank did little more than hold buying orders in abeyance and this properly since there is obviously more to lose than to gain by hasty action at this stage of the market.

As throughout the break, most of our special recommendations have been particularly firm, especially U. S. Smelting, American Metal and Erie, all three of which appear attractive at these levels for long pull commitment regardless of the immediate market.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

New York, February 11.—(Special.)—The rather surprisingly sharp rally in stocks around noon gathered momentum later in the day, particularly in the metal shares and closing prices showed astonishing gains when the general sentiment of the past several days is taken into consideration.

There were quite a few rumors around the street concerning the possibility of bullish statements from high quarters but these quite likely had their foundation in hope rather than in knowledge.

One can only say in summing up that the action of the market is surprisingly good.

H. & B. BEER.

New York, February 11.—The industrial averages advanced almost 9 points today and the rails almost 2. This was the result of a very much oversold position Friday.

No statement was made by the federal reserve directors. Mr. Mellon conferred with the press but gave out no comment for publication. It is rather generally understood that the real reason for the special meeting of the New York Reserve bank governors was to discuss ways and means to relieve the reserve bank of some of the burden of supporting the bill market.

This may mean an advance in the bill rate. The credit situation and its bearing on the stock market was apparently not the cause for the meeting. Call money was in greater supply.

In general, we think the market should do better. The broker loan figures Thursday should show a decrease. Money should continue between 6 and 7 per cent.

JACKSON BROS., BOESEL & CO.

New York, February 11.—(Special.)—No change in the discount rate of the New York Federal Reserve bank resulted from Monday's special meeting of the directors.

This is in line with our belief that none is contemplated for the immediate future, for two important reasons: First, any increase here would nullify the action of the Bank of England in raising its rate to 5½ per cent with relation to the gold problem.

Second, we believe that the federal reserve board does not desire to do anything that would penalize business at a time of season expansion. Other methods to curb the flow of credit to speculative channels doubtless will be taken.

Prior to the holiday the stock market gave another impressive demonstration of strength in the face of steps by congress for an investigation of brokerage loans. Moreover, no attention was paid to possible developments of an unfavorable nature from the meeting of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, held after the close. However, we continue of the opinion that there is enough uncertainty in the financial atmosphere to discourage buying on strength and we believe that more attractive price levels will be seen during the present period of uncertainty.

Constructive market operations are being planned for a number of stocks, but these are being held up pending readjustment of the general market structure.

Among the stocks in which group activity will probably be witnessed are Chrysler, General Cigars, Coca-Cola and Electric Storage Battery.

Among the stocks which have shown a decline since February 5 of 15 points or more and which will be attractive for repurchase on weakness which may develop today are Allied Chemical, American International, A. M. Byers, Columbian Carbon, General Electric, Goodyear, Johns-Manville, Montgomery-Ward, National Cash Register, Simmons, United Carbide, Westinghouse, Canadian Pacific and New York.

Cotton Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

New York, February 11.—(Special.)—Market was higher again today owing to buying and covering induced by good cables and forecast of record-breaking consumption for January.

A large spot house was also reported to be a good buyer of January, New York and New Orleans interests bought rather freely on a scale down in New Orleans.

One private bureau predicts consumption for January will total 665,000 bales. This compares with 534,000 in December and 586,000 for January, last year.

Another bureau predicts it will reach only 625,000. The largest amount ever consumed in any one month was 694,000 in March of 1927.

Dry goods news was favorable with the federal reserve board reporting sales of department stores during January five per cent larger than last year.

Spot news was also good. Wires from interior say there is very little good cotton available that isn't hedged, demand also good.

Sentiment is more favorable to the buying side and market may do better if the consumption report comes up to expectations.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

New York, February 11.—(Special.)—While trading in cotton today has been extremely dull, the market has ruled firm throughout in response to firm cables, the bullish Garside estimate of domestic consumption for January of 665,000 bales and the decidedly better January report of the New York textile merchants than expected, which came out after the close on Saturday.

The market closed firm at a net gain of 8 to 11 points but had there been any speculative interest of importance in the market the advance would doubtless have carried considerably further.

Believe the situation warrants still higher prices.

H. & B. BEER.

New Orleans, February 11.—(Special.)—The cotton market maintained an upward trend today as result of monthly textile returns for January, released after close of last Saturday, being considered bullish, and because of private estimates as to domestic January consumption looming large compared with corresponding month last season.

While this year's acreage remains problematical, fertilizer returns are said to show sales thus far to be about 20 per cent smaller than one year ago. However, there is a good season in the ground, especially in Texas, and the low temperatures inland of late may be fatal to some boll weevils.

There are prospects for better weather in the interior at least for a period, as fair weather is indicated for the cotton region for the near future.

For the present the market is likely to remain under the influence of the uncertainty attending official returns as to domestic January consumption, report on which will be made by the census bureau shortly, perhaps next Thursday.

HUBBARD BROTHERS & CO.

New York, February 11.—(Special.)—Our market was up 10 points on the opening, due principally to the Garsid consumption figures showing 665,000 bales consumed during January, and the textile institute figures which, when compared with last year, seemed bullish, after the opening, prices steadied and held in a very narrow range with swapping again the chief feature. Market closed steady in a quiet market around the high for the day.

Outside demand has not increased, but sentiment is much more two-sided, the majority here believing, however, that the advance has gone far enough for the present.

ORVIS BROTHERS & CO.

New York, February 11.—(Special.)—New high levels were made in the life of October and January contracts in today's cotton market. Backwardness of the season, together with the reasonable certainty of farm relief legislation, are accountable for this particular strength.

A private statistician estimates January consumption at 665,000 bales.

The census bureau is expected to issue its statement on domestic consumption at the market's opening Thursday. The figures will compare with 534,000 for December and 582,000 for January last year. Today's market was called upon to absorb rather heavy liquidation, but quotations were almost inflexible with final prices being the highest.

We favor following the market's constructive side and recommend purchases of minor reactions.

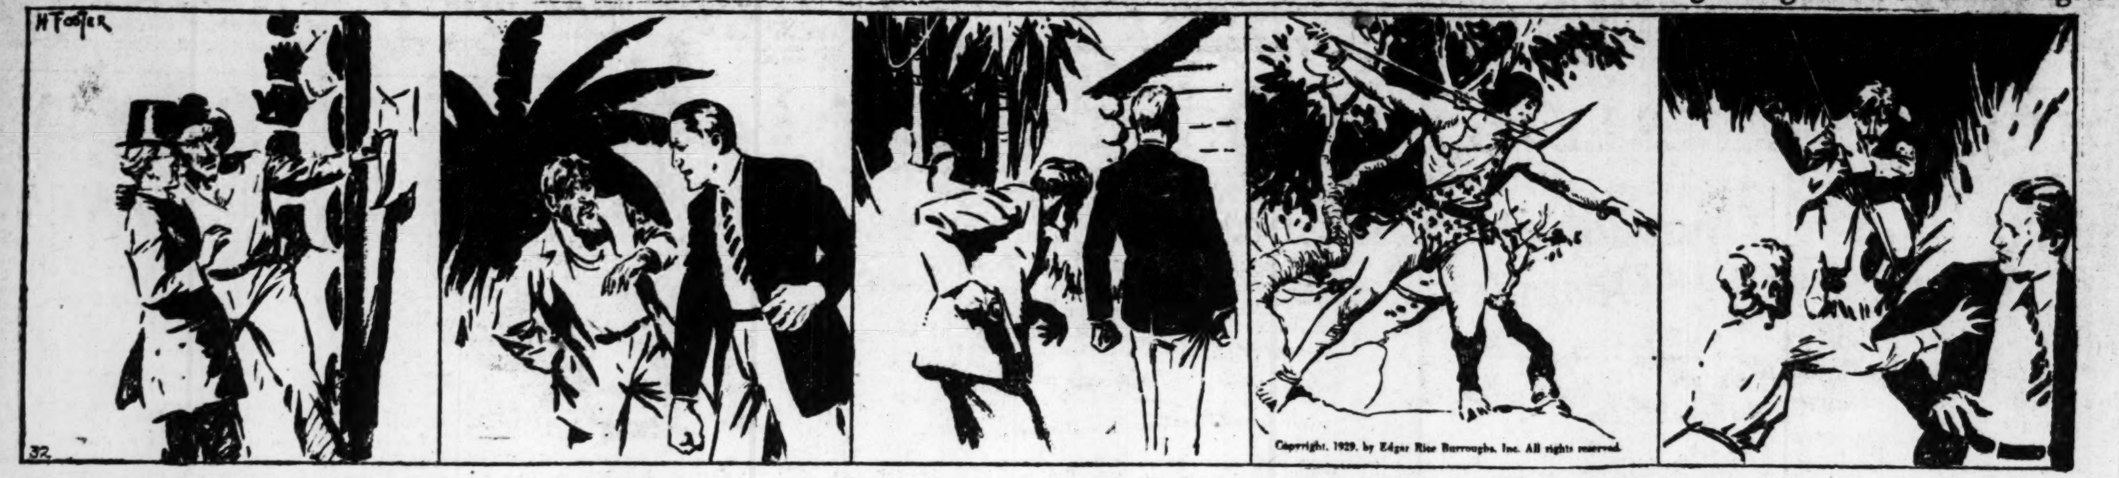
TARZAN OF THE APES No. 32

By Edgar Rice Burroughs



H FOSTER
Copyright, 1929, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

A sailor grasped him by the collar and bawled into his ear: "Read it out loud, you blithering idiot!" The professor read: THIS IS THE HOUSE OF TARZAN THE KILLER OF BEASTS AND MANY BLACK MEN. DO NOT HARM THE THINGS WHICH ARE TARZAN'S. TARZAN WATCHES. TARZAN OF THE APES.

The thought uppermost in their minds was: "Who is Tarzan of the Apes?" The rat-faced sailor growled out an insulting oath! The young man's face paled in anger. "You've murdered our officers and robbed us," he said. "Now shut up or I'll break your neck with my bare hands."

He deliberately turned his back upon the sailor and walked away. The sailor's hand crept slyly to his revolver. His eyes glared vengefully . . . Two keen eyes had watched every move of the party from a near-by tree. Tarzan saw the surprise caused by his notice and now watched the quarrel.

The act of the rat-faced sailor in killing his comrade, the day before, had aroused a strong dislike in Tarzan. He liked the fine-looking young man. But now he naturally expected to see the young man murdered. Spear in hand, his mighty right arm was ready to strike.

Then three things happened, almost simultaneously. The sailor leveled his weapon at the young man's back, the girl screamed a warning, and a long spear shot like a bolt from above. It passed through the man's right shoulder, and the seaman crumpled up with a scream of pain and terror.

North Atlanta Experiment In Municipal Government Described by Dean Libby

Political Science Conference Speakers Declare That Democratic Party Must Reorganize.

Southern suffrage restrictions, practical politics, and international relations will be discussed today by speakers at the southeastern political conference at the Henry Grady hotel. The conference opened Monday morning, and will close tonight when the delegates meet at dinner with the southeastern citizenship conference which opens today at Emory university.

Sessions of Monday, the first day of the gathering, were featured by addresses stressing the necessity of complete reorganization of the democratic party to give it any hope of success in the next presidential election, and by the description of an experiment in municipal government in North Atlanta, which is said to have attracted wide spread attention. This experiment was described at the night session by Dean A. S. Libby, of Oglethorpe university.

No Taxes, No Salaries.

Dean Libby said that there are no taxes and no salaries are paid to officials of North Atlanta, and that the community has never had a case of law-breaking by its own citizens. "We have had, however, some pretty big court battles, but they always were caused by outsiders," he said. "Ours is a homogeneous and democratic little community. Farmers, merchants, artisans and college professors make up its citizenship and they are peaceful, law-abiding and like-thinking people. We have neither the problems of wealth nor the problems of poverty."

Explaining the procedure of court in North Atlanta, Dean Libby said that the underlying principle breaks away from traditional law practices. Hearings are held in a private office, and a person feels at home—at liberty to talk it over. A brief statement of claim is signed by the plaintiff, and the court is like any other court except that attorneys are absent, not by rule but discouraged. Each party tells his story, there are questions asked, and the parties question each other. The judgment on the facts is final, debts, contracts, torts, domestic affairs, break of the peace, and other questions being considered, with no limit to amount involved. If the problem is not capable of such informal treatment, it goes to the regular trial court, and in such cases, evidence is not given out to the other court, he said. Compromises offered are not binding if the case is appealed.

In the North Atlanta court, no evidence is excluded provided it is really evidence and able to throw light upon the question in controversy, Dean Libby said. "There is something in the North Atlanta procedure that resembles the old 'pie powder' court of medieval Europe; something also that goes back to ancient Athens in the days of Solon, where the disputants had each to state what would be the fairest settlement, and the judge chose between them. This challenged the best sense of justice on each side, for, if one was more unfair, the decision would be given to the other."

Tennessee Reform Measures.

Two reformatory endeavors in which Tennessee is pioneering are county highway financing and the consolidation of counties, according to Professor J. W. Manning, of Vanderbilt. The 1927 Tennessee legislature passed a measure providing for state assumption of the obligations of counties for road building, and the state, under the plan adopted, will refund to the counties a total of $30,000,000 within 20 years.

At a dinner given Monday night, political science curricula, method and content were discussed. "International Law and Relations" was the subject discussed by Dr. Bessie Randolph, of the Florida State College for Women, while "American Government" was discussed by Professor J. W. W. Daniel, of Wesleyan. The general discussion of these topics was led by Miss Roberta Hodgson, of the Georgia State College for Women. Dr. George R. Sherrill, of Clemson, presided at the dinner, while Professor E. J. Woodhouse, of the University of North Carolina, presided at the night meeting.

Georgia Tax System.

In speaking Monday afternoon on a model system of state taxation, R. C. Norman, Georgia tax commissioner, explained this state's system of taxation, divided into three groups, personal property, general property and business taxes. Mr. Norman discussed the sales tax idea, and said that he believes that a sales tax would be better than the present ad valorem system, that the practical tax men are for it, though the theoretical tax men are against a sales tax.

Professor E. B. Meriwether, of Georgia School of Technology, also discussed taxation. State administrative reorganization in Tennessee was discussed by Professor Irby Hudson, of Vanderbilt. Dr. Ruth Higgins, of Montgomery Women's college, and Dr. H. J. Pearce, of Brenau, led discussions on state administrative reorganization. Professor R. H. McLean presided at the afternoon session.

Today's program includes papers on "Southern Suffrage Restrictions," by Professor George R. Sherrill, of Clemson, and "Government by Lobby," by Dr. H. J. Pearce, Brenau. Dean J. R. Clark, of Judson college, will lead the discussion. Professor Philip Davidson, of Agnes Scott, will preside at today's business meeting.

In the session on international relations this afternoon, Dr. E. M. Coulter, of the University of Georgia, will preside. A. T. Polyzoides, editor of the Greek daily, "Atlantis," will speak on "The Final Transformation of the Fascist Regime," and Professor George Petrie, of Alabama Polytechnic, will talk on "The Briand-Kellogg Pact." "Carribean Relations of the United States" will be discussed by Professor Cyrus French Wicker, of Miami university.

The political science conference will have dinner with the southeastern citizenship conference at 6 o'clock tonight. A number of delegates and speakers at the political science meeting will remain over for the citizen-citizenship meeting.

Party Reorganization Urged.

The opinion that the democratic party must reorganize lest it disentegrate was advanced by one speaker and the opinion that religion played a major role in defeat of the democratic party during the last presidential campaign was advanced by another in addresses Monday before the opening session of the Southeastern Political Science conference here.

Professor E. J. Woodhouse, of the University of North Carolina, giving an "Analysis of the Presidential Election of 1928" called the campaign the "most emotional and most ignorant in our history" and contended that Governor Alfred E. Smith was defeated "first, because the republican party normally controls at least 60 per cent of the nation's voters, and second because he was a Catholic."

Must Reconcile Differences.

Professor Robert Rankin, of Duke university, in his paper on "The Future of the Democratic Party" said he believed the party must reconcile its differences, adopt more liberal progressive policies and in the future name leaders acceptable to various "factions" if it is to continue as a factor in national politics.

Professor Woodhouse said he felt there must be few persons who would not agree that personal emotions played a larger part in the defeat of Governor Smith than did a consideration of his qualities to fill office.

PROGRAM TONIGHT

8:30—Formal opening, auditorium, Emory University, Ga.

Talks on Aims of the Conference—Dr. H. W. Cox, Dr. T. H. Jack, Mayor I. N. Ragsdale.

Lecture, "The World Court"—Judge Bustamante.

The second annual southeastern citizenship conference sponsored by Emory university to stimulate a wider and more intelligent interest in public affairs will convene here tonight on the Emory campus.

An array of distinguished speakers, including educators, publicists, political economists, leaders in public life, state officials and others, will conduct the series of lectures and round-table discussions on topics of national and international moment, which will last through Saturday.

A feature of the conference will be the presentation of a model constitutional convention for Georgia by more than fifty students of government at Emory and Agnes Scott college.

The opening address will be delivered by Antonio S. De Bustamante, of Havana, a judge of the world court and professor of international law at the University of Havana, whose subject will be "The World Court." Another prominent foreigner on the program is Dr. Walther Merck, Germany's national chairman of education.

Others who have been given conspicuous places on the program include Dr. Walter F. Dodd, of Yale university; Dr. Edward S. Mims, Vanderbilt university; Dr. E. J. Woodhouse, University of North Carolina; Sam J. Slate, state auditor of Georgia; A. T. Polyzoides, editor of the New York Greek daily, Atlantis; W. T. Anderson, editor of the Macon Telegraph, and Dr. M. L. Duggan, state school superintendent.

ATTACK ON STEWART IS CALLED LIBEL BY HIS ATTORNEY

Chicago, February 11.—(AP)—Colonel Robert W. Stewart, through his personal attorney, last night pronounced as "nothing short of a cowardly and dastardly libel" statements made public in New York opposing Colonel Stewart's reelection to the Standard Oil Company of Indiana's board of directors.

Albert W. Hopkins, the attorney, issued a statement which he said was in answer to two attacks upon Colonel Stewart published in New York, one unsigned, the other by Winthrop W. Aldrich, New York lawyer, a brother-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and chairman of the Rockefeller proxies committee seeking Stewart's defeat at the stockholders' meeting March 7.

The Aldrich statement was described by Hopkins as "a cunningly drawn document to deceive the stockholders and the public," and the lawyer further described it as "untrue in many places."

Taking up the lengthy statement by Aldrich, Colonel Stewart's lawyer noted "the intermingling of matters with which Colonel Stewart had no more to do than Aldrich himself, in an apparent effort to cast reflections on Colonel Stewart." This, Hopkins said, "is nothing short of a cowardly and dastardly libel."

The Chicago attorney went again into the Consolidated Trading company transaction, which played a prominent part in the attack upon Colonel Stewart, and reiterated denials that the oil company head made any concealment of his part therein or that any action by him was taken except with the interests of the Standard company in mind.

HARRY BREEN, NOTED COMEDIAN, DIES HERE

Harry Breen, well-known vaudeville comedian who held the headline position on the bill at Loew's Capitol theater last week died at 11 o'clock Monday morning at the Georgia Baptist hospital after a brief illness.

Mr. Breen was stricken with a heart attack after the first afternoon show at the Capitol theater Saturday and was taken at once to the hospital. He failed to rally, however, and died Monday morning.

The comedian is survived by his son, John Breen, a well-known insurance man of New York, who arrived in Atlanta Monday morning a short time before his father died. The body will be sent to New York for burial.

Mr. Breen was one of the best known "nut" comedians in vaudeville. He was the originator of his type of entertainment. One of his songs was arranged so that he could compose extra verses about people in the audience and has been heard by thousands of Atlanta people during his visits here.

LINDBERGH LANDS 24 HOURS EARLIER THAN SCHEDULED

Belize, British Honduras, February 11.—(AP)—Dropping in on Belize 24 hours earlier than his schedule called for, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, on his return flight from Panama to Miami with the Pan-American Airways mail, put in the afternoon here inspecting sites for a permanent airport. He brought with him Colonel John Hambledon, vice president of the Pan-American Airways, and Lieutenant Christian Schilt, who has been given leave of absence from the marine corps to become Miami superintendent of the air company.

The Colonel flew here direct from Managua, Nicaragua, making the trip in six hours and 57 minutes. An escort plane, piloted by Raymond J. Merritt, stopped en route at Tela, Honduras.

When Merritt brought his machine down here, a few hours after Lindbergh had arrived, the keen eye of the colonel noted a tire collapsing. Inspection revealed a nail in it which probably was picked up when Merritt took off at Tela.

The planes are to leave here tomorrow, soon after daybreak, en route for Havana and Miami.

FUNERAL SERVICES TO BE HELD TODAY FOR COL. McINTYRE

Funeral services for Colonel Samuel B. McIntyre, veteran army officer who died Saturday morning at Fort McPherson, will be conducted at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the post chapel. Fourth corps area officers with whom Colonel McIntyre served will act as pallbearers and as members of an escort of honor. The body will be removed to Chattanooga, Tenn., Wednesday for burial there in the national cemetery, with full military honors.

A native of Chattanooga, Colonel McIntyre was educated there and joined the army as a volunteer in the Spanish-American war. He later joined the regular army and saw service in the Philippines, in Alaska and overseas during the world war. He had served about a year at Fort McPherson.

Lieutenant Colonel Augustine McIntyre, a brother of the colonel, is stationed at Honolulu. He also is survived by his widow, a sister, Miss Mary E. McIntyre, of New York, and another brother, T. H. R. McIntyre, of New York.

WIFE AND HUSBAND, IN DIFFERENT CARS, FIGURE IN CRASH

Told that she might "run into" her husband if she drove along Peters street near Park avenue, Mrs. C. E. Green, of Chamblee, Monday afternoon piloted her automobile in that direction. She "ran into" her husband all right, or rather, she ran into an an automobile in which he was riding with an "unknown" young woman, according to reports made to police by Mrs. Green.

Mrs. Green reported that she saw her husband in the car with the woman, who was "unknown" to her but apparently known to her husband, and that when he saw her he attempted to turn around in the middle of the street and in so doing the two machines hooked fenders, doing a little damage to both. He then drove off without making any explanation, Mrs. Green reported. She requested that no case be made.

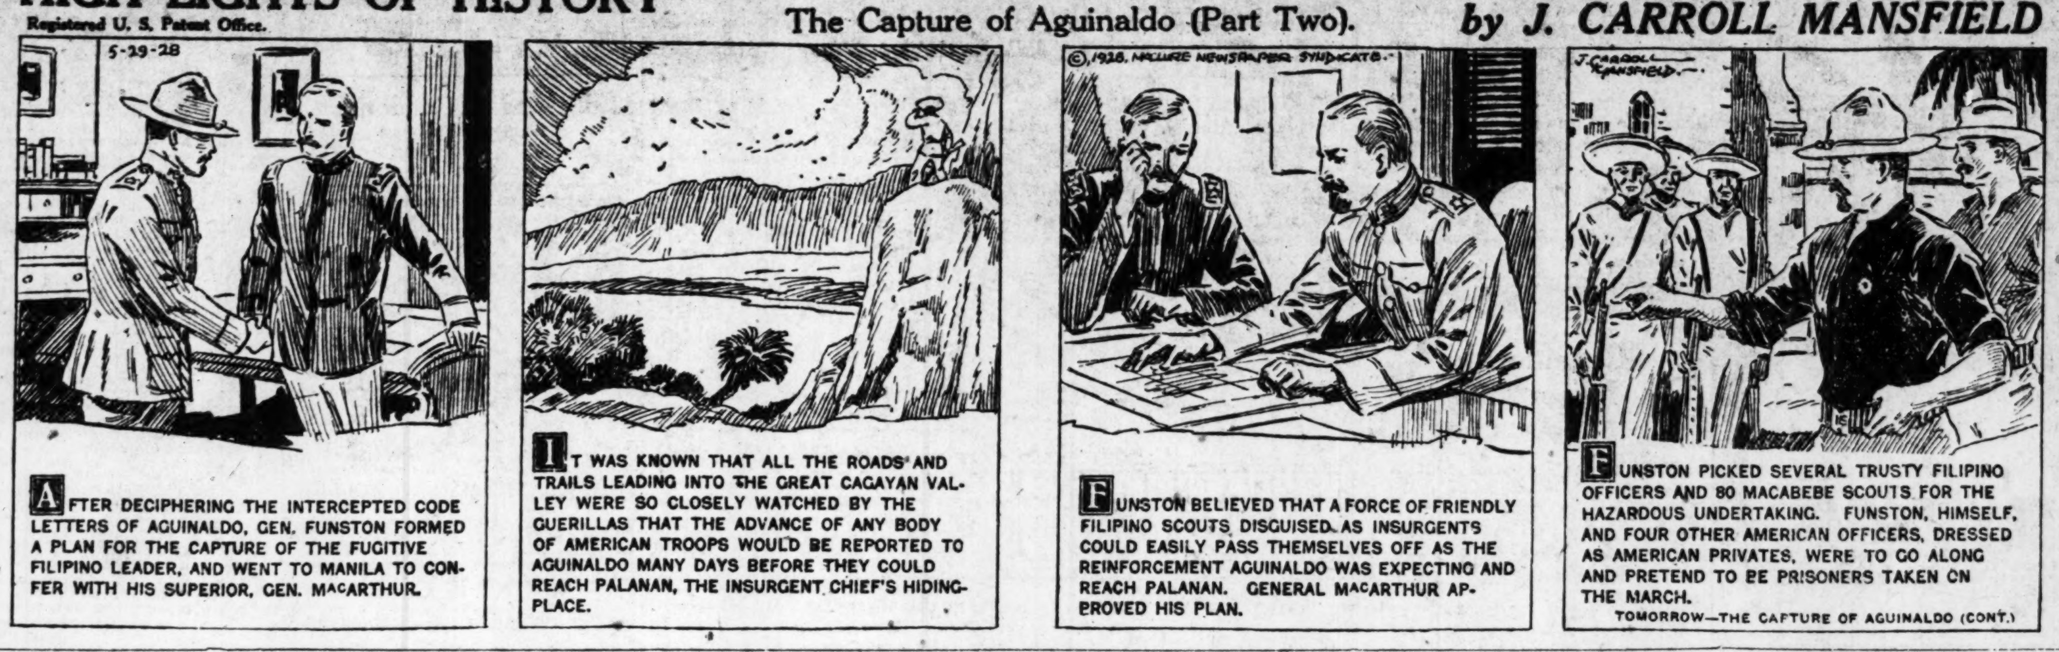
The Capture of Aguinaldo (Part Two).

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD



5-29-28
©1928, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
J. Carroll Mansfield
AFTER DECIPHERING THE INTERCEPTED CODE LETTERS OF AGUINALDO, GEN. FUNSTON FORMED A PLAN FOR THE CAPTURE OF THE FUGITIVE FILIPINO LEADER, AND WENT TO MANILA TO CONFER WITH HIS SUPERIOR, GEN. MACARTHUR.
IT WAS KNOWN THAT ALL THE ROADS AND TRAILS LEADING INTO THE GREAT CAGAYAN VALLEY WERE SO CLOSELY WATCHED BY THE GUERILLAS THAT THE ADVANCE OF ANY BODY OF AMERICAN TROOPS WOULD BE REPORTED TO AGUINALDO MANY DAYS BEFORE THEY COULD REACH PALANAN, THE INSURGENT CHIEF'S HIDING-PLACE.
FUNSTON BELIEVED THAT A FORCE OF FRIENDLY FILIPINO SCOUTS DISGUISED AS INSURGENTS COULD EASILY PASS THEMSELVES OFF AS THE REINFORCEMENT AGUINALDO WAS EXPECTING AND REACH PALANAN. GENERAL MACARTHUR APPROVED HIS PLAN.
FUNSTON PICKED SEVERAL TRUSTY FILIPINO OFFICERS AND 80 MACABEBE SCOUTS FOR THE HAZARDOUS UNDERTAKING. FUNSTON, HIMSELF, AND FOUR OTHER AMERICAN OFFICERS, DRESSED AS AMERICAN PRIVATES, WERE TO GO ALONG AND PRETEND TO BE PRISONERS TAKEN ON THE MARCH.

TWO SEVERELY CUT AS TRUCK-AUTO ARE RUN TOGETHER

M. O. Bolling, of 737 Myrtle street, and Marion Rainey, of 200 Ormond street, were severely cut about the face and head Monday night when the truck in which they were riding, and which was operated by Bolling, collided at Boulevard and 'Orme circle with an automobile driven by Fred Miller, of 1657 Rock Spring road.

Although Miller's car was overturned by the impact, he and his mother, Mrs. T. T. Miller, of 1657 Rock Spring road, both escaped injury. Bolling and Rainey were taken to Georgia Baptist hospital, where their injuries were considered serious enough to warrant their admittance. No cases were made by Call Officers Harper and Carroll, who investigated.
